DRIVERS CRACK MARK FOR WEEKEND DEATHS

(By The Canadian Press)

Labor Day weekend, 1966, went into the record books as the worst holiday period for traffic fatalities in Canadian history.

A Canadian Press survey between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday showed at least 126 persons killed in accidents, 102 of them in traffic.

The survey showed 10 drownings, four fire deaths, one hunting fatality and nine deaths from other kinds of accidents.

It was the fifth straight Labor Day holiday toll to exceed 100. In 1965, there were 124 deaths, including 70 in traffic.

STRIKE ENDING

B.C. Trains Last to Roll

Railway service was almost back to normal today in B.C. — the last stronghold of a five-day rebellion against Parliament's back-to-work law.

Freight trains began moving from Vancouver and passenger service was expected to resume late today.

On Vancouver Island, freight services of Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific-owned E and N Railway were operating again.

The E and N dayliner passenger service between Victoria and Courtenay was running this morning.

The CPR's ferry Princess of Vancouver, which sails between Nanaimo and Vancouver, began operating again Monday.

Other Island services, such as telegraphs and trucking, were back to normal either immediately or shortly after Parliament ordered the workers back last Thursday night.

The back-to-work move was slower on the mainland where a majority of the 10,000 workers held out until the Labor Day holiday, although some of them were entitled to the time off anyway.

PASSENGERS

In Vancouver, Canadian Pacific said eastbound rail passenger traffic will resume tonight and the first Vancouver-bound trains will start arriving Thursday.

Canadian National officials said plans for resumption are not immediately clear. But the return of workers at Jasper "paves the way" for a resumption of service in and out of B.C.

Monday, six CPR freights and two CNR freights left Vancouver for the east.

NO PENALTIES

In Kamloops, 500 CNR and CPR workers voted to return after assurances of no penalties.

A union spokesman said: "While resuming our duties, we maintain that this legislation is an infringement on our rights as citizens to bargain collectively with our respective managements and it abuses our right to strike to settle differences without legislative intervention."

About 1,000 CPR workers in Vancouver began returning today but the situation at CNR was not clear.

Another 500 CNR workers at Prince George, Smithers and Burns Lake were to return. At Cranbook, Trail and Nelson about 600 men were back at work Sunday.

. . . But Rail Fuse Still Burning

By The Canadian Press

Stubborn strikers at the Lakehead today represented the only immediate obstacle to normal nationwide freight and passenger operations by Canadian railways.

All rail traffic in the Atlantic provinces was reported moving normally today, after striking rail workers at Moncton, N.B., voted to return.

However, a shadow was cast on the optimistic outlook of the country's rail service by a rebel group of shop employees who have decided to continue the week-long strike that was outlawed by an act of Parliament last Thursday.

MAY DISRUPT RUNS

Shop workers — whose members include machinists, carmen and electrical workers — are not immediately essential to the operation of trains, but the railways say they could not get along without them for more than a few days.

The CPR reported early today that its freight and passenger service across Canada was "largely back to normal" with the exception of a trouble spot at Fort William, Ont.

The publicly-owned CNR reported normal or near-normal operations across the country.

The extent of the rebellion among shop craft workers was not immediately clear.

Many of Montreal's 7,000-odd shop workers voted at weekend meetings to stay on strike, and in Winnipeg pickets continued to parade at the Symington yards

RHODESIA DEBATE

Wilson Backed In First Vote

By CARMAN CUMMING

LONDON (CP) — The Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opened today with a decision to keep Prime Minister Wilson in the chair during discussions on the crucial Rhodesian issue.

Canada's Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary - general, announced after the opening formalities that Wilson's offer to vacate the chair during the Rhodesian discussion was declined by the delegates.

Prime Minister Pearson was one of three leaders who expressed confidence in the British leader, an informant said.

The other two were the leaders of Zambian and Uganda delegations.

There had been earlier reports that Prime Minister Pearson or some other leader might be asked to preside during the Rhodesian wrangling.

Some observers speculated the retention of Wilson is linked with a desire by some leaders to keep Pearson as free as possible for a mediation role between Britain and African members who are demanding tough action against Rhodesia.

Smith said Wilson told the session "that it might be appropriate if he yielded the chair to some other head of government to avoid any ambiguity about the role he would have to play as the representative of the British government."

However, "several representatives said they had complete confidence in Wilson," Smith

South African Leader Stabbed By White Man

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, architect of total apartheid segregation, was assassinated today in parliament by a white religious fanatic who stabbed him in the neck and chest with a silver-handled dagger.

Verwoerd, who would have been 65 Thursday, died instantly with blood gushing from his wounds. Five members of parliament (who are physicians) applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and opened his chest to massage the heart to no avail.

Screaming "that bastard!", parliamentary messenger Dmitri Tsafendas, a naturalized South African of Greek-Portuguese descent, slashed out with the six-inch blade at two other members before he was subdued and led away.

Finance Minister Eben Donges, one-time chancellor of Nationalist Stellenbosch University, was immediately named acting prime minister.

Justice Minister J. B. Vorster, who was jailed for pro-Nazi sentiment in Second World War, was expected eventually to take over as prime minister.

The nation was stunned, but there was little sympathy in Negro Africa where Verwoerd was hated.

"Thank God it wasn't one of our people who did it," a Negro African woman told a newsman.

Second Attempt on His Life

Verwoderd was stabbed at least three times by the husky, six-foot assassin as he half-rose in his seat in the heavily-panelled chamber.

It was the second attempt on his life. On April 9, 1960, a white farmer named David Pratt shot Verwoerd twice in the head point-blank at a farm show. Pratt said he was "shooting the epitome of apartheid."

Verwoerd recovered and Pratt later hanged himself in a mental hospital. Verwoerd, a leader of the Dutch Reformed Church, said "divine providence" had saved him then.

He had returned to the parliament from lunch and was sitting in his accustomed seat near the high, square speaker's chair, when Tsafendas approached, wearing the blue and green-striped uniform of a parliamentary messenger.

Other messengers said Tsafendas, born in Laurenco Marques, Portuguese Mozambique, was a naturalized citizen who had gone to work as a messenger Aug. 1. He spoke several languages including English, Portuguese, Greek, German and some Afrikaans.

A 45-year-old bachelor, he liked to read the Bible and was constantly quoting scriptural passages, they said.

They said he was forever asking colleagues for interpretations of old testament passages that deal with god-inspired killings. But there was nothing biblical about his frenzied shouts.

"Where is that bastard?" Tsafendas screamed as guards grabbed him. "I will get that bastard!"

Thought He Was Getting Message

Only minutes before he had walked up to the tall, greying Verwoerd who started out of his seat as though to accept a message.

A moment of shocked silence gave way to shouts and members seated near Verwoerd leaped at Tsafendas. He slashed at MP Frank Waring, the minister of sport and tourism, slashing Waring's trousers.

Brought down by a crush of bodies, Tsafendas slashed at but did not injure MP Cas Grayling, who was seated on his chest.

As police hauled him from the thickly carpeted, old-fashioned room, a young man weeping hysterically tried to leap at Tsafendas but was thrown back. A second dagger was found on Tsafendas.

Wife Hustled Out of Chamber

The prime minister's wife Betsy, mother of their five sons and two daughters, was brought into the chamber after the stabbing by a member who may have thought Verwoerd still was alive. She was quickly escorted out.

Transport Minister Ben Schoeman announced the time of the stabbing as 2:20 p.m. (5:20 a.m. PDT). Death, he said, came at the same time.

Gold and mining stocks immediately plummeted on the London Stock Exchange.

Messengers said Tsafendas was "acting strangely" before the assassination. He decided to forego lunch and he refused to run an errand because "I have to do something."

Tsafendas was as big as the 6-foot-1-inch, 215-pound blue-eyed Verwoerd. His gray hair was clipped short and he had numerous gold fillings in his teeth that flashed when he opened his mouth.

Nigerians Dance In Streets

(Times News Services)

Nigerians shouted "Hallelujah" and jumped for joy in the streets of Lagos today when Radio Nigeria flashed the news of South African Premier Verwoerd's assassination in Cape Town.

Predominantly-Negro Nigeria and other African countries had strongly opposed white-supremacist Verwoerd's policy of race separation.

Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith looked pale and shocked as he told Parliament in Salisbury of the assassination.

He moved the adjournment of Parliament as a mark of respect and said he would move a resolution of condolences Wednesday.

Prime Minister Pearson said in London Verwoerd's death was a "great shock" to him.

He called the assassination a senseless" act of violence and said he is looking at it only in terms of the human tragedy.

Prime Minister Wilson sent a message of condolence to the South African government tonight saying he was shocked.

Wilson broke the news of the assassination to the other 21 Commonwealth leaders meeting here on their first day of a conference centred on Rhodesia.

The South African premier was last in London in 1961, when he told a similar Commonwealth gathering of his country's intention to quit the 23-nation multi-racial grouping.

Commonwealth Secretary-General Arnold Smith, commenting on the assassination said:

"Meaningless violence and assassination are unlikely to solve the poltical problems of South Africa.

"Violence never does much good. It just leads to more violence. It is a very sad thing."

The Canadian diplomat said he doubted whether this "sad and ugly business" would have any impact on this afternoon's crucial discussion of the Rho-

Chinese Still Open To War Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Chen Yi of China has told Japanese visitors that Peking "is not necessarily dismissing the thought of talking with the United States" about a solution to the Viet Nam war, the Japanese news agency Kyodo reported today from Peking.

It said Chen Yi told a Japanese parliament delegation in Peking that China continues its ambassadorial contacts with the U.S. in Warsaw, Poland.

The dispatch came from Kyodo's Peking-based correspondent, Tadao Saito. It gave this account of Chen Yi's remarks:

Solution of all international problems through talks is "the basic spirit of diplomacy," Chen Yi said, but this kind of solution of the Vietnamese conflict now is impossible because the U.S. is trying to solve it with "armed force."

There can be no solution of the conflict until all American troops pull out of Viet Nam, Chen Yi said.

Neither China nor the U.S. wants to "come to a clash," Chen Yi said. But he added a clash is still possible, depending on the Americans.

Mediation Awaiting Return of Workers

OTTAWA (CP) — Mediator Carl Goldenberg of Toronto arrived in Ottawa today to begin working on a resumption of contract negotiations between the railways and four groups of unions.

Mr. Goldenberg planned to meet Labor Minister Nicholson late in the afternoon to discuss details of the mediation effort.

The four union groups went on strike Aug. 26 and were ordered by Parliament to call it off seven days later. Some railway workers still are defying the back - to - work legislation, which directed both sides to resume negotiations under a federal mediator.

Mr. Goldenberg, 68, was appointed mediator Friday.

"The railway companies must resume operation of the railways and give effect to an increase in wages retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year," Mr. Goldenberg said in a statement.

"The employees must resume the duties of their employment."

The sooner railway operations return to normal, the sooner he will be able to begin effective mediation, Mr. Goldenberg said.

Talks Please Ferry Men, Resignations Called Off

(See earlier story, Page 9)

The move follows a meeting Monday between representatives of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The guild represents nearly all the 250 masters, mates and engineers aboard B.C. Ferries. They want full collective bargaining rights.

A meeting will be held this Friday between B.C. Ferries management and a committee of officers represented by the guild.

Robert Cook of Ottawa, national president of the guild who came to the west coast Saturday, said he is "very pleased" with the results of the weekend meeting.

Mr. Bonner echoed the sentiments, saying "a sincere approach by both sides will result in a satisfactory solution to the crisis."

Mr. Cook said the guild is advising its members to withhold resignations until the committee has met management.

He added that he is "very optimistic" of the meeting's outcome and that both sides "now are on the right track."

No further details of the weekend discussions or possible solutions were given.

However, a precedent for a solution exists in a settlement made in June between unlicensed personnel—deck and catering workers — and B.C. Ferries.

The unlicensed personnel had threatened to walkout on the eve of the Dominion Day holiday before the agreement.

SOLUTION

This solution provided for management recognition of the employees group, now called the B.C. Ferry Employees Union, plus joint discussions on mutual problems.

It did not include full collective bargaining right, which the unlicensed personnel had sought and which the officers were seeking.

Challenge Tossed In Bus Dumping

Spell Out Cabinet Stand, Mayor Toone Tells Bennett

Mayor A. W. Toone today challenged Premier Bennett to clarify the government's position on the future of B.C. Hydro transit operations. (See Page 9.)

He objected to municipalities getting involved in an election debate but called upon the government to declare whether it has any intention of changing its transit policy after the votes are counted.

Mayor Toone released a copy of a supplementary brief to the cabinet on the future of Greater Victoria-Greater Vancouver transit operations which was sent to him by Vancouver Mayor William Rathie.

The brief says the two metropolitan areas are threatened with additional transit operating costs of about $3 million a year plus capital cost financing of $16 million to $20 million over seven years or less.

This is clear from comments made recently by Einar Gunderson, a Hydro director — "which undoubtedly reflect Hydro and government policy" — and Attorney-General Robert Bonner in election campaigning, the brief says.

POSTPONMENT

Last week Liberal leader Ray Perrault warned of an ominous indication in the postponement of transit discussion between the lower mainland municipalities and B.C. Hydro, until after the election Monday.

The brief says transit was to have appeared on the agenda for a July 22 meeting of Hydro directors and that Mayor Rathie had been informed by Hydro chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum it would not be discussed until after the provincial election.

Municipalities feel the government must assume both the losses and benefits in any takeover such as B.C. Electric in 1961, which included its transportation services.

The brief points out that both Pacific Great Eastern Railway and B.C. Ferries are subsidized by the government.

. . . WILSON

added. He said the decision was unanimous.

Some of the 50 demonstrators backed Rhodesia's African nationalists and others bore signs supporting its breakaway white-minority government.

The pickets, jostling shoulders across the street from Marlborough House, the conference site, included Africans backing Rhodesia's banned Zimbabwe African National Union—pledged to fight the white government — who carried signs saying "Z.A.N.U. says Wilson is a traitor."

As the conference opened, a woman tried to drive through the main gates of the building in a red car with a loudspeaker broadcasting "recognize Ian Smith's regime now." Police disconnected the loudspeaker and told her to move away.

NOTE BALEWA'S DEATH

The conference observed a minute's silence in memory of Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, the Nigerian prime minister who was assassinated shortly after the Lagos conference last January.

Retention of Wilson as chairman during the Rhodesian debate accompanied reports that Wilson may yield some ground on the crisis to prevent a Commonwealth break-up.

As the sharply divided Commonwealth leaders opened their 10-day conference, the informants said Wilson would agree to limited United Nations mandatory sanctions aaginst Rhodesia, such as on oil.

But he would continue to resist demands for full mandatory sanctions which could bring complete disruption of Britain's trade with South Africa, a strong supporter of the illegal Ian Smith regime in Rhodesia.

Britain has persistently maintained that its balance of payments is so precarious that it cannot afford a cut-off of exports to South Africa which undoubtedly would not conform with UN demands that it block all shipments to Rhodesia. It therefore would become subject to UN trade penalties.

Indeed, Wilson, who has promised Britain's Conservative opposition he contemplates no change in government policy on Rhodesia, is understood to be determined that any request for mandatory oil sanctions against Rhodesia would not involve a naval blockade against South Africa.

PM BURNED IN EFFIGY BY STRIKERS

MONCTON (CP) — Angry rail strikers Sunday night burned Prime Minister Pearson in effigy at a downtown railway crossing after they were removed by CNR police from blocking the main Halifax to Montreal main line.

There were no arrests as 30 officers removed the workers from Victoria St. crossing where they had gathered in an attempt to block a freight train heading for Halifax. The men had vowed earlier to stop any trains from moving across the crossing.

Police forced the men off the rails moments before the 100-car freight moved through the crossing.

. . . VERWOERD SLAIN

His homeland, Mozambique, adjoins South Africa and nationalist guerrillas in the territory have been fighting for years with Portuguese troops trying to retain Portugal's colonial empire.

A state funeral was to be held for Verwoerd, the nation's sixth prime minister.

People Gather Around Radios

Flags were dropped to half-staff throughout the country and as night fell, people gathered around radios to hear acting Prime Minister Donges. There is no television in the country. Verwoerd regarded it as "noxious."

Mrs. Helen Suzman, the lone Progressive Party member in the parliament dominated by Verwoerd's race-conscious Nationalist Party, saw the whole thing.

"They have killed our prime minister," a white bus conductor told reporters in Johannesburg. "Now I hope that Vorster takes over and shoots them all." Who did he mean?

"The Communists, liberals, all of them," he replied.

Under Donges, Vorster and other Nationalist leaders apartheid (the word means apartness in Afrikaans) would go on and race segregation would continue.

and the Fort Rouge and Transcona shops.

But the 3,600 CNR employees in Edmonton, many of whom had voted to remain on strike through the weekend, decided Monday to return, and a similar decision was made by 1,100 holdouts in Moncton.

Mike Rygas, Canadian vice-president of the International Association of Machinists, one of seven shop craft unions, said in Ottawa today that the 5,000 railway machinists who belong to his union will remain on strike.

He said he had reports from Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Montreal and Moncton that railway machinists in those centres would not report for work today.

It is very likely, he said, that these holdouts will be joined by railway machinists elsewhere who had already returned to work.

Railway workers were out to win their pay dispute with the railways, "and our members at least will stay out until they do win."

The interim 18-per-cent pay increase for 1966 and 1967 awarded in the back-to-work legislation was not enough.

"The fuse on the rail strike is still burning," he said. "It is burning down to an explosion."

Another threat to railway operation was posed by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers whose national president has announced a work-to-rule slowdown.

REPRESENTS 22,000

CBRT membership is made up mainly of express and freight handlers employed by the CNR. It represents about 22,000 of the 118,000 railway employees who walked out Aug. 26, tying up nearly 50,000 miles of vital railway track across the country.

The CBRT work-to-rule announcement has not yet enlisted the support of any of the other 16 railway unions involved in the dispute.

Carl Goldenberg, government-appointed mediator, said in Montreal Monday he hopes all groups involved will observe the terms of the strike-ending legislation, which provides for continuing railway-union contract talks.

Compulsory arbitration would be ordered unless some progress in the talks was being made by Nov. 15.

"I am certain that both sides prefer mediation to compulsory arbitration," Mr. Goldenberg said.

"The success of mediation efforts depends on the co-operation I receive from railway management and from labor."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker Saturday appealed to railway workers to obey the back-to-work legislation passed by parliament.

"To do otherwise would be to do damage to the abiding things of freedom and indeed, to everything that as free men we hold dear."

The Conservative leader made the appeal in his Labor Day message.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the amendment to the legislation spelling out an 18-per-cent pay increase for the workers "was a great improvement over the original bill brought in by the government."

"That law is not perfect in its provisions and some of its principles but it has now become the law of the land."

Don't Split Commonwealth, Critics Told

LONDON (Reuters) — Malaysia today urged critics of Prime Minister Wilson's Rhodesia policy not to break up the Commonwealth because of the 10-month deadlock over Premier Ian Smith's seizure of independence.

Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman made his plea at an opening session of the Commonwealth prime ministers conference.

The Malaysian leader referred directly to reports that a number of African nations—including Zambia and Sierra Leone—have threatened to quit the Commonwealth unless Britain ended the Rhodesia crisis speedily and to their satisfaction.

This plan will do everything to get your youngster a college degree except pass his exams for him

You can't guarantee that a youngster now in high school will get his college degree. But you can guarantee that he will get the chance to try.

That's the essence of the Bank of Montreal University Education Programme—a comprehensive savings-loan plan that enables you to spread the cost of a university education over periods up to nine years.

You start payments when your boy or girl is still in high school and make the final payment a year after graduation. From the first deposit, the special life insurance feature guarantees that his or her education costs will be covered.

Your low monthly payments include interest charges totalling a small fraction of what you would pay on any straight loan programme.

This is a flexible programme... adaptable to individual education costs and payable over a varying number of years.

If you have a youngster in the first two or three years of high school now is the time to start. Drop into your neighbourhood branch of the Bank of Montreal and let us fit the plan to your needs.

Then convince your youngster the rest is up to him!

• • •

P.S. If you need help in financing a student already in university—or planning to register this year—talk to your B of M Manager. Chances are he can arrange a tuition loan with extended payments adapted to your circumstances. Or, if your youngster qualifies for a loan under the Canada Student Loans Plan, send him to see the B of M.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A slow moving disturbance brought cloud and a few light showers to southern Vancouver Island and the lower mainland overnight. Behind it skies have temporarily cleared on parts of the coast, but these areas are expected to cloud over again today. Cloud is also general throughout the central interior and this condition will continue through Wednesday. The Okanagan valley and southern Kootenays are now the only regions remaining in the warm air, but they, too, will have a change tonight and Wednesday.

VERWOERD CUT ROYAL TIES AS LIFE GOAL

By REUTERS

Hendrik Frensch Verwoerd was South Africa's chief apostle of apartheid—the policy of separate racial development criticized throughout the world.

He was the policy's architect and its unswerving supporter, remaining unmoved by the monolithic opposition to apartheid from black Africa and from all other liberal opinion.

Verwoerd, who was born Sept. 8, 1901, rose from professor of psychology to prime minister of the then union—now republic—of South Africa.

Born in Amsterdam of Dutch parents, he became an ardent nationalist from his school days in South Africa.

He studied at Stellenbosch University and in Germany at Leipzig, Hamburg and Berlin before returning as psychology lecturer to Stellenbosch in 1924.

More than six feet tall, a rapid and impatient speaker, Verwoerd first became politically prominent as the editor of Die Transvaler, which he helped launch in 1937.

Black Affairs

Elected a senator in 1948, he became minister for native affairs in 1950—and fostered the successive apartheid laws.

At the same time, he improved social services for the Negroes, insisting however on their separate development.

He was chosen prime minister by the Nationalist party in September, 1958, following the death of Jan Strijdom.

Apart from his apartheid laws, Verwoerd will go down in history as the statesman under whose government the South African people elected to become a republic.

The achievement of republican status was in fact his proclaimed goal on becoming premier. In October, 1960, he saw his goal achieved when a referendum of white voters gave a big majority for a republic.

As other Afrikaners, members of the Dutch Reformed Church, he liked to invoke scriptural justification for his racial policy. He was often contemptuous of opposition from outside his party and intolerant of opposition from within it.

Limelight

Verwoerd first came into the limelight in South Africa in 1936 when he led a small group of Stellenbosch professors in a protest against the admission to South Africa of Jewish refugees from Germany.

The following year he abandoned his academic career as professor of applied psychology at Stellenbosch to become editor-in-chief of the Afrikaans-language Die Transvaler, and built the newspaper into a powerful organ of nationalism.

His pro-republican inclinations were illustrated when his newspaper formally boycotted a tour of the country by the British Royal Family in 1947.

Verwoerd had in those immediate post-war years begun to play an active part in South African politics. He became successively a member of the Nationalist party executive, a member of its federal council and its deputy chairman for the Transvaal.

He worked hard for the victory that the Nationalists won at the first post-war general election in 1948, though he himself was defeated in the Alberton district of the Transvaal.

Later in the year, when South Africa's first Nationalist government was formed under the late Daniel Malan, Verwoerd ran successfully for the Senate and in 1950 entered the government as minister for native (Negro) affairs.

Race Separation

He occupied this position for eight years. It was in these years that he planned and carried out the policy of apartheid which he said would protect white rights and opportunities in white areas and Negro rights and opportunities in Negro areas.

Year after year, he and other ministers introduced legislation to enforce race separation in trains, streetcars and buses, railway stations, post offices and other public places, schools and universities, clubs as well as in some occupations and many spheres of national life.

Verwoerd's main aim was to reduce gradually the number of Negroes working in urban areas but an industrial boom was having at the time the opposite effect and he found himself in conflict with business and other urban interests.

The Bantu (Negro) Education Act of 1953 was perhaps the most controversial of all the apartheid measures taken by Verwoerd at the time.

It transferred control of education of Negroes from the provinces to the minister of native affairs. Its principal effect was to shift control of the country's numerous mission schools from the churches to the department of native affairs.

At the same time, Verwoerd was responsible for improvements in Negro housing.

Verwoerd was sworn in as premier Sept. 3, 1958, after Strijdom's death and after his election as leader of the Nationalists.

Six months after assuming office, Verwoerd introduced the Bantu self-government bill—probably the most far-reaching legislation for which he was directly responsible.

The bill, which became law in 1960, provided for the division of the Negro population into tribal units, the abolition of the existing representation of Negroes in Parliament and the creation of self-governing Negro states.

Known as the Bantustan Act, it met a salvo of opposition criticism in South Africa.

Overshadowed

But all considerations were overshadowed early in 1960, when Verwoerd announced that a referendum would be held to determine whether or not the Union of South Africa should become a republic.

Soon afterward, politics took a violent turn with mass arrests, shootings, declaration of a state of emergency and finally a near-

'No Point Worrying About It'

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Hendrik Frensch Verwoerd joked about the possibility of being assassinated.

He joked when I asked him about it in an informal conversation in his office in the House of Assembly in Cape Town, South Africa, four years ago.

As the conversation was off the record I took no notes, but to the best of a reporter's recollection, the conversation went about like this:

"After what happened in 1960," I asked the South African premier, "aren't you afraid somebody else may take a shot at you?"

EASY TARGET

He sat with his back to the window. From the street outside the big, broad-shouldered, grey-haired man was an easy target.

"No, I'm not afraid," he said with a smile. "I don't think anyone wants to kill me."

"But they've tried it," I said.

He smiled again.

"Yes, but they didn't succeed. No, I'm not afraid."

I motioned to the open window and the street outside.

"Why, someone could take a pot shot at you from that street," I said.

"Oh, yes," he said, "I suppose they could, but I'm pretty well protected."

NOT HARD TO DO

He paused for a moment as I recall it, he said:

"I'm not the first person to say this. Others have said it. It's a very true saying. If someone really wants to kill you, it's not a very hard job.

Young Rowdies Battle Police In Ont. Resort

GRAND BEND, Ont. (CP)—It's judgment day today for 23 persons arrested during two successive nights of mob violence in this resort community on Lake Huron, about 30 miles northwest of London.

All are to appear in magistrate's court this morning facing charges varying from creating a disturbance to carrying concealed weapons. All but five are charged with liquor offences.

An enlarged force of helmeted police with riot sticks used tear gas guns both Saturday and Sunday nights to quell the disturbances, which resulted in a dozen arrests the first night and 11 the following.

There were 34 police officers in the village when hundreds of persons, mostly teen-agers, surged up Main Street Saturday night and massed in front of the police detachment building to demand the release of a youth arrested for drinking under age.

When police tried to clear the street their action was the signal for bottle and rock throwing in which two policemen were injured, one requiring treatment for a cut ankle.

USED TEAR GAS

The melee between police and mob lasted for more than an hour with the law striking the finishing blow with tear gas shells fired from paddy wagons.

Another 40 officers from provincial police forces as far away as Toronto were on hand Sunday to control the crowd, estimated to be about 15,000.

Sunday night chanting youths began to collect in the main street. Police quickly cleared the street and the action shifted to the side streets.

Again tear gas guns were brought to bear on milling gangs and stones were hurled at police and their vehicles.

Five of those arrested face Criminal Code charges. Two youths are charged with carrying concealed weapons—a knife and a rock. Another is charged with creating a disturbance, another for mischief and the fifth for common assault.

During the Labor Day exodus for homes and the beginning of a new school-year, someone scribbled beneath a "Welcome to Grand Bend" sign the single word: "RIOT."

Forced Arbitration Opposed in Regina

REGINA (CP) — CCF Opposition Leader Woodrow Lloyd said Monday his party will present what it believes is a preferable alternative to the Liberal government's proposed compulsory arbitration bill at Wednesday's special legislature session.

The special session was called by Premier Ross Thatcher to consider a bill imposing binding, compulsory arbitration in all contract disputes involving Saskatchewan Power Corporation employees and hospital employees.

The government bill was prompted by the strike of 1,200 SPC clerical and natural gas workers, but it will apply as well to any future disputes. It is not planned to include Saskatchewan Government Telephones Employees in the bill at this time.

The crown-owned SPC supplies natural gas and electricity to most of Saskatchewan.

ALTERNATIVES

Mr. Lloyd said in an interview that his party will "present a preferable alternative which will make possible resumption of work and services without destroying the principle of free collective bargaining for a large number of Saskatchewan workers."

Mr. Lloyd said the CCF will oppose the government bill on the grounds that it is premature because there has been no "all-out effort" to settle the current dispute without government interference of this kind.

STRACHAN ON MAIN STREET

'Patchwork Program' For Elderly Scored

By JIM HUME
Times Staff Reporter

TERRACE—A softball tournament at Kitimat and a loggers' sports day at Lakelse Lake forced cancellation of Robert Strachan's speech here Saturday night.

The NDP leader made use of his free time by main-streeting for the first time on this leg of his election tour and to address a 30-strong coffee party of the faithful.

"Welfare services in this province, including those for our senior citizens, are like a moth-ridden patchwork quilt," he said.

"The government boasts of paying the highest pension bonus in Canada. They forget the mothhole in the quilt. The maximum payment is indeed $30, but only 18,000 out of a total of 30,000 pensioners receive that amount. Many of them receive only $2 as a bonus from the government."

After a week on the campaign trail the youthful-looking, 53-year-old NDP leader appeared as fresh as at the start of his close to 4,000-mile junket.

Medical Help

"Social Credit likes to talk about how social welfare cases get medical services, but they forget the second mothhole which shows that medical services are only given to those classed as unemployable," he told NDP workers.

"In March of this year the social welfare department figures showed that 18,000 people on social assistance were completely without medical services unless they cared to cut down on food to pay their doctor and drug bills."

Mr. Strachan has consistently promised that if elected the NDP will completely review and revamp existing social welfare laws to provide a more equitable sharing of provincial wealth.

From Terrace the energetic ex-Scotsman who came to Canada at the age of 17 travelled to Lakelse for more hand-shaking—much of it during a one-hour session at Skoglund Hot Springs—and Kitimat to toss the opening ball of the three-day softball tournament.

Throws Quip

"I shall have to throw overhand," he told the 1,500 strong crowd. "I've never been able to do anything underhand, not even with a softball."

From Kitimat he returned to Terrace for a late afternoon flight to Smithers and then moved on to Vancouver and a few hours rest before starting the final week of the campaign.

On Monday he was on a Victoria hot-line show for two hours.

Tonight he winds up his northern Island campaign in Courtenay.

Wednesday he appears on CBC from Vancouver, Thursday he speaks at the mass NDP rally in Vancouver, and on Saturday he ends the campaign at Lake Cowichan.

Tasty Forecast For NDP

PRINCE RUPERT — Fortune cookie factories may be taken over by an NDP government in B.C.—unless they can back up election promises.

In this northern seaport last week the Japanese-Canadian wife of NDP candidate John Lennox prepared a special Japanese dinner for leader Robert Strachan.

Following the excellent meal—which Mrs. Lennox insisted be eaten with chopsticks—the traditional fortune cookies were passed around.

Mr. Strachan was fourth in line to dip into the forecasting delicacies.

The message from within: "The top of the ladder has a place for you."

Second Rail Bill To Occupy Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — A second piece of legislation dealing with the country's railway crisis is expected to occupy most or all of this week's debate in the Commons.

The first bill, ordering railway workers back to their jobs with the promise of at least an 18-per-cent wage increse, was passed by MPs last week in emergency sittings.

One aim of the second bill is to streamline railway operations to help the companies meet the heavier payroll.

The legislation now before Parliament is based on recommendations of the MacPherson royal commission on transportation, and has been described as one of the most complicated bills in the Commons.

It will give the government authority to set up a super agency to regulate the entire field of transportation, replacing the existing board of transport commissioners, the air transport board and the Canadian Maritime Commission.

It will allow the railways freedom to set freight rates, abandon uneconomic branch lines and slash money-losing passenger services.

Railway freight rates have been frozen since 1959 when the MacPherson commission went to work. It made its report in 1962.

The Real Issue Emerges

THE UNUSUALLY MASSIVE efforts of Mr. Bennett to score a victory in this election campaign have astonished many voters. The Social Credit Party presents the appearance of a new group striving frantically to gain a foothold in the legislature, rather than an established regime seeking re-election. The answer to the question this odd public display arouses also reveals at last what the issue in this campaign really is.

Mr. Bennett's all-out battle to sweep all opposition members from the legislature is simply an attempt to install one-party government in British Columbia.

That is the reason for calling the election; that is the reason for the saturation campaign now being waged.

A mere majority of seats has not proved enough for Mr. Bennett. He must have complete obedience from the legislature. He must have unquestioned control.

The Social Credit government of this province, like that in Alberta, has always been a one-man affair. No cabinet minister would run counter to the premier's decisions; no policy is developed without his consent. For his fourteen years of office Mr. Bennett has been the obvious boss of the province's administration: there is no one within his cabinet or his machine able to challenge him. That is heady stuff.

But there are men outside the Social Credit Party who battle Mr. Bennett's policies, question his decisions, criticize his judgment and expose his mistakes. They do it in no less public a forum than the provincial legislature—they are members of the opposition, and their attacks, with full publicity, frequently hurt.

The determination of Mr. Bennett to remove these burrs from his political saddle becomes obvious as his recent statements are reviewed. He urges voters to forsake their traditional parties and vote for his all-embracing "movement." He hints at the need to eliminate the socialist threat—which really means removing the largest body of critics from the House. He has tried to identiy himself as the sole source of the province's industrial progress, as though without him we could not have participated in a wave of prosperity which has touched every part of this continent.

Mr. Bennett sometimes boasts that his back-benchers are independent, and free to speak out in criticism of the government whenever they like. So they are—perhaps. But it is interesting that Victoria's Mr. Smith, who on occasion has voiced dissent from his government leaders, was quickly dropped as a Socred candidate when the chance came. Revelstoke's Mr. Lundell, who said he didn't like the election call, is missing from the candidates' list. Mr. Matthew, of Vancouver Centre, who from time to time has sounded a note of criticism, was dropped. And Mr. Tisdalle, the sometimes outspoken member from Saanich, almost daily has to deny rumors that there were strong party attempts to eliminate him.

Mr. Bennett does not like differing views within his own party; he likes still less any opposition from those whom he cannot control. The man who boasts that "I never read the papers" prefers to believe that he is right and that everyone agrees.

From the election campaign, therefore, which seemed at first merely the whim of an aging premier, now emerges the real issue—Mr. Bennett's all-out effort to establish one-party government in this province. That is a most dangerous development, and it demands a critical decision from every voter.

Do we want one-man, one-party government in British Columbia? Or do we want a democratic legislature in which the voices of all sections of the people may be heard through their unfettered, undominated local representatives?

Never before has this province more urgently needed a strong, able opposition. The one-party idea should be firmly rejected by every voters who wants a balanced legislature as a check against arbitrary power.

Professor Malthus Again

TWO NEWS ITEMS PUBLISHED simultaneously last week brought into sharp focus the relationship between scientific projection and a major moral-religious issue.

In Halifax the visiting Archbishop of Canterbury said: "Birth control is a matter on which the Roman church and others are divided. But my guess is there will be a change in the Roman church's view. We Anglicans believe birth control can be right."

In London, Dr. Robert White-Stevens, an expert on fertilizers and insecticides, predicted Doomsday 60 years, two months and two weeks hence, when, according to his forecast, the world population will have reached 50,000,000,000. Modern agricultural techniques, he says, will allow the world to sustain a 7,000,000,000 population. Beyond that, in in his opinion, new scientific means of obtaining food, such as fish farming and using sea plant life, will be required.

Action by the world's Roman Catholics in the effective use of birth control — should the Archbishop be correct in his guess — will not, of course, make a very imposing dent in the swelling world population. They do not represent a sufficiently large section of all the people. But they could provide — as many of them are already providing — another example of what the Western world calls family planning—a practice which apparently will have to become world-wide.

If the scientist is right — and the number of imponderables in his calculations no doubt make his prediction questionable — humanity could eat itself out of house and home, confirming the Malthusian theory.

But whether or not the ultimate Doomsday occurs, Dr. White-Stevens' dramatic warning, applicable to young children now living, does underscore the major problem confronting the peoples of this globe. Encouraging reports are emerging from some countries which have been taking practical action to reduce the pace of increasing population. But the questions remains: Are they acting quickly enough?

Purely a Centennial Gesture

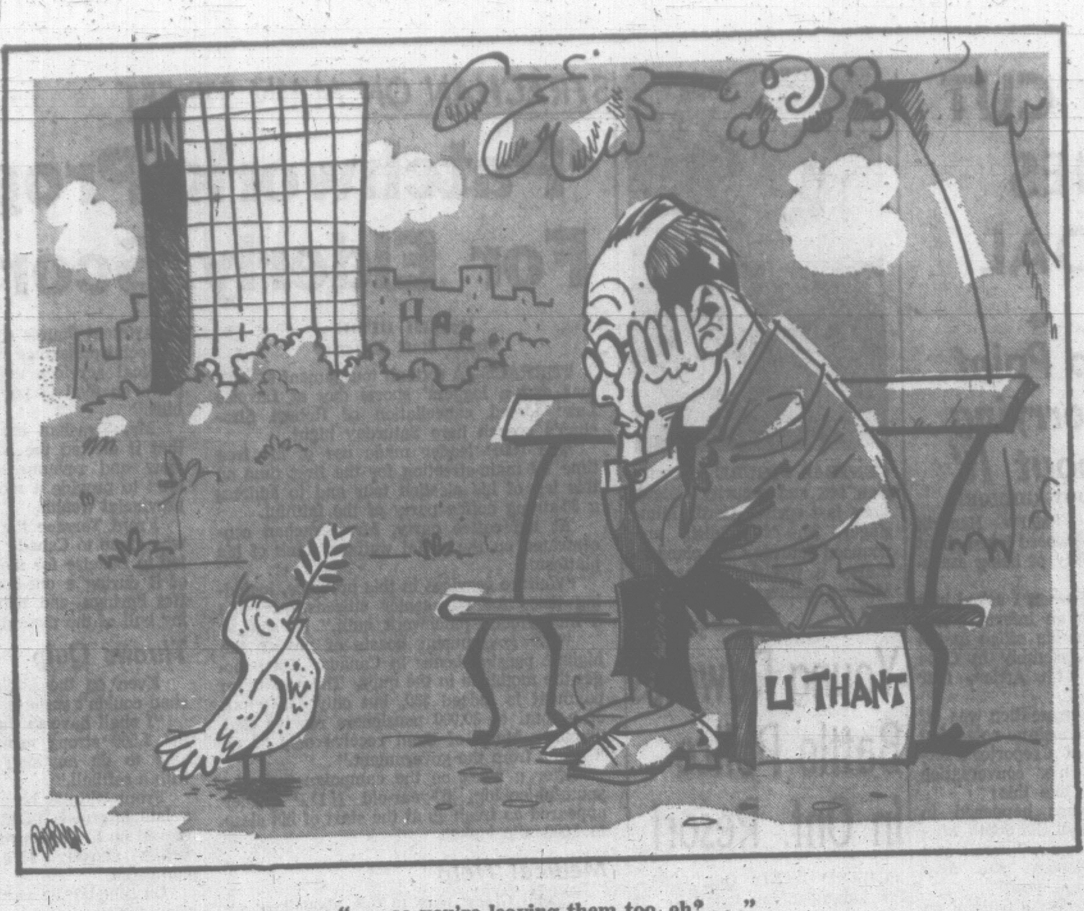
MRS. MAUDE CORRIGAN, WHO ran for a Social Credit seat in New Westminster in 1963 and didn't quite make it, is running again for the same party in this month's election.

She talked to Mr. Bennett about the Queensboro bridge and the help New Westminster ought to have from the provincial government to overcome the costs and annoyance of tolls on the span which connects her city and Lulu Island. Mrs. Corrigan is persuasive. Mr. Bennett has seen the light. He has announced that tolls will be removed for the centennial legislative opening to be held in the Royal City next January.

It should be clearly understood that this is a centennial gesture, of course, not a bribe — perish the thought — to New Westminster voters. If Mrs. Corrigan just happens to benefit at the polls from the premier's decision—well, he's not the one to complain.



"... so you're leaving them too, eh? ..."

Mr. Wilson and the Powder Barrel

Dewey

WHEN the Labor government imposed the current six-month freeze on prices and incomes throughout Britain, it did so almost with a sigh of relief. Surely, it was felt, this had to be the low point in the fortunes of an administration that not two years before had won power on the promise of putting a permanent stop to the Stop-Go cycle. Surely, there was now nowhere to go but up.

Six weeks later, alas, government fortunes are still sliding and the bottom is still nowhere in sight. In fact, the emergency that began with a crisis of foreign confidence in Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his colleagues is gradually being aggravated by a crisis of domestic confidence. More and more Britons appear to be asking themselves whether the administration which allowed them to get into this mess can really be trusted to get them out of it.

Inevitably, since setting an economy right is as much a matter of confidence as of pulling a lever, such doubts are working against the effective implementation of the freeze. Like a patient who does not quite trust his doctor, the country is taking the government's medicine carefully and suspiciously, one sip at a time.

Two Points of Uncertainty

At the heart of this wariness lie two points of deep uncertainty. Firstly, there is a widespread tendency to regard a six-month freeze followed by six months of severe restraint — such beautifully round figures these — as yet another piece of Wilsonian gimmickry. Why six months, precisely, when nobody could possibly know what condition the economy will be in by then? And what lasting good will six months or this or that discipline do for an economy whose difficulties are essentially chronic?

The second point of uncertainty is more pressing. Even if the government should finally convince the country of the rightness of its present policy, it still has not solved the perennial problem of convincing the two opposed sides of industry — the working class on the one hand and the owner-manager class on the other — that the burdens are being shared straight down the middle.

Because it is impossible to draw a straight line through an uneven economy without hurting some more than others, it is only a question of time until someone starts to holler. And this, experience has shown, is often the beginning of the end of policies of universal restraint. For should one side of industry show the faintest sign of readiness to balk, the other side can be counted upon to take this as the signal for balking too.

It was precisely this ping-pong effect that proved the undoing of the Labor government's late, unlamented prices and incomes policy, and it is quite capable of wreaking havoc with the present policy. And, lest this assessment appear too gloomy, it should be noted that the old pattern is already beginning to assert itself in ominous stirrings from the rank of the labor union movement.

At the moment, the present watchful truce between labor and management is in greatest peril from individual unions which have had pending pay raises put into cold storage for six months to a year. Understandably, they object to a standstill that applies equally to those who are due for increases and to those who have already received them. The country has already experienced its first token strike in protest against this unfortunate feature of the freeze and even more serious action seems likely to follow.

As for the labor union movement as a whole, its attidude will emerge more clearly when the central body, the huge trade unions congress, puts the freeze to a vote at its annual meeting.. So far, the omens are not favorable to the government. Ministers, who until a few weeks ago confidently believed that the TUC would fall in line, are now conceding that the decision could go either way.

Limited Challenge

Since the TUC has no power to enforce its decisions on member unions, some observers have tended to belittle its influence on the present course of events. And it is true that no conference vote could challenge the fact of the freeze. Indeed, the government is even now preparing to give its policy the force of law — a move partly designed to prevent disgruntled unions from suing their employers for already negotiated increases.

However, Mr. Wilson, for one, is not underrating the significance of the TUC meeting. In humbly seeking permission to address the opening session, he is ready to set the chance of influencing the vote against the considerable embarrassment of failing to do so. He has taken this step knowing full well that an adverse vote, as well as providing a focus for latent labor union hostility to his policy, would also contain the sting of a personal rebuff.

Crucial Importance

It is clear that the prime minister recognizes, even if some observers do not, that TUC's final decision will be of crucial psychological importance in the highly charged atmosphere that exists on the Labor side of the fence. He knows that an anti-government vote, or even an unconvincing pro-government vote, may be all that some of the more militant shop stewards are waiting for before calling their followers out against the freeze.

Another consideration that could well be on Mr. Wilson's mind right now is that an unfavorable vote this week would mark a further and perhaps serious deterioration in the relationship between the Labor government and what it likes to call its spiritual half-brothers in the labor union movement. And should this take place, the four-year cushion that has been placed between the present administration and the next general election would not seem nearly so thick as it does now.

Under the Threat of Mass Disobedience

Western

THE most unfortunate legacy of the railway dispute may well be a public impression that the government and Parliament were influenced in their decisions by the threat of mass civil disobedience. It is the government's position that the act in its final form expresses with clarity lacking in the earlier version the original intention of the ministers. The thought from the outset was that the railway workers should have as a guaranteed floor the 18 per cent wage increase recommended in the report of Mr. Justice Munroe.

If this was the intent, Mr. MacEachen and Mr. Marchand would have been well advised to defend the original, and obviously imperfect bill, with less ardour and oratorical brilliance. Even if the consistency of their intentions was more self-evident than it is, the fact is that the bill has undergone a change of serious significance. On this point at least there is agreement between the unions and the two railway spokesmen, Mr. Donald Gordon and Mr. Ian Sinclair. For the unions, the change is an improvement; for management, as the two company executives bitterly insisted on Thursday evening, it has made the bill much more expensive.

There has been change by instalments. The position on Monday was that the strikers were guaranteed an eight per cent increase with the prospect of further unspecified gains to be won through negotiation and arbitration. On Tuesday although the terms were unchanged Mr. MacEachen practically committed the government to a minimum of 18 per cent. On Wednesday Mr. Nicholson formally announced an amendment making 18 per cent part of the bill.

Thus wage negotiations now will be concerned solely with the increment to be added to the recommendation of Mr. Justice Munroe. There is a further assurance that the mediator or mediators will be instructed to take up all matters in dispute in all the conciliation proceedings.

Constant Pressure

While these changes have been occurring, the government has been under constant pressure of a sort which is not normal in our parliamentary processes. It did not have to fear divisions; from the outset it was assured of support from the Social Credit, Creditistes and independent members. Indeed, it gained strength as the week wore on. Mr. Pat Nowlan, the Conservative newcomer from Nova Scotia, defied his caucus to back the measure and there were other Conservatives who did not answer the bell.

What gravely troubled the ministers was the situation outside the House. It is doubtful if there has been a case in peacetime in which the threat of non-compliance has been such a spectre in our parliamentary halls.

The threat outside was echoed and spelled out within. While no member of Parliament actually counselled disobedience, opposition members did use the threats of others as a means of bending the government to their will. While ministers had no particular reason to attach special significance to Conservative warnings, the NDP has close links with the trade unions.

What did the New Democrats tell the government? The threat was most explicitly stated by Mr. Orlikow of Winnipeg. He read into the record the flat statement of the four union negotiators that the legislation was "totally unacceptable" and likely to be ignored. It is obvious, he said on Wednesday, "that the strike will continue."

After describing the grievances of the railway workers, Mr. Orlikow said: "Is it any wonder they are angry? Is it any wonder that the railway workers in all likelihood will defy the law and continue with a new illegal strike? I think the wonder is that they have not done so before now."

But Mr. Orlikow did not confine himself to words of sympathy or to personal predictions. He went on to warn the government that it would be powerless in the developing illegal situation. He said:

"If the railway workers stay out on strike what can the government do? What will government do? Will the government call in the troops? I see the former secretary of state nodding his head, apparently in approval and indicating that they will. Will that get the trains running? Will the government prosecute the workers? Can you send thousands of railway workers to prison? Is that what the government proposes?"

Again insisting that the railway men would ignore the law, Mr. Orlikow foresaw the country "faced with mass civil disobedience" and called for changes "to avoid what I believe will be the greatest crisis this country has ever faced."

"Mass civil disobedience" — this was the threat communicated to the government by the political party which the union leaders helped to found.

There is no reason to question Mr. Orlikow's sincerity; given the past record of law-abiding railway workers, there may be reason to question his judgment. What matters is that the threat was startkly presented to the government and that the government, for whatever reasons, afterwards amended the legislation.

Great Urgency

Before the events of this week there was reason for concern about the adequacy of our machinery for dealing with labor disputes. This now obviously becomes a matter of much greater urgency. It is one thing for settlements to be won through strikes or threats of strikes; this may be regrettable for all parties but we accept it as normal. Since 1950 we have become accustomed in the field of transportation to disputes leading to parliamentary intervention. But we have now moved into a new and much more serious situation, if people have reason to believe that settlements can be won by the threat of mass defiance of the law of Canada.

There can be no guarantee that such a situation will not recur 16 months from now. What has happened? For what people think has happened in the case of one group can happen in the case of another. The threat must of course be wide enough that the public insterest is plainly endangered. But such possible cases will probably become more numerous.

Even now Parliament is considering the introduction into the public service of collective bargaining, and the right to strike, although there is not a party in Parliament which does not profess deep concern over the obvious inadequacy of our arrangements for handling disputes in areas where these rights were long since recognized.

Looking Back

From The Times of Sept. 6, 1906:

Gorge Park was the scene of the only Labor Day festivities in the city yesterday where a very successful aquatic program occupied the afternoon, followed by a promenade concert and illustrated lecture in the evening. Large numbers of trade unionists and others spent the day in Vancouver where the big Labor Day celebration was held this year. Of course the dyed-in-the-wool hunters were out after grouse and deer.

OAP Strike?

Surely the elderly of Canada's affluent society deserve better than handouts from the United Way?

Why the dickens shouldn't they strike like the rest of the nation for pensions geared to the rising cost of living?

Railway men do; so do woodworkers, teachers, nurses, postmen, carpenters. Parliamentarians raise their own salaries. Doctors their fees; so do surveyors. Professors are paid more, much, much more. Even artists, bless them, have someway managed to climb on the bandwagon.

Fare Subsidy

With the B.C. premier's continuous assurance of unlimited monies, it has been difficult to understand why, in view of other letters observed in your columns, he cannot find a little "extra" for subsidies to transit fares for people who must depend on this means of transportation.

The great number of those who use, and need such services are the ones on limited and fixed incomes, small wage earners, and handicapped in various ways, not always visible.

Looks as though he intends to ignore this group of people. If so, shame, Mr. Premier.

A fare reduction is needed on such, for senior citizens, and all.

The premier is also reminded of the need for chronic care hospitals in our province.—British Columbian.

Rhyme and Reason

Ten full weeks of rest and fun and another school term has begun; and now, for both teen-age and tot, it's "back to school" and learning — what?

They're erudite beyond their years concerning trips to other spheres, talk casually of outer space and its value to the human race, of Mercury, Venus, Saturn, Mars, but when I ask them can they parse they wonder what I'm getting at and answer, "What the heck is that?"

Orthography is just a word. It's meaning? Let's not be absurd, it's only snobs and highbrows go for words as long as you know! And etymology's a word that most, it seems, have never heard, and prosody, apparently, lies buried in obscurity, while syntax, bless their hearts, they view as a sort of government revenue!

Good drilling in the triple Rs, the art of knowing how to parse as well as, one may well surmise, the ability to analyse, to calculate, to write, to spell, it seems, is almost shot to ... ! Well, you'll guess just what I meant to say but strict decorum rules it may not be thus forcefully expressed (and p'r'aps that's really for the best) but when I hear some people read it makes my inner organs bleed, and what I want to say is this: (Hope teachers won't take it amiss; I may be speaking out of turn) "Whatever else the children learn" — with teachers one and all I plead — "PLEASE teach your pupils how to read."—Robert J. Howard, 4158 Carey.

China: An Inward Turn With a Vicious Twist

By JOHN KIRKWOOD
Times Far Eastern Correspondent

HONG KONG — "The thing that worries me most in Asia today," remarked an observer here a while ago, "is not the war in Viet Nam alone.

"It's the power of Marshal Lin."

The fact that this man is an old China hand who hav lived more than 30 years in the Far East is reason enough to heed his words.

Almost all observers of Chinese affairs here are painting an increasingly gloomy picture of China's relations with the rest of the world these days.

Kirkwood

Almost all agree that the current internal upheaval which is purging intellectuals, students and revisionists (or non-Mao Tse-tung believers) and relentlessly pushing the philosophy of Maoism to the fore will result in a further stiffening of China's intransigent policies in international affairs.

Almost all agree that this, coupled with the rise to power of the tough Marshal Lin, will result in China turning more and more inward, will increase her people's militant xenophobia and will make any entente with the West impossible for a decade at least.

Almost all agree that Marshal Lin will succeed Chairman Mao as China's leader — if, indeed, he has not already taken over the reins — and couple this with dire prophecies of the future.

And some even warn bluntly that under Marshal Lin the brooding, glowering giant across the river will become physically aggressive, will pour hundreds of thousands of troops into the Viet Nam war to bring about a direct confrontation with the United States which could lead to the Third World War.

But one thing is certain: developments in Mainland China in the last few weeks are no cause for joy.

Start With Teachers

The purge of those who did not go along 100 per cent with Chairman Mao's rigid philosophy of Comunism started with intellectuals, teachers, journalists, actors, students and men of professional rank.

Among the first to feel the keen blade of the axe: Peng Chen, the mayor of Peking since 1951 and formerly a high-ranking member of the Communist Party hierarchy; Kuo Me-je, regarded as China's top intellectual; Teng To, former editor-in-chief of Peking's People's Daily; numerous editors and university administrators.

But that was only the beginning.

Having presumably crushed the danger of revolt among the intellectuals, the party has now turned on the Chinese masses.

Obviously aware that ordinary citizens and even humble peasants can become disillusioned and fed up with their way of life, the party bosses are now beaming Mao's Communist philosophy to the multitudes—by staging mass rallies, by reprinting hundreds of thousands of copies of Mao's prolific writings, by printing newspaper editorials, by radio broadcasts and by mobile loudspeaker vans, and by stepping up violent verbal assaults on both the "imperialist" United States and the "revisionist" Soviet Union.

And the most recent reports from China tell of shopkeepers being purged for selling curios and luxury goods, government officials being purged for using their cars for pleasure, youths being purged for sporting "Hong Kong" haircuts and young ladies being chastized for longing to wear Western-style clothes and makeup.

Streets are being renamed (how would you like to live at No. 1 Resist American Aggression Street, third floor?), churches closed and roving bands of fiery youths appear to have taken up the cause with a passionate intensity.

Moved to Sidelines

Observers feel that President Liu Shao-chi, the Chinese chief of state and China's No. 2 man, has now been quietly moved to the sidelines for opposing Mao's policies.

They feel that unflappable Chou En-lai, the prime minister, will continue to work largely in the background and will not play an important role in the formation of future policy.

They feel that Chairman Mao, whose health is still in doubt despite his marathon swim in the Yangtse River and whose age is against him, will remain as No. 1 for a time yet, but will gradually hand over power.

And who will he hand it to?

There seems no doubt now that Marshal Lin Piao (pronounced Pew) is Chairman Mao's heir apparent.

And to make his position even more secure, Marshal Lin, who is at present the defence minister, has carefully courted and won the complete backing of the powerful Chinese Army.

'People's War'

This fact, plus Marshal Lin's avowed reputation as an ardent supporter of "people's war" and a firm believer in enormous manpower superiority in battle make him, in the eyes of most observers, the most dangerous man in China today.

The marshal, himself a distinguished career soldier and veteran of the Korean war, is known to believe absolutely in aggressive military tactics as a means to furthering Communist aims throughout the world, a fact made public last October when he published a major article on people's warfare.

And, perhaps most dangerous of all, Marshal Lin is reported completely confident that Chinese Communism will ultimately take over the world, no matter what the cost in human lives.

Founders Of B.C.

WILLIAM FERNIE

The search for gold made many early B.C. prospectors rich, but one of the most successful of this pioneer brotherhood was a man who found not gold, but coal. And the first time he found it, he passed it up as insignificant.

William Fernie was laying a trail through the Crow's Nest Pass, accompanied by his brother Peter. They saw a coal outcropping, but at the time they paid it little heed. It wasn't until years later, in 1887, when railway construction was starting and coal had a new importance, that they formed a company to find that body of coal again and develop it.

★ ★ ★

The result was the famous Fernie coal enterprise and the town of Fernie that built itself around the mines.

William Fernie was born in Huntingdonshire, England, in 1837. He left school at an early age and sought adventure in Australia, New Zealand and South America.

Finally in 1860 he arrived in the Crown Colony of Vancouver Island. But that was too tame for him too. So he headed into the wilderness of the adjoining colony of British Columbia.

Success didn't come easily. He was just 23 then. For the next 27 years he worked his way through the mountain settlements and lonely valleys of B.C. He knew Rock Creek, the Similkameen and the Columbia River and he mined for a time in the Kootenays and then tried cattle ranching.

Between 1873 and 1882 he was a government gold commissioner and he did short stints as a customs collector and coroner of the Kootenay district. Then when he had reached an age when many men are ready to shorten their horizons, Bill Fernie earned his fortune through his involvement with the B.C. Southern Railway and Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company.

★ ★ ★

He lived many years in the Kootenays and was past 60 when he came again to Victoria to build a home and settle. He died here at the age of 84 in 1921. He never married. He was respected in the community for many charities while he lived and when he died there was provision in his $253,000 estate for gifts of $50,000 to old friends and $10,000 to the city's Jubilee Hospital.

In His Twilight Years Powerful Imagery

By GERALD WARING

OTTAWA — It isn't often that a columnist in Ottawa finds something to write about that excites only admiration and respect. But in this category is Hon. Ivan C. Rand's report on the circumstances that make Mr. Justice Leo A. Landreville an unfit person to occupy the position of judge.

Waring

The Rand report is a document of great immediate importance for rectifying a situation that imperils the quality of justice and respect for the law. But it's more than that. It's also a document of permanent value, one that will be read and cited for as long as a Canadian democracy based on impartial rule of law continues to exist.

It will live in this sense because without acceptance of the precepts of judicial conduct that it lays down, and without concern for the dangers that it exposes, justice and democracy would be in mortal danger, and 10 centuries of strivings for the society of the common man could go for naught.

Judges, wrote Mr. Justice Rand, should have "probity, detachment, independence of mind and fidelity to duty." And an "absolute condition" for judicial responsibility "is a free mind, untrammelled in judicial action by foreign or irrelevant interests, relations or matters which might color or distort judgment."

On the independence of judges, he wrote with powerful imagery that "It enables the guarantee of security to the weak against the strong, and the individual against the community; it presents a shield against the tyranny of power and arrogance and against the irresponsibility and irrationality of popular action, whether of opinion or of violence; it enables the voice of sanity to rise above the turbulence of passion, and it is to be preserved inviolate . . .

"Vital damage to a state would be the impairment of that independence . . . Judgments may be criticized . . . but the underlying basic assumption is the intellectual and moral integrity of the judicial officer in the execution of his office.

"Only under a regime of law can societies today be maintained in peace and freedom: its administration must carry the respect and acceptance of the public . . . Impartiality must mark judgment to the extent possible to men; our court system is the result of a thousand years of experience, and so far as it is imperfect the answer is that man is imperfect.

"But it stands favorable comparison with any other sytem of mankind; and the preservation of the essential quality of freedom in its ministers from influences foreign to its processes, conscious or unconscious, is a supreme necessity."

These words by an 82-year-old man with a lifetime of distinguished service to the law and the nation may become, in the years ahead, his most important single contribution to our society.

For what the Rand report does, and why, it will live as a bulwark of our judicial system, is that it exposes the forces that seek to subvert the judiciary for personal advantage, it explains the essentiality of judicial rectitude, and it lays down precepts necessary not only for the preservation of justice under law, but of democracy itself.

The nation owes Mr. Justice Rand much for his twilight labors. If the nation profits by them, as it must, I think he will consider the debt amply repaid.

BOURGUIBA
. . . unpredictable

Tradition Brushed Aside in Tunisia

'Bourguibism' Keeps Him on Top

By PETER BUCKLEY

Tunisia has enjoyed 10 years of political stability since it became independent. The main reason, as seen by a Canadian Press reporter on a visit to the North African country, is the president, Habib Bourguiba.

TUNIS — Habib Bourguiba, the dynamic little president of Tunisia, has built a formidable political career and achieved immense popularity by paying scant attention to an old Arab virture.

Tunisians call it "syasa" and it means respect for the formalities of life, in particular such graces as courtesy, love of tradition and modesty.

Bourguiba, an urbane and astute product of the Tunisian middle class with a Paris law degree, has no lack of courtesy.

But he has brushed aside tradition and broken with Islam's hallowed Koranic teaching when they hampered his ambitious plans for the North African country. And he has immodestly tolerated, if not encouraged, a cult of personality that helps to keep him on top of Tunisia's political heap.

Viewed from Paris, which formerly ruled Tunisia as a protectorate, Bourguiba seems irritatingly unpredictable and individualistic. A French government official, adopting the polite but peckish tone that France reserves for Bourguiba these days, said:

"Tunisia is probably much too small for his ambitions. I'm sure he would prefer a larger stage to play on."

But a longtime French resident of Tunis praised Bourguiba because he "has given a sense of direction and continuity of effort to affairs — traits that are not usually found in the Tunisian character."

Both assessments offer a facet of truth.

10 Years of Calm

Tunisia has enjoyed 10 years of virtually unruffled calm since the end of the French protectorate. Although it has few natural resources and a population of only 4,600,000 in an area a little larger than the three Maritime provinces, the country has made solid strides under Bourguiba towards building a modern industrial society.

The 63-year-old president's methods have been distinctive enough to inspire the term "Bourguibism" to describe his political tactics. In the words of U.S. author I. William Zartman, it means "keeping a flexible control on both the hot and cold taps and adapting tactics to the flow of events."

By some political alchemy, Bourguiba has succeeded where other Arab leaders have failed in enticing a steady flow of Western capital into a decidedly socialist economy.

In the dapper cultured Bourguiba — regarded by more fiery spirits as a suspiciously moderate nationalist — Tunisia had a leader of international stature out of all proportion to her size.

An impassioned speaker and from early youth a battler for Tunisian independence, Bourguiba has espoused the cause of Maghreb unity — apparently hopeless in the present prickly atmosphere around Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia and Libya. He also envisages a Commonwealth of French-speaking countries, an idea that has signally failed to strike sparks in Paris although welcomed by other former colonies.

On the domestic scene, Bourguibism flowers.

He has rallied most of the political spectrum to his side, manipulating dissidents with a velvet glove or showing flashes of the iron fist when necessary — such as in the 1962 execution of 10 army officers who plotted his assassination.

But such sternness is rare. More often Bourguiba is able to isolate his opponents, then wait for them to grow tired of being ostracized.

The president has virtually unchallenged power over Tunisian affairs. There is a national assembly and a cabinet, but both receive their orders from the lavish, massive presidential palace in suburban Carthage.

Bourguiba is also given to lecturing the nation directly, drawing sermons from day-to-day events.

Twice in recent years, he has been slapped down by General de Gaulle — the first time when he tried to seize the French naval base at Bizerte by force in 1962, and again when he nationalized French-owned farms and property in 1964.

Relations have still not returned to normal. Tunisia's economy, largely dependent on trade and aid from France, slumped after the former mother country retaliated for the property seizures.

Almost inevitably, Tunisia has turned to the United States to help fill the gap, and the U.S. presence here is growing daily.

Stepped on Toes

Within Tunisia, he has stepped brusquely on traditional toes by banning polygamy, giving equal rights to women and encouraging birth control. He has welcomed private investment. He has even ordered that normal business operations continue during the taxing, month-long fasts of Ramadan — a daring, unprecedented step in the Arab world.

Bourguiba has been married twice. When he was studying law in Paris in the 1920s, he married a French widow older than himself and the union lasted until well past Tunisian independence. The two were divorced in recent years and Bourguiba married a longtime Tunisian woman friend.

However, his first wife is comfortably installed in a suburban villa and Bourguiba is said to visit her weekly.

VOTING DISCRIMINATION . . . AT WISH OF MAORIS

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND—New Zealand, which prides itself on strict racial equality, is preparing for a general election in November in which discrimination in the voting system remains unchanged.

The Maoris of New Zealand's native race continue to vote on a separate roll and to elect separate members to Parliament.

●

The curious feature is that survival of electoral discrimination is at the express wish of the Maoris themselves. The present government would like to introduce full equality on a common roll.

Attorney-General J. R. Hanan recently warned Parliament that a change to a common roll is overdue.

"If we don't do it soon," he said, "the United Nations is likely to tell us to do it, because our present practice bears the stigma of second-class citizenship for the Maoris."

The Opposition Labor party makes less of a point of abolishing the Maori seats. Significantly, all four Maori members have long supported Labor.

Interests urging the abolition of the Maori seats maintain that the division of Maori votes among a common roll would be just as valuable to Labor since it could give the party an edge in several marginal seats now held by the National party. But Labor is not keen to sacrifice four seats for an unknown gain.

●

Even Labor, however, acknowledged that a change to a common roll must come as soon as the Maoris themselves want it.

Some Maoris declare that logic demands the abolition of the Maori seats before equality can be fully established.

But others maintain that the Maoris still need spokesmen of their own race in Parliament to represent the special interests of the Maoris. They are not certain that the Maoris would be able to gain election on a common roll in proportion to their numbers.

In fact, many Maoris gain election to local councils from voting on common rolls and some are elected mayors of predominantly-white districts.

The evidence suggests that able Maoris would not be at a disadvantage in seeking election to Parliament on a common roll. But the Maoris are not willing to abandon their existing privilege until they are more confident on that point.

Russian Military Aid Costly But Pays Dividends in Mid-East

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON—The Russians are stepping up their military aid operations in two of the world's potential hot spots—the Middle East and the new African nations.

Johnson administration sources report that the Soviet program is becoming increasingly costly but apparently is bearing fruit.

Moscow has exhausted the stocks of obsolescent arms from which it supplied earlier requests, thus is now delivering more and more relatively new equipment. Examples include the MiG-21 jet fighters recently sent Algeria and the SU-7 fighter-bombers promised Iraq, the first such fighter-bombers to be given any non—Communist country.

Soviet leaders plainly consider the increasing cost of the arms aid justified in eroding Western influence, influencing strategic countries, countering Red China's propaganda campaign, and disrupting traditional patterns of trade.

Russia, which already had distributed $4 billion in military equipment to 19 underdeveloped countries, has paid out another $1 billion since last year. The stepped-up shipments now being made appear to be in fulfillment of these commitments of the past year.

In May, Russia made another military aid deal with Iraq—the fifth with that country—under which it will provide more than $175 million in military equipment.

Meantime, military aid shipments to Egypt and Syria are running at a good rate. The Russians are reported negotiating still another commitment to Syria.

In addition to increasing military aid deliveries to Algeria, the Soviet Union also has started sending arms to Mali through Algeria. Somalia and Guinea are two other African countries which have just received Russian arms.

India, denied U.S. military assistance since the Kashmir fighting, recently received about 75 Soviet T55 medium tanks ordered last spring. The total order was for 225; the rest presumably will be forthcoming over the next six months.

Pakistan, meanwhile, hopes to get some Soviet aid since it knows that the Kremlin is anxious to try to walk a tight rope between Pakistan and India in order to retain maximum influence in the Kashmir and other disputes.

Run Away From Heart Attack

DALLAS, Tex. — Perhaps the best way to avert a heart attack — or to survive one — is to run miles each day.

That's the opinion of a 51-year-old heart specialist who practices what he preaches: He runs about five miles every morning.

"The heart is a muscle, and it needs exercising like any other muscle to stay healthy," says Dr. Carleton Chapman.

The best exercise for the heart, he believes, is sustained running or riding a bicycle.

Dr. Chapman, who smokes an occasional filter cigarette, is a professor of medicine at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at Dallas. He is immediate past president of the American Heart Association.

Dr. Chapman has been running regularly for 13 years, and he plans to continue indefinitely.

He makes the point that such exercise must be done daily or at least four or five times a week to be effective.

"Heavy exercise taken sporadically, or only once in a while, could do more harm than good" by sudden overloads on a flabby heart.

The key, then, to treating a heart attack patient is what he calls "carefully graduated activity."

After a patient is able to get out of bed, Dr. Chapman has him walk a mile or two a day. This is stepped up to slow running or jogging a mile in the morning and a mile in the evening.

●

If all goes well, the patient in time gets into the routine of running, walking or riding a bicycle four or five miles a day.

"The important thing is a program of sensible stress on the circulatory system."

He said he began thinking about a possible correlation between inactivity and heart trouble when he learned that the death rate in the United States from coronary problems is five or six times what it is in Sweden, where people are considerably more active.

His thinking was spurred on by a study he read of in London, which said conductors on the double-decked buses have significantly less heart trouble than the drivers. The conductors are constantly climbing up and down the vehicle stairs, while the drivers just sit in a seat for hours.

Wilson Warns Labor Rebels

Productivity Must Increase Before Wage Freeze Lifted

By PETER BUCKLEY

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's no-nonsense lecture to the powerful Trades Union Congress in Blackpool Monday has renewed the general confidence that the congress will support the Labor government in its wage-freeze policy.

But there was widespread feeling that Wilson had made few converts among the substantial body of union members who bitterly oppose the government's harsh measures to cure the economic ills of Britain.

The 1,000 delegates — representing 170 unions and more than 8,000,000 members — vote Wednesday on a series of measures which will test the government's strength among a section of organized British society which has been the backbone of the Labor party.

There are predictions that the wage-freeze policy will get the support of delegates representing about 4,500,000 union members. The predictions have changed hardly at all since Wilson's speech, the first by a British prime minister to the congress since 1950.

Wilson told the delegates that even after the current six months of total freeze on wages and the further six months of severe curtailments, there would have to be stringent safeguards to keep paycheques in line with productivity.

HIT FEATHERBEDDING

He attacked "scandalous" practices which tend to restrict productivity — deliberate efforts to keep more men on a job than are needed.

Such practices in the end threaten the jobs they are designed to protect, Wilson said, because they make Britain less Competitive.

The alternative to current government policy, he indicated, could well be a "depression such as we have not seen in this generation, where the workless might be numbered not as 1½ to two per cent, but at 1,500,000 to 2,000,000."

Most said it was designed not only to convince British unions about the government's determination to take drastic measures, but also to impress the international bankers and the world at large on the same score.

Reaction among the delegates in Blackpool, however, was subdued.

SNUBS WILSON

Frank Cousins, who resigned from Wilson's cabinet in protest at the wage-freeze policy, refused to stand and applaud with other delegates when Wilson had finished.

He told reporters: "I have never agreed with the policy and I heard nothing today to make me change my mind."

The Independent Times said of the speech:

"It would be unfair to say that the delegates yawned. One or two were even sufficiently interested to heckle. But it was quite clear that, even if most of the opponents of the government's policy had not already made up their minds how they would vote on Wednesday, Mr. Wilson would not have won them over."

Fighting Poverty, Joey Tells Voters

By DAL WARRINGTON

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—"I have been fighting a war against poverty in Newfoundland and Labrador from the moment I started the campaign for Confederation and from the moment I became premier," Joseph Smallwood tells Newfoundlanders as he appeals for a sixth vote of confidence in Thursday's provincial election.

The 65-year-old Liberal leader, Newfoundland's "father of Confederation," attributes his province's booming development to that event in 1949 and to his own untiring efforts to raise its standard of living toward that of wealthier provinces.

He quotes Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures that show personal income in Newfoundland rose 194 per cent from 1950 to 1964 compared with 161 per cent in Canada as a whole. He says new capital investment increased 266 per cent, more than double the Canadian average of 130 per cent.

Painting with a different brush is the Progressive Conservative leader, Dr. Noel Murphy, 51. He says progress has been made, but at too great a cost.

In his view, Premier Smallwood has become a dictator who threatens the basic freedoms of the people.

He charges the Liberals with widespread patronage and corruption — especially in the awarding of liquor-sale licences and construction contracts — with promoting industries for the benefit and profit of the few, with meddling in internal university affairs and with browbeating civil servants.

He admits he's fighting an uphill battle. After 17 years, during which the Smallwood forces have won every election with smashing majorities, the PCs have a formidible task.

But gains in 1962, when they elected their first members outside the St. John's area, give them hope the tide may be turning their way. That time they won a record seven seats in the 42-seat house. Liberals took all the others except for a lone independent who has cast his lot with the Conservatives in the current campaign.

KIDNAPPING

Pompidou Will Not Appear

PARIS (Reuters) — What could be France's most spectacular trial in years opened Monday with the defence being told it could not call two important witnesses on its list — Premier Georges Pompidou and Interior Minister Roger Frey.

Five men are on trial in connection with a scandal involving the kidnapping of Moroccan opposition party leader, Mehdi Ben Barka, who disappeared in Paris Oct. 29 and is generally considered to be dead.

As the trial opened, the presiding judge announced that a cabinet meeting Aug. 24 presided over by President Charles de Gaulle decided the two ministers should not appear.

The five men are charged with the illegal abduction and detention of Ben Barka. Seven others will be tried in their apsence after the present hearings.

OUFKIR ABSENT

Among those absent was the man French authorities hold mainly responsible for the kidnapping — Moroccan Interior Minister Gen. Mohamed Oufkir.

The prosecution alleged that Oufkir organized the kidnapping for political reasons, to prevent a reconciliation between King Hassan II of Morocco and Ben Barka, the exiled leader of the left-wing national Union of People's Forces.

The five defendants in court were Antione Lopez, 43, counter-espionage agent and senior Air France official at Orly Airport; Louis Souchon, 50, a French narcotics squad official, and Roger Voitot, 38, his assistant; Philippe Bernier, 35, a French journalist and specialist in North African affairs; and El Ghali el Mahi, 30, a Moroccan police officer who called himself a student in Paris.

All face maximum penalties of life.

Quiet Welcome For De Gaulle In Hebrides

PORT VILA, New Hebrides (CP) — French President de Gaulle flew into one of the quietest receptions of his round-the-world tour when he arrived here today for a one-day visit.

Flags fluttered from buildings and ships in the harbor and hundreds of people waited to welcome the first French head of state to visit this tiny Anglo-French condonimium in the Pacific.

But there were none of the wild scenes that greeted the 75-year-old leader on his arrival in Noumea, New Caledonia, three days ago.

De Gaulle goes Wednesday to Tahiti for two days, and then to the Mururoa atoll to witness the test explosion of a French atomic bomb Saturday morning.

A French air force DC-4 brought the president from New Caledonia to Port Vila, capital of the 80 islands of the New Hebrides which France and Britain administer jointly.

De Gaulle was greeted by the resident French commissioner, the British high commissioner for the Pacific, a score of other officials and several hundred Melanesians.

PLANS MODIFIED

Plans for the atomic test to be witnessed by de Gaulle Saturday were modified Monday without explanation. Officials earlier had reported the bomb would be "doped" with thermonuclear material, putting France on the threshold of building a hydrogen bomb. But scientists at Mururoa announced the test of this bomb had been postponed and de Gaulle instead would see the explosion of a "very powerful" device hung from a balloon 500 yards above the atoll.

PEACE BANNERS RIPPED

LBJ War Talk Cheered in Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson began his official pre-election campaigning with an 18-speech midwestern tour Labor Day that drew big crowds and cheers for his Viet Nam policy as well as some protests.

One presidential speech, at a packed fairgrounds in racially-tense Dayton, Ohio, was interrupted twice when some of his supporters scuffled with anti-war demonstrators.

The shoving and pushing matches, about 50 yards in front of Johnson's podium, did not interrupt the president's words. But, he had to pause when many in the crowd cheered as anti-war banners were pulled down and ripped apart.

Ironically, all this happened as Johnson was discussing the plight of restive youth, asking, "is the right to demonstrate all a society can offer the restless, surging spirit of a generation that asks where the action is?"

Johnson visited Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., Dayton and Lancaster, Ohio. The crowds got bigger at every stop and, if official estimates are accurate, totalled more than 250,000 people.

Everywhere Johnson went, first-term Democrats in the House of Representatives face Republican challenges in the November general election. That presumably is why the president made the trip.

The presidency is not at stake until 1968, but this year the entire House and one-third of the Senate seats are to be contested.

Johnson got one of his noisiest ovations at the Lancaster fairgrounds when he said no one wants to kill or be killed, no president wants to order young men into battle, "but we must deal with the world as it is."

23,000 AT SAANICHTON FAIR, SAY OFFICIALS

Bang-Up Crowd for No. 98

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Sunny weather played a major part in bringing thousands to the 98th edition of the Saanichton Fall Fair over the Labor Day weekend.

Attendance for the exhibition's three-day run was estimated by fair officials at about 23,000 — 1,000 more than last year.

It reached a peak Monday afternoon when more than 15,000 poured through the gates. Cars were closely parked on the grounds and on adjoining roads.

Clad in everthing from tweeds to dungarees, spectators filed through the exhibition buildings studying newly awarded prize ribbons and asking questions of their proud owners.

Happy with the results and the standard of exhibits was Albert Doney, president of the North and South Agricultural Society.

'BEST YET'

"The cattle exhibits, especially beef, are the best I have ever seen at this fair," he said.

There were more than 225 head of cattle at the fair — the largest ever.

In the agricultural hall the exhibits were outstanding.

Two of the most popular attractions were the rabbit and fancy bird shows.

4-H BUSY

Neatly turned out in green crested white uniforms for dairy and tan for beef, members of the 4-H clubs ran through a full program of events starting on Saturday and ending Monday.

A side attraction which drew a large crowd were gymnastics and judo performed by YMCA-YWCA teams and the Victoria Judo Club.

Gardeners and hobbyists turned out by the hundreds to see the exhibits in the agricultural hall. They included paintings, Indian crafts, photography and household arts.

BLEACHERS PACKED

But dominating all the horticultural exhibits were the late summer and autumn flowers.

One of the attractions which brightened the day's entertainment Monday was the performance staged by the Midnight Ramblers, a local western music group.

PEP TALK NEEDED TO INJECT VIGOR INTO SLEEPY FAIR

By HUMPHRY DAVY

I viewed the Saanichton fair grounds with its milling crowds. I couldn't help but agree.

While the fair was a success, it was apparent it needs a face-lifting, especially to prepare for the exhibition's 100th anniversary in 1968.

The fair grounds and buildings have undergone little change in the 15 years I've attended.

It's development has not kept pace with the population growth and the rising interest in agriculture and horticulture.

These views were also shared by many exhibitors and people with the fair's interest at heart.

It doesnt' take a trained eye to detect the fairs' shortcomings.

What then should be done to improve the fair — to make its birthday party in two years a really outstanding event?

1. Existing building for animals should be torn down and new, simple shelters erected to accommodate all livestock.

2. Reconstruction of the agricultural hall to provide additional space for horticultural exhibits.

3. Appointment of a committee to promote greater agricultrual participation in the fair.

4. Special attractions — such as a pageant organized by local talent — for 1968.

I found the resistance to change came from people who feared the fair would lose its country atmosphere and become commercialized like thousands of fairs in North America.

But one exhibitor had an answer.

"I can't see how new buildings will promote commercialization," he said. "It's disheartening for an exhibitor to see his entries displayed in poor shack-like hovels."

One of the main safeguards against commercialization is to make use of the resources of other segments of society in the field of side attractions and entertainment. This seems to be the experience of other country fairs.

There is no need to bring in outside entertainers. The Saanich peninsula has plenty of talent.

And what about a band concert?

WINNER of the open cutting horse competition, David Batty of Douglas Lake Cattle Co., was awarded the Victoria Times Perpetual Challenge Trophy. Mr. Batty was riding Haley's Daisy.

THIRD TRY

Cutting Contest Won By Ex-Duncan Rider

Crowds jammed the horse ring to watch Canadian and U.S. horsemen compete in cutting horse competitions at the Saanichton Fair over the Labor Day weekend.

The competitions started Saturday and ended Sunday with the second go-round and the finals.

He was awarded the Times Perpetual Challenge Trophy.

THIRD TRY

This was Batty's third try for the trophy since the cutting horse competitions were first stage at the fair three years ago. He narrowly missed winning in the 1964 show.

Competing in the finals were three other riders. The runner-up was Mel Maguire of Yakima, riding Music Delight.

C. N. "Chunky" Woodward, owner of Douglas Lake Cattle Company, riding Peggy Ian placed third. Buster Smith of Woodenville, Washington, was fourth.

Results in the novice cutting were: 1, Moira Girl, Dave Batty, Douglas Lake Cattle Co; 2, Chief Wanapan, W. A. Croker, Portland, Ore.; 3. Wyse Pretzel, Buster Smith, Woodenville, Washington; 4. Poco Tab, M. A. Hillman, White Rock; 5, May Glo, Art Sullivan, Calgary.

She's a Lollapaloosa Riding an Appaloosa

Horses, horses, horses—there were never so many horse entries at the Saanichton Fair.

They totalled 225, the largest number to compete in the fair's three-day horse show. Many horses were entered in a large number of events.

And over 2,000 suntanned spectators never wearied of the show which started Saturday with the junior classes and ended Monday with the English events.

The show was directed by the Victoria Western Horseman's Club. Judge was Mrs. Ray Ellard of Edmonton.

Competition was keen between mainland, up-Island and Victoria riders. But if laurels must be handed out to any single horse and rider, they should go to red-headed, 10-year-old Lesley Reid of Vancouver, riding a stocky Appaloosa western horse.

WINS THREE

She won three events in the senior western show.

The English events were outstanding. In the grueling fault and out-jumping—a favorite spectator event—Pat Bowron of Duncan, placed first. The former Victoria girl riding her mother's Hindu Punch, sailed over 18 jumps without a fault.

Canadian Exports Mount

OTTAWA (CP) — The striking improvement this year in exports continued during May at a pace 22 per cent higher than May, 1965.

Export sales totalled $909,967,000 compared with $745,729,000 a year earlier, reported the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today. Sales in the U.S. were one-third higher at $540,719,000 compared with $408,429,000.

The over-all increase for the first five months of the year was 20 per cent.

Sales to the United Kingdom declined 13 per cent to $103,819,000. Wheat orders took exports to Russia to $56,200,000 from $4,240,000 and made her Canada's third-ranked trading partner for the month.

Over-all wheat sales totalled $100,838,000 compared with $64,599,000 a year ago and replaced newsprint as the biggest export commodity.

National Deficit Increases

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada finished the 1965-66 fiscal year with a budget deficit of $39,000,000, Finance Minister Sharp has announced.

Final figures for the year that ended last March 31 showed revenues of $7,696,000,000 and expenditures of $7,735,000,000.

Both revenues and expenditures were higher than the estimates made in his budget speech last March 29, Mr. Sharp announced.

Estimated revenues then were $7,673,000,000 and estimated expendituures were $7,707,000,000 for a budgeted deficit of $34,000,000.

In the same budget speech, Mr. Sharp estimated 1966-67 revenus at $8,300,000,000 and expenditures at $8,450,000,000 for a budgetary deficit of $150,000,000. Gross liabilities of the government last March 31 totalled $27,598,00,000, with $19,110,000,000 in unmatured bonds and treasury bills. Net recorded assets totalled $12,055,000,000, leaving the net debt at $15,543,000,000.

Mr. Sharp said the 1965-66 deficit turns into a surplus when using the national accounts system, taking in all government revenues and expenditures including such items as old age pensions and unemployed insurance funds that are not counted in the budgetary system.

Merger Plans Announced

The boards of directors of United States Plywood Corporation and Champion Papers Inc. have voted to proceed with plans for merging the two companies, it has been announced.

The proposed plan would call for the issuance by U.S. Plywood of a full share of new convertible preferred stock and 4-10th's of a share of common stock for each common share of Champion outstanding at the time of merger.

The convertible preferred stock will carry an annual dividend of $1.20 and will be convertible at any time into shares of common stock of the combined company at the rate of one-half share of common stock for each full share of convertible preferred. The preferred issue would be callable after 10 years at a price of $22.50.

Vancouver Exchange Sees Light Trading

Year lows were recorded by New Indian, down one cent to .21, and Silbak Premier, which dropped one cent to .23½.

London Pride also touched a yearly low of .09 before recovering to .10 on 16,000 shares.

TC Explorations reached a new high of .45 before settling at .44, up two cents on the morning.

On the oils board Peace River put on four cents to .30 on 15,000 shares.

Banks paced the list lower with Nova Scotia off 1¼ to 64½, Royal ¾ to 67¾, Toronto-Dominion ½ to 54 and Imperial-Commerce and Montreal ⅛ each to 57¼ and 54⅞.

On the plus side, B.C. Telephone was up 1 to 61½, and Algoma Steel ½ to 26⅛.

Dome gained ⅝ to 18¾ in a stronger oil market and Denison ¾ to 54¾ in base metals. Inco, which is facing a possible strike, was down ½ to 83¾.

Provo Gas highlighted speculatives, rising 15 cents to 4.05 in oils.

AT NEW YORK gains were shaved in slow late trading.

The best showing was made by motors, airlines, nonferrous metals and some aerospace stocks.

Embarking cautiously on its post-Labor Day period — traditionally a turning point for business and the market — stocks rose from the start but enthusiasm was lacking. It was the slowest pace in weeks.

AT MONTREAL the market seemed to tread warily in light trading. Maritime Telephone was 3-4 points ahead at 23½ and Algoma Steel ½ at 26¼. Distillers-Seagrams and Nova Scotia Light each were ¼ higher at 29¼ and 11 respectively.

AT LONDON the market was subdued today as investors mulled over Prime Minister Wilson's speech to the trades union congress Monday.

Major industrials were easier but there was some selective support for second-rank stocks. Gold shares were marked down following news of the assasination of South African Prime Minister Verwoerd.

GRAIN PRICES

'B.C. Workers Earning Highest Wages'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Leslie Peterson, provincial labor minister, said Monday that more people than ever before are at work in British Columbia earning wages that "are the highest paid anywhere in Canada."

The minister made the statement in a Labor Day message, issued after he took part in a special Labor Day ceremony at Vancouver's Empire Stadium, where he took the salute of the RCMP musical ride team.

He said B.C. has had its share of industrial disputes this year but "we have resolved the issue better than most." Settlements had been made in the lumbering and logging industries; in the mining industry, the aluminum industry and many others. Some of the agreements had been hailed "as the best ever negotiated in the industry in Canada."

Mr. Peterson asked that when the results obtained in B.C. are compared with those of Ontario and Quebec, the "British Columbia record is most impressive." It showed less workers on strike and a great many less days lost as a result of strikes or lockouts.

The minister, who also holds the education portfolio in Premier Bennett's Social Credit cabinet, reviewed the work of the labor department and said "some of the most advanced labor legislation in North America has been placed on our statute books and other provinces have copied it and made it their own."

Lodge Puts Civilians Under Curfew

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared a curfew today for all American civilian personnel in the Saigon area next weekend. The national election is scheduled Sunday.

The curfew runs from 6 p.m. Saturday until 4 a.m. Monday. The U.S. military command already has ordered all its troops and defence department civilian employees to stay off the streets this week until after the voting.

Since the military order was issued during the weekend, Saigon's flourishing night life has slowed to a crawl. The usually thriving restaurants, bars and night clubs have been nearly emptied.

By keeping Americans out of sight in the cities before the vote, U.S. officials hope to counteract Communist propaganda that the United States is trying to influence the vote.

Ambiguity Hit In Bus-Dumping

A promise by Premier Bennett that he will not unload the money-losing B.C. Hydro transit system on to municipalities was received dubiously today by local leaders.

Commented Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant: "I think you have to take what he said with a grain of salt.

"He said he wasn't taking over B.C. Electric and the next minute he was.

The premier's latest promise was actually third hand, coming from Vancouver Mayor William Rathie, as told to him by B.C. Hydro director Einar Gunderson.

The premier reportedly said: "This is not the government's policy (to unload B.C. Hydro bus system)."

But what worried local leaders was the last part of his statement which said: "The government has not discussed this plan or any other with Hydro and will not do so until the election is over."

ELECTION

The problem is one which has worried Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver municipalities for some three years.

With the transit system showing a steady loss, it has been hinted the premier might turn it over to the individual municipalities.

Said Reeve Bryant: "If he tries to dump it on us I can't recommend to my people to accept it and we'd fight it as hard as possible.

"If the premier really means what he's said, he'll have a golden opportunity to tell the people directly when he speaks in Victoria tonight.

"He has an obligation to tell the people what he intends to do about it.

"He'll run into a lot of opposition he didn't bargain for if he tried to unload B.C. Hydro buses on us."

SCEPTICAL

While remaining sceptical, Reeve Curtis acknowledged that if the promise holds good it will be a weight off the municipalities' minds.

He said: "Traditionally and sensibly, the profits of power offset the losses of transit.

"This has been a real concern to Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver municipalities for about three years.

"I think the premier would run into a buzz-saw if he attempted to foist this off on the municipalities."

DEMANDS TIED TO ELECTION

Ferry Crisis Comes, Goes As Old Pattern Repeated

By ROGER STONEBANKS

And he has handled the current one almost the same way he did another one three years ago.

During the September, 1963, election campaign a ferry crisis blew up, the premier sat back — and the rumblings died away.

The pattern is the same this time — and the rumblings appear to have died away.

The issue in the 1963 election campaign was the same as this one — bargaining rights and union of choice. The battle for both continues.

Although there are similarities, there is one difference:

The talk in 1963 was about a possible strike. The plan this time was a mass resignation of officers.

In 1963, the rumblings of a strike died away four days before the Sept. 30 election date.

SIX DAYS

This time, the crisis moved within two days of the planned resignations — and six days from Monday's election.

What the officers want is full collective bargaining rights and signed agreement. This isn't possible because they are classified as civil servants who don't have bargaining rights.

First reports of trouble in 1963 came one month before election day. This time, the reports began circulating 20 days before the Sept. 12 voting date.

In 1963, the first reports coincided with statements that some crews were working 38 days without a break. A summer replacement crew was to be laid off.

On Sept. 3, a walkout at Nanaimo halted service to Horseshoe Bay for six hours. The next day management agreed to halt layoffs and keep the summer crew on until Oct. 1.

Twenty days before the 1963 election day, the Canadian Merchant Service Guild warned that government policies can "only lead to trouble" and the union sought a "proper system of representation."

TWELVE DAYS

Twelve days before the election — and the ferries were called a "hotbed of dissension" by Robert Cook, president of the marine engineers section of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers.

Mr. Cook warned a strike could come "at any time."

Six days before voting time — and ferry workers wired Premier Bennett reiterating demands for collective bargaining and union of choice.

Four days before voting time — and the possibility of a strike was reported to be remote.

HOME GARDEN

Learning Good, Bad Vital in Mushrooms

By HILDA BEASTALL

Hilda

Today's subject is only remotely relatied to gardening yet apparently of interest to many home gardeners, judging by the phone calls for information each year.

Mushrooms occur in gardens under certain conditions, but since the conditions are likely to vary from season to season most of us have never studied them as we do our more permanent garden plants.

We know there are plenty of edible mushrooms found locally and each year we are aware of loud warnings concerning those which are poisonous.

Considering the speed with which mushroom poisons act in humans, these warnings surely need to be loud. As a practical aid in identifying the good from the bad I was pleased to come across an excellent bulletin issued by the Research Branch of the Canadian Dept. of Agriculture., available from the British Columbia Dept. of Agriculture.

BEGINNERS

This is publication number 861, titled Mushroom Collecting for Beginners. The first four pages of text and the foreword itself are worth reading several times.

From there on if you are interested in knowing edible from poisonous mushrooms better than most of us think we recognise the wild strawberry, raspberry, blueberry or blackberry, there are 23 pages of detailed black and white photos and detailed descriptions in text.

The bulletin states there is no simple rule or test to distinguish edible from poisonous mushrooms but one need not be a trained botanist to be able to enjoy a few mushrooms with safety.

OBSERVATION

With a little study and careful observation, it is possible for anyone to become acquainted with a half dozen or so species in his locality and be able to recognize them on sight.

As the bulletin states: "Use only the species that you know to be edible and leave all the others alone."

In addition to the above bulletin, there is a handbook on Mushrooms and other Fungi which may be purchased from the Provincial Museum at a small cost.

Newspaper Bombed

NEW YORK (AP)—A crude bomb exploded Sunday at the offices of the Communist newspaper, The Worker, wrecking a basement room and shattering windows, including a number of stained-glass ones in a church across the street. There were no injuries.

Park 'Despoiling' Scored by Grit

Frank Preston, Liberal candidate in Victoria, told a coffee-party meeting that re-election of the government members would speed despoilation of provincial parks.

He said the B.C. Wildlife Federation is fighting a persistent battle to prevent the Socred administration from permitting dumping of mine tailings into Strathcona Park's Buttle Lake.

"This wildlife fight, which is the fight of all interested individuals to preserve our natural wildlife areas, will be set back if we return our present members," he said.

He said parks are vital recreation areas for the burgeoning cities and must be protected, pledging himself to seek trebling of the park department's budget if elected to the legislature.

Mr. Preston also said the Liberal campaign "is going better than even the most optimistic could hope for."

He noted the Socred manifesto ignored the arts.

"When we plan for the future, the vision must not be limited to steel and concrete," he told the coffee party.

Mr. Porteous advocated provincial grants be established to encourage B.C. painters, sculptors and other artists.

Thistles Protest Loss to Nanaimo

NANAIMO — Nanaimo Luckies scored five goals in the fourth quarter and went on to defeat Fergus, Ont., Thistles 10-7 to take a two-game lead in the best-of-five Canadian senior "B" lacrosse championships before about 800 fans Monday night.

Third game will be played Wednesday in Nanaimo.

Fergus was a far different club than the one which dropped a 20-5 decision to Nanaimo in the opening game Saturday.

Fergus led 3-2 at the end of the first quarter, 5-4 at half-time and 6-5 at the three-quarter mark. A series of penalties in the fourth quarter allowed Nanaimo to set up its five-goal scoring spree.

In the fourth quarter, Joe Manzini of Nanaimo and Cliff Turner of Fergus were involved in a fight and both got five-minute penalties. Turner also got an extra two minutes for throwing the ball at Manzini. Fergus coach Bob Proctor immediately lodged a protest.

Following the game, Art Dauost, of Vancouver, president of the B.C. Lacrosse Association, and Canadian Lacrosse Association chairman for the playoffs, said the Fergus protest would not be considered until the team put up $100.

They have 24 hours to do so. The protest was based on the referee's ruling that the two-minute penalty to Turner should be served before the five-minute penalty.

How's Fishing? Well, Some Found It Dandy!

The "Big Three" in Vancouver Island sports fishing circles today are Ron Ekstrom, Fred Petersen and Bernie Crowe.

Their catches were biggest — and thus the best — in salmon derbies from Esquimalt to Port Alberni.

Crowe's catch was No. 1 on the list. He tossed a 43-pound, 14-ounce tyee on the scales at Port Alberni to win top honors in a three-day tyee derby during the Labor Day weekend.

Ekstrom's lunker was caught in Cole Bay, just at the noon tide change, a Tomick Plug and a half hour's careful toil brought in the bright-as-silver salmon.

Petersen, fishing off Macauley Point, hooked one weighing 27 pounds, two ounces, to sail off with the big prize in the Cerebral Palsy Derby sponsored by the Esquimalt and District Anglers' Association.

Also a winner was Mr. C. A. Henry, who won a completely-outfitted boat as the Esquimalt derby's consolation winner.

Esquimalt director Ken Bendall said Monday the three-day derby expects to realize "about $1,500" for the Cerebral Palsy Association.

Other Esquimalt prize-winners were Ron Grahame (23:10), Jack Parker (18:00), Ken Vertigan (13:06) and Doug Casey (12:09).

Crowe was "the firstest with the mostest" in Port Alberni's big fishfest. He tagged his big one on the first day, Saturday, and it withstood the onslaught until Monday.

Sunday's top tyee was a 37-pounder weighed in by Gordon Nash of Port Alberni while Don Lee of Vancouver, with a 42:12, was Monday's winner.

Monday also marked the windup of Port Alberni's annual "tyee week" competition. The winners, all from the Albernis, were R. E. Walman, Edwin Filipchuk, Jr., Ben Steele, I. Pedersen, Alex Cummings, Norm Blenkinsop, Mrs. Rene Maxmenko and June Pedersen.

The Daffodil He Wants Most Eludes Geoff

By HAL MALONE

They began planting daffodils at Geoff Vantreight's farm today, but they couldn't plant the Daffodil Cup on Geoff's mantel.

The cup he sponsors and wants badly to win eluded Vantreight for the sixth straight time Monday night.

Before 6,000 howling zealots, Norm Ellefson, Edmonton, took the 100-lap Daffodil Derby at Western Speedway. Bob Gregg, Portland, was second, and Al Smith, Victoria, Vantreight's farm foreman and driver, was third.

NORM ELLEFSON . . . gets the job done

The victory was Ellefson's first in the Daff Derby, the Canadian-American Motor Racing Association's blue-ribbon event for modifed sportsmen cars.

It was also the first for a Canadian-American team. He drives for owner-chief mechanic Bob Morgan of Seattle.

By winning Ellefson expanded his credentials as CAMRA's No. 1 darling driver, a position gained by picking up points in CAMRA' sponsored races through the Pacific Northwest.

He also broke a string of four successive victories by the Vantreight-Smith duet. Smith had won within the last two weeks the Dogwood Derby (B.C. championship); the Edmonton Gold Cup, the Strawberry Cup (at Western on Saturday) and the Tony Slogar Memorial at Nanaimo Sunday afternoon.

'Old Smoky'

Smith charged into the lead on the fifth lap, ahead of Ralph Monhay of Vancouver and George Robertson of Lewiston, Idaho.

Monhay, expected to bag a piece if not all of the swag, saw his dreams evaporate early when his motor burped its final burp.

Smith held sway, easily, if boldly, until the 60th lap. When his engine developed "smoke-itis" owner Vantreight covered his eyes. Eleven laps later as Vantreight knew must happen, Smith was passed by Ellefson.

Said Vantreight, laughing, "I think they should change this race to 50 laps."

With 10 rings around the rosy left, Portland's portly Gregg chased Ellefson in earnest. Gregg was cutting it down, inch by inch, but he ran out of track. When Phil Hendry dropped the checkered flag, Ellefson's steed had about two car lengths the best of Gregg.

Rest in Pieces

Smith blew his motor on the 99th lap. Crossing the finish line for the last time, everything on it seemed to go in various directions at once.

The same three — Ellefson, Gregg and Smith were finalists in Saturday's Strawberry Cup. But in different order.

Gregg won it visually—that is, he took the lead from Smith at the 39th lap and never surrendered it. But under CAMRA's unique points system, Smith, starting farther back than Gregg, amassed more passing points (12 more to be precise) and was named the winner. Ellefson was third.

Ellefson, 30, hopes to crack USAC (the United States Auto Club) this winter in races starting at Phoenix. Winning the Daffodil Cup shouldn't hurt his chances. One of the last Daff dandies has already had two spins in the Indianapolis 500 Remember Billy Foster?

B.C. KINGS

Color Carls Happy

The Victoria Senior Men's League title was first . . .

The Vancouver Island trophy followed . . .

Now Victoria Carlings are tacking the B.C. championship onto their list of softball honors won in the season of 1966.

Carlings opened with a 3-2 victory over North Vancouver Saturday. That was their tightest fit. In succeeding games, the Carls clipped Vancouver Waldorf's 2-0, and then downed Victoria McLarens 5-2 Sunday before taking on Rutland.

RYE WAS QUICK

Rye also won the opener for Carlings while Bob Labelle and Rollie Clark looked after the other decisions.

Carlings also got bang-up support from Bob Holness. He belted the ball at a lusty .455 clip to emerge as the top batter in the tournament.

SEVEN GOALS!

You Can Hardly Say Jack Wasn't Working

Saanich squeezed by Esquimalt 4-3 in the tyke (under 8) final.

TRANSPORTS TOTE BALL TITLE HOME

By TONY COSIER

Powerful Transport Workers methodically battered three Greaves pitchers for 15 hits Monday afternoon at Hampton Park while pounding out a 17-4 victory and grabbing the Senior Amateur Baseball League playoff crown.

The win enabled Transports to down regular league champion Greaves Movers 4-0 in the best-of-seven playoff final.

Monday's series-clinching performance was a team hitting display. Every hitter in Transports' lineup contributed at least one hit to the barrage.

Greaves loaded the bases in their half of the first and plated two runs on Dave Graas' run-scoring single and Jerry Lister's bases-loaded walk. Transports' John Yankoski came in to choke Greaves' rally with a quick strikeout, then breezed through the rest of the contest to collect the pitching victory.

HEMMING GETS GATE

The Workers knocked Greaves' starter George Hemming out of the box during a six-run outburst in the top of the third.

Smooth-swinging Terry Whitman tagged three singles and scored three times for the winners. Barry Harvey singled twice to drive home three runs and started a double play in the third.

Slick twin killings erased two Greaves' threats to help Transports' Gord Strongman hurl a 4-3 win Saturday.

AWESOME FIGURE

Worth, the most awesome figure in the Workers' power-packed line-up, smacked a resounding two-run triple in the opening frame, then took over pitching chores to post a 10-8 victory in Transports' third series win Sunday.

Cowan Proves Yankees Not Invincible in Golf

Young Canadian Defeats Beman in U.S. Amateur

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP)—Gary Cowan took the top U.S. Amateur golf prize home to Canada today with the expressed hope it would be a symbol of victory in future international competition for his countrymen.

The 27-year-old Cowan defeated Deane Beman, Bethesda, Md., for the U.S. Amateur title Sunday by a stroke in a playoff at the Merion Golf Club. He shot a five-over-par 75 to 76 for Beman.

It was a close, bitter struggle between the two insurance men and wasn't decided unto Cowan closed it with a six-foot putt on the 18th.

Beman, who threw away a three-stroke lead Saturday on the final two holes of the regulation 72-hole tournament, was more disgusted than disappointed.

"I didn't make a single mistake," said the 28-year-old two-time champion. "I'm amazed I could post a 76 with that few bad shots. I'll be thinking about that for a long time."

ONLY WINNING COUNTS

"It doesn't [illegible]," said Cowan, "how many [illegible] shots, or bad shots you make as long as you win."

Asked how it felt to be the first foreigner to win the U.S. amateur title in 34 years, Cowan added:

"I hope it convinces Canadian golfers the Americans can be beaten.

"Our golfers read so many press clippings about how good the Americans are that they feel we can't beat them. I've proved it to myself and played with them long enough to know this isn't true."

ANOTHER CHANCE

Beman and the other Americans will have a chance next month to meet Cowan's indirect challenge. The international golf championship for the Eisenhower Cup is scheduled for Mexico City in October.

It would seem logical to assume that Beman will be a member of the U.S. team.

He played in 1962 at Tokyo and it was his 66 against Cowan's 68 that turned the matches in America's favor. The two probably will neet in the rubber match south of the border.

Sunday's playoff between Cowan and Beman was decided when Beman carded four straight over pars on 14 through 17.

ONLY A MILE . . .

On the final hole, a 457-yarder, Beman finished with a par four. Cowan, however, ran down a putt of six feet for a par that ended a match in which there was only one birdie — that by Cowan.

Tension was high as Cowan lined up the important putt on the final hole.

"How long was it?" he was asked.

'Legs' Devlin Scores

By TOM REEDY

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Bruce Devlin pulled his slacks up to his knees, showed a few scars and said:

"It looks as though it worked."

He had a right to think it had worked.

He had just pocketed a cheque for $37,500 as winner of the annual Carling world golf championship, the richest in the world in total prize money even though the American circuit this year called it "unofficial."

"My legs are much better now, but I'm really tired from the circuit," Devlin said. "I was wearing slacks with a waist measurement of 32 and then I found I had to get size 30. I'm a stringbean anyway and now I really have to rest. I'm going to play in several more tournaments and then have a nice, long rest."

What Devlin was talking about is what is hovering over the entire American circuit — the weariness of men like Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player from not only playing golf but appearing on television, opening golf shops and making presentation speeches.

The failure of some of the top professionals to appear in the $200,000 tournament here didn't go over well with everybody in British golf circles.

The American Professional Golf Association called the championship "unofficial," which meant that none of the winnings would go into the calculations from which professionals acquire their fringe earnings in endorsements and sponsors.

Bill Casper, the U.S. Open champion, for instance, said he came because he was showing loyalty to old friends.

One American gold expert commented:

"One of these days the pros are going to rise up and say 'that's enough. We are going to play where we choose and pay back old debts to nice people, and the circuit is going to have to go along with that'."

What Does He Do In Off Hours?

McAvoy slamed a three-run homer and a single to help Transport Workers win the Senior Amateur Baseball League playoffs with a 17-4 win over Greaves during the afternoon.

STAMPS TRIM ARGOS

Larks Ambushed In Regina Romp

Montreal Alouettes, fresh from a 4-2 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers, moved into Regina and were ambushed 44-0 by Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Toronto Argonauts winless in the East, met the injury-riddled Calgary Stampeders and are still winless. The Stamps won 13-8 but lost another first-string player in the process.

Tight end Herm Harrison is out for the season with torn knee ligaments. He is the fifth first-stringer the Stamps have lost this year. Already on the sidelines are Lovell Coleman, Ted Woods and Bill Gaskins with torn achilles tendons, and Jim Furlong with a knee injury.

The loss left Argos deep in the Eastern Football Conference basement, winless in five outings. The Alouettes have a 3-3 record while Hamilton and Ottawa share the lead with a 4-1 records.

The win was the second in five starts for Calgary and gave the Stamps fourth place in the Western Football Conference.

TAKE WFC LEAD

Saskatchewan took the conference lead by lambasting Montreal. The Roughriders now have a 5-2 record, good for a one-game lead over Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos.

George Reed and Hugh Campbell each scored three touchdowns in the massacre. Jack Abendschan kicked a field goal and five converts.

Montreal coach Darryl Mudra said after the game the Roughies were "ready for us and if they keep playing like that, there is nothing to stop them going to the Grey Cup. (Ron) Lancaster and Campbell were simply marvelous."

Lancaster went 14 for 15 in the passing department.

The Saskatchewan defence limited Montreal to 100 yards along the ground.

IRWIN SCORES

Toronto's touchdown was collected by Al Irwin on a 74-yard pass-and-run play. John Vilunas converted and scored a single.

Calgary had only 64 yards rushing, 62 of them by Art Baker, the big fullback the Stamps acquired last week from Hamilton Tiger - Cats. He lugged the ball 14 times.

Baker said he enjoyed the first game with the Stamps.

"But it was too hot for anybody out there," he said. "I got so tired I was breathing from memory."

The game was played in temperatures of about 80 degrees.

Lehew summed up the Calgary victory: "It wasn't pretty, and it wasn't easy, but we'll take any win we can get."

Argos almost won the game on two occasions. They staged a late rally but lost the ball on downs with just four seconds remaining.

Earlier in the fourth quarter, a touchdown was disallowed. Wally Gabler hit Irwin in the open and the speedy end cruised across from the Calgary 51, but a teammate was caught holding.

Against Hamilton, Ottawa Ugh!

HAMILTON (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders haven't won a football game here since 1963 and Monday's loss to Hamilton Tiger-Cats cost them sole possession of first place in the Eastern Football Conference standings.

A record Hamilton crowd of 29,003 saw the Tiger-Cats wipe out an Ottawa lead on Bobby Kuntz's fourth-quarter touchdown for a 16-12 victory. That pushed Hamilton's record to four victories against one defeat, the same as the Riders, and set the stage for a showdown battle between the two clubs Saturday afternoon in Ottawa.

The Tiger-Cats have fallen into the habit of relying on their defensive squad the last couple of seasons. They followed the same script Monday but also got a boost from Joe Zuger, who came out of a three-week layoff to quarterback the team through most of the game and contribute eight points on a touchdown and two singles.

Zuger's touchdown came in the second quarter on a keeper play from the Ottawa four. His two singles measured 45 yards from the line of scrimmage, but one of them, the first point of the game, was a dandy. It was against the wind, gusting to about 20 miles an hour and travelled 65 yards before landing in the Ottawa end zone. That turned out to be the only point scored by either team against the wind.

Don Sutherin kicked a pair of singles in the second quarter, both on off-target attempts for field goals. One was from the Ottawa 47 and the other from the Ottawa 33. He also was wide of the mark on a convert after Zuger's touchdown and saw his convert on Kuntz's touchdown thwarted by a bad snap.

Ottawa got a touchdown from Whit Tucker, who gathered in a 12-yard pass from Russ Jackson after getting loose in the end zone. Moe Racine converted it and kicked a 47-yard field goal in the first quarter.

The Rough Riders' remaining two points came on a third-quarter safety touch when tackle Bob Brown trapped Zuger in his own end zone.

The crowd, which broke a Hamilton record of 28,007 set in 1963, saw the Tiger-Cats defence hold Ottawa to only 147 yards, 62 of them rushing, and eight first downs. Hamilton rolled up 257 yards, 153 on the ground, and 16 first downs.

JOE ZUGER . . . 65-yard kick

The Riders, behind Jackson's passing, recovered from a dismal first half in which they managed only 57 yards and three first downs. In the third quarter they came up with their only sustained drive of the day which led to Tucker's touchdown, but by the time the teams changed ends for the fourth quarter Ottawa's offence was spent.

The Rough Riders had got nowhere against the Hamilton defence until the final play of the first quarter when Racine's field goal wiped out the 1-0 lead that Zuger's booming single had given the Tiger-Cats.

Hamilton went to work with the wind in its favor in the second quarter by counting three singles and Zuger's touchdown for a 10-3 halftime lead. Leroy Moore, a defensive end picked up by the Ticats from Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, set up the touchdown by recovering a fumble by Ron Stewart on the Ottawa 28.

Ottawa rode the wind to a 12-10 lead in the third quarter on Tucker's converted touchdown and the safety touch which Jackson and Stewart set up with a 33-yard pass. But that was as far as the Riders got.

Kuntz dove over from the one for the winning touchdown, with less than six minutes remaining in the game, after Zuger pitched 14 yards to Tommy Grant to put Hamilton on the Ottawa five.

Kuntz, with 11 carries for 47 yards, Willie Bethea with 10 for 44 and Dick Cohee with 13 for 53, did most of the Hamilton rushing. Jim Dillard carried 12 times for 49 yards for the Riders.

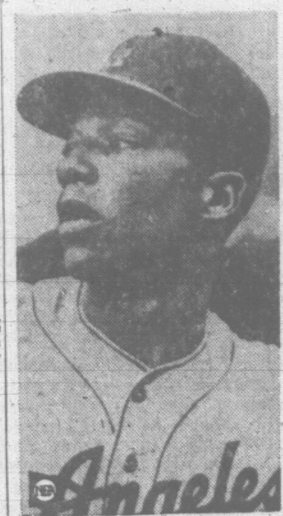
Happy Birthday Song Turns Into the Blues



WILLIE DAVIS

(Associated Press)

Pittsburgh's theme song started out as "Happy Birthday to You," but the Pirates ended up singing the blues.

Bill Mazeroski celebrated his 30th birthday Monday with a grand slam homer in the third inning of Pittsburgh's 13-5 blitz of Atlanta Braves in the first game of a doubleheader. Mazeroski came back with a bases-empty shot in the sixth inning and he also drove in a run in the first with an infield out.

But in the nightcap, Braves' pitcher Tony Cloninger breezed into the ninth inning with a six-run margin, having allowed the Pirates just three hits. The Pirates scored four runs in the final frame, but Cloninger held on and the Braves won 7-5.

With the split, Pittsburgh's National League lead dwindled to a game and a half over second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat San Francisco Giants 4-1. The Giants fell 2½ games off the pace in third place.

Mazeroski's grand slam was his second this season and the third of his career. He has 15 homers this season.

REDS TAKE TWO

Cincinnati Reds swept a doubleheader from New York Mets 8-2 and 8-5, the second game in 10 innings. Philadelphia lost 5-4 and then won 7-2 over Chicago Cubs, and St. Louis Cardinals defeated Houston Astros 4-1 but lost the nightcap 6-0.

Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 8-5 Sunday, Atlanta blanked Houston 2-0, Philadelphia shut-out New York 5-0, San Francisco defeated St. Louis 9-2 and Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 8-6.

The Dodgers snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning with four bases on balls and wrapped it up with a run-scoring single by Willie Davis in the ninth, followed by Tommy Davis' run-scoring double.

Willie Davis and Hal Lanier of the Giants matched solo homers earlier in the game. Billy Hoeft issued three of the ninth-inning walks, one intentionally, but Frank Linzy, who walked leadoff hitter Jim Gilliam, took the defeat.

CROWD SETS RECORD

A crowd of 54,769 turned out to see the traditional rivals, the largest crowd ever to see a daytime game in Dodger Stadium.

Gordy Coleman's pinch-hit single in the 10th inning of the second game broke the tie and started a four-run Cincinnati rally that beat the Mets. Leo Cardenas and Tommy Helms homered for the Reds in the opener. Cardenas and Vada Pinson homered in the nightcap as did Cleon Jones for the Mets.

Rich Allen's 37th homer and a four-run ninth inning gave Philadelphia all the runs it needed in the finale after Glenn Beckert's two-run, two-out single gave the Cubs the opener.

In the American League Monday, Baltimore swept a pair from New York, 5-4 and 7-4, to run their league lead back to 10½ games. Elsewhere Boston took Cleveland 5-1 after dropping the opener 3-1; Chicago downed Minnesota 7-4, and Kansas City tripped California 4-1.

On Sunday it was Baltimore over Chicago 8-5, Minnesota over New York 9-2, Washington over California 5-3, Detroit over Cleveland 4-3 and Boston over Kansas City 3-0 in the opener, KC over Boston 7-2 in the nightcap.

Pro Scoring Proves a Hit With Net Set

The over-all effect proved so satisfying, including the introduction of professional tennis scoring, that tournament director Gordon Hartley predicted Monday the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee's tennis tournament may become an annual affair.

The one-afternoon tournament was checked off Monday at Beacon Hill, attracting boys and girls from 11 to 18 years of age—all graduates of the Victoria public parks tennis program.

Pro scoring (in which the first player to win nine games is declared the winner) was introduced Monday, rather than the customary "best-of-three set" system.

Heather Graham defeated Val Scott 9-0; Susan Rogers def. Peggy Hartness 9-9; Howie Lee def. Rusty Hartley 9-8; Tod Davies def. John Craverio 9-3; Virginia Rogers def. Corinne Campbell 9-8; Joe Lachmund def. Alan Payne 9-1; Veronica Marsden def. Marlene Kreller 9-0; Faith Graham def. Sandra Moss 9-3; Don Bridgeman def. Derek Allan 9-6.

Clay Looking Into Future . . .

FRANKFURT (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay said Saturday night he would defend his title two more times this year after expressing confidence that he would beat Karl Mildenberger next Saturday night.

In a German television interview, Clay said he expected to beat Mildenberger, the European champion, but looked for a hard fight.

Chapman Checks Coquitlam Squad

SKIP CHAPMAN
. . . he wow'ed 'em

COQUITLAM — Skip Chapman discarded the mantle of mediocrity Monday, and Vancouver grabbed a one-game lead in the best-of-seven series for the B.C. senior lacrosse championship.

With Chapman, the Inter-City League's all-star goalie two years, ago, in the starring role, Vancouver clubbed Coquitlam Adanacs 8-2 to take a 3-2 series lead.

Only Dick Crompton and Alec Carey managed to beat Chapman, who turned away 27 other shots. Defencemen Gary Stevens and Pete Black led Vancouver's smooth attack, each scoring two goals.

The match was spiced by a fourth-quarter fight between Coquitlam's Marty Jordan and Val Roberton of Vancouver.

VIRTUE CUP

Pause Refreshes Vancouver Side

That lunch-time nourishment certainly seemed to hit the spot for Vancouver's cricket selects Monday in their annual inter-city Virtue Cup squabble with Victoria.

Vancouver broke for lunch Monday after claiming 95 runs for the loss of seven wickets. They came out breathing fire, finally declaring at 174 for nine.

Victoria countered with a meagre 57 runs, all out, and the Virtue Cup remains in Vancouver for yet another season.

Tim Brierly, five for 39, and Jim Longbridge, two for 38, provided the only bright spots for Victoria. Vancouver's standout was Ben Sebarin, who claimed five wickets for 12 runs.

Also on the weekend, Incogs and Oak Bay chalked up victories while Castaways held tough Cowichan to a draw in Victoria Association play.

TIME RAN OUT

Castaways had to settle for the draw after they had retired Cowichan for 160 runs and replied with 143 for six by the close of play on Saturday.

The Brierly boys—John and Tom — led Cowichan's scoring with 49 and 43 runs, respectively.

Sunday, Incogs defeated Alcos by three wickets. Alcos were all out for 85, Incogs scored 86 for seven, with Carey Creek accounted for 34.

| | GP | W | L | D | T | Pct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cowichan | 13 | 7 | 1 | 5 | 0 | .692 |
| Castaways | 12 | 6 | 3 | 3 | 0 | .600 |
| Oak Bay | 15 | 6 | 5 | 3 | 1 | .520 |
| Alcos | 12 | 5 | 6 | 1 | 0 | .450 |
| Albion | 13 | 2 | 6 | 5 | 0 | .333 |
| Incogs | 13 | 3 | 8 | 1 | 1 | .308 |

INTO THEIR GAME SOME RAIN FELL

SYDNEY (CP) — When Membertou and Eskasoni go into extra innings, there's no kidding around.

The teams began a play-off game Tuesday for the Cape Breton Indian softball title, but rain intervened and the game was completed Sunday.

Scarfiotti Grand Prix Ace in Italy

Although he retired his Repco-Brabham on the seventh lap of the 244-mile race, Australian Jack Brabham clinched the 1966 world driving championship. He had gone into the race with 39 points for four straight victories.

Only two races remain in the nine races counting to the championship — the U.S. Grand Prix at Watkins Glen, N.Y., and the Mexican Grand Prix, both in October.

Juvenile Openers To Hornets, Bays

The two city clubs knocked off up-Island opposition as the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League season opened on two fronts Sunday.

Mustangs tripped Nanaimo 21-7 after erupting for 14 points in the first quarter at Macdonald Park while at Duncan, the Hornets stung an impressive Cowichan Timbermen's team 15-1.

RAIDERS DEFAULT

A scheduled third game between Oak Bay Farmer Construction and Campbell River was defaulted when the Raiders failed to field a team. Campbell River's future in the Island league is expected to be clarified at a league meeting in Nanaimo on Wednesday.

Bob Lougheed and quarterback Dave Hutchins accounted for all Mustang points. Hutchins counted two touchdowns while Lougheed's total included a major, two singles and a convert.

At Duncan, Hornets stung Cowichan on the first play of the game, Doug McLeod scoring on a 35-yard pass play. Wayne Strandlund also scored a major for Victoria. Both were converted by Al Pearce and McLeod completed Victoria scoring with a single.

Roma Takes Lead

Victorian Stars In 2-0 Triumph; Gets Invitation

(Times News Services)

WINNIPEG — Favored British Columbia, with youth and strength to spare, scored an impressive 2-0 victory over Quebec to capture the 1966 Canadian soccer title Saturday.

With the average age at 20, the B.C. squad ended the week-long, double round-robin series with a record of three wins and two draws and on top of Group A. Quebec finished first in Group B.

In the playoff match, Ontario took third place with a 3-1 decision over fourth-place Saskatchewan.

TEN FROM B.C.

Following the tournament, Canadian Soccer Football Association officials announced the selection of 32 players, 10 from B.C., to try out for Canada's national team to be entered at the 1967 Pan-American Games here, as well as the 1968 Olympic Games and 1970 World Cup, both to be held in Mexico City.

Playing without the services of Neil Ellett, at 22 the oldest member of the B.C. team, and captain Russ Hillman, the West Coast squad played a steady game throughout the contest

It went ahead 1-0 in the 31st minute when Ezio Bennato scored.

IT'S TEAMWORK

He picked up the ball on the B.C. side of the field. After dribbling around two Quebec defenders on the left, he lobbed a pass to right winger Harold Hansen, who, in turn, tapped a short pass to Colin Atkinson. The latter's shot bounced off a Quebec defender and the alert MacKay rifled the rebound home.

In inviting the 10 B.C. players to national tryouts, the selectors practically picked the B.C. team en masse.

REDUCE TO 17

The players will attend a training camp later this year prior to going on a tuor of exhibition matches. Next year, the group will be reduced to 17 players who will represent Canada at the 1967 Pan-American Games.

The other players invited are:

This Is Where I Stand

A firm decision has to be made now. The choice is clear. It is between dollars from resource development on a short-term basis, and preservation of our recreational areas for public use and enjoyment in the many years ahead.

Social Credit has a "sell now and sacrifice the future" philosophy.

Alienation of Strathcona and other park lands, even on a limited basis, opens the door to abuse and encourages an insidious erosion of conservation policy.

The mining interests say that the dumping of chemical by-products in Buttle Lake will not cause pollution, but we have too much evidence about us of increasing pollution of lakes and air, to show us what happens when we accept such vague assurances.

We cannot afford to take the chance. We must be sure. I believe in a strong government stand against further pollution of our air and water.

Canadian Hits Paydirt 'Cause Buffle Hustles

(Times News Services)

Buffle, a flying chestnut colt from Robert Kleberg's King Ranch, took the measure of nine rivals in the world's richest race for three-year-olds Saturday as he won the $277,250 New Hampshire Sweepstakes at Rockingham Park in Salem.

Swinging into the lead with a little more than three-sixteenths of a mile remaining of the 1¼-mile race, the son of Zenith hit the finish line three lengths in front of Reginald Webster's Amberoid.

J. M. Schiff's lightly-regarded Deckhand was another three-quarters of a length back in third place, with fourth going to the favorite, Jolly Jet.

TRACK RECORD

Buffle, whose chief previous victory this year was in the Suburban Handicap, hung up a track record as he stepped the distance in 2:02. 4-5.

For his fourth victory in 14 starts this year, Buffle earned $180,212.50 to boost his 1966 earnings to $348,261.50.

Four holders of tickets on Buffle won $50,000 each in the New Hampshire Sweepstakes. One of them was a Canadian woman, Mrs. Martha Bolder of Montreal. The same number of ticketholders on Amberoid received $25,000 each, and four who drew Deckhand in the sweeps received $12,250.

In Chicago, Mira Femme, owned by Verne H. Winchell of El Monte, Calif., won the $226,525 Arlington-Washington Lassie Stakes by three-quarters of a length over Teacher's Art. An 8-to-1 shot, Woozem, was third.

The 38th running was the richest race for two-year-old fillies in the world and was worth $96,525 to the winner.

C. V. Whitney's Fish House, the slight favorite, was fourth.

TAKES DEL MAR

The bay filly, ridden by Rudy Campas, covered the six furlongs in 1:10 and returned $3.80, $3 and $2.60.

In Atlantic City, N.J., Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Ginger Fizz scored a nose victory in the $35,150 Kelly-Olympic Handicap.

At Vancouver, Fairmeade Farm's Costa Rica returned to his early-season form Saturday as he won the $10,000-added S. W. Randall Plate, one of the premier events of the Exhibition Park racing season.

Ridden by Jimmy Broomfield, Costa Rica came off the pace to win by two lengths over the three-year-old Major Presto. Favored Hanko was third.

Shelved by Pain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Sutton, the 21-year-old rookie who has won 12 games for Los Angeles Dodgers this year, suffered an injury that forced him from the mound in the third inning of Monday's game against San Francisco.

Team physician Dr. Robert Kerland said Sutton suffered a pulled muscle in his right forearm. The arm was packed in ice and Sutton then was given a cortisone injection.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions—even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Gemini 11 Hunts Rendezvous Mark

Conrad, Cooper Practising For Pictures, Space Walk

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini II astronauts today began final preparation for their launching Friday on a three-day space flight.

Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. and Lt.-Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr. will concentrate in the next few days on reviewing their flight plan and practising key phases of the demanding mission in a spacecraft simulator.

The next-to-the-last Gemini shot will attempt four major new feats: A record first - orbit rendezvous and linkup with an Agena satellite; a dash to a record altitude of 863 miles; flying formation while tied to the Agena by a 100-foot cord, and an automatic re-entry through the atmosphere.

Gordon plans two space excursions during the journey—a 107 - minute space walk Saturday and a 140-minute "space stand" Sunday in which he'll poke the upper part of his body through a hatch to photograph the stars.

The walk includes work with a space power tool, a step forward developing devices for future astronauts to repair satellites and assemble space stations. He'll use a nitrogen-powered hand gun for manoeuvring on a 30-foot lifeline.

STARTS EARLY

The doubleheader launching is to start at 8:48 a.m. EDT Friday when an Atlas rocket is to drill the Agena into orbit. A Titan II is to start Gemini 11 in pursuit at 10:25 a.m.

Because of the precision timing required for the chase, a delay of two seconds in the countdown would force a two-day postponement of the Titan II liftoff.

Gemini 9 holds the rendezvous record, catching its Agena in four hours, during the third orbit.

Gemini 11 plans to overtake the Agena after 80 minutes, 185 miles above Hawaii, and dock with it 10 minutes later. The quick manoeuvre would simulate an emergency takeoff from the moon by two Apollo astronauts.

Sunday, the astronauts are to fire the Agena's powerful engine to drive them to the 863-mile altitude, where they'll photograph weather and terrain features.

Later that day, they are to disconnect from the agena and pull taut a 100-foot line between them. They want to see if this is an effective fuel - saving method of flying formation with a satellite.

Firing of the retrorockets is scheduled Monday morning. Previous U.S. space flights have used an unguided ballistic reentry or manual control for return to earth. Gemini 11 will attempt to have its computer and inertial guidance system do the work.

AMERICANS LEAVE

Crash Summons Fails

TORONTO (CP) — Police Monday tried unsuccessfully to serve a summons on the leader of a team of American airmen investigating the crash Friday of a United States Navy stunt plane.

The summons was issued by Dr. Morton Shulman, Toronto's chief coroner, requiring Cmdr. Harry Walker of Grosse Ile, Mich., to appear at an inquest into the death of Lt.-Cmdr. Richard Oliver, 31, of Fort Mills, S.C.

The Americans arrived in Toronto Saturday to investigate the fighter's crash, but Dr. Shulman ordered them away from the plane Sunday when they refused to give him one of two reports they had prepared.

The USN officers checked out of a suburban hotel Monday morning after they were ordered by Washington to return to the U.S. because they couldn't complete the investigation.

Police arrived at the hotel later but were unsuccessful in locating the seven-man team.

AMERICAN INDIAN ABOVE IMMIGRATION LAW

Fugitives Easier to Catch Than to Deport

HAMMOND, Ind. (UPI) — Four Canadian figitives, who have confused departation efforts, were to be arraigned today on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen airplane.

Canadian authorities, meanwhile, tried to figure out how to recover the four fugitives. Unexpected legal entanglements developed when it was learned one of them is an American Inidan, apparently not covered by U.S. immigration laws.

The four, to go before U.S. commissioner William Glendening, were among 10 convicts who escaped from Headingly Provincial Prison in Winnipeg last Thursday. They flew a stolen plane to Indiana and were captured after a gun battle over rooftops of downtown buildings in Gary, Ind., Saturday night. One was wounded.

They escaped immediate deportation when Gary detectives identified John W. Dale, 22, who also uses the name Joseph La Forte, as an American Indian.

U.S. Attorney Richard James of Hammond said U.S. immigration laws do not cover Indians, even when born in Canada, because they are native North Americans.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said if deportation efforts are successful, they will drop all U.S. charges against the four to get them quickly back to Canada.

The foursome also includes Barry Duke, 21; Kenneth Leishman, 34, who piloted the stolen craft, and George Le Clerc, 26, under treatment for police bullet wounds.

Five Killed in Quake

BOGOTA (Reuters) — Five persons were killed and 15 injured today during an earthquake here which caused several buildings to fall and cut off electricity and telephone communications in many parts of this Colombian capital.

3 Gold Bars Stolen

PICKLE CROW, Ont. (CP)—Three gold bars weighing more than 200 pounds were stolen Friday night from the offices of the Pickle Crow gold mine at this settlement 250 miles north of Fort William. Unofficial estimates place the value of the gold at about $94,000.

FISHERMAN'S HOOK, LINE SAVES SINKER

MONROE, Mich. (AP)—A fisherman, going to the aid of a drowning man Sunday, hooked the swimmer's big toe with his fishing tackle and reeled him to safety. A second swimmer drowned.

Hazen B. Harrison, 21, of nearby Temperance, was reeled to safety from a lagoon off Lake Erie three miles north of Monroe, sheriff's deputies said.

Fisherman Edward May, 44, Detroit, was fishing offshore when he heard Harrison and Harrison's brother, William, 29, Lambertville, Mich., call for help.

May waded into the lagoon, called for his tackle, and tossed a line to the brothers. The hook lodged in Hazen Harrison's big toe and May pulled him to safety.

CARTOON HERO

Lone Ranger to Ride In Bugs Bunny Land

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hi-yo, Silver, the Lone Ranger rides again — and again.

There seems to be no end to the western travels of the masked rider, who began his battle against frontier baddies a third of a century ago on radio. He eased into the television saddle 18 years ago and can still be seen on channels throughout the world, although the series stopped filming seven years ago.

Now the Lone Ranger (a misnomer since he is usually accompaned by his redskin yesman) is beginning a new phase. Next Saturday morning he will start appearing in cartoon form on the CBS network.

Jack Wrather, the Texas oilman who owns the Lone Ranger, previewed a couple of the cartoons in the basement of his Beverly Hills building, and they proved splashy in color and vigorous in action. The animation was especially good.

"We use twice as many drawings as other television cartoons," he explained. "We feel the audience deserves to have more realistic action instead of the semi-animated films which are really cheaters."

"But I think it will be worth it," he said. "After all, the Lone Ranger is an important, pre-sold property that has made millions over the years. I honestly believe that the cartoons will open up brand new areas for the show and we're prepared to go in every direction."

Russian TV to Get Shows About Canada

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — Soviet cinema and TV audiences will have the opportunity to see a variety of Canadian films under an agreement concluded Monday by the National Film Board of Canada and the U.S.S.R. state committee for cinematography.

The agreement was described by Roland Ladouceur, the board's assistant government film commissioner, as "a breakthrough" in the field of cultural exchanges between Russia and Canada.

Ladouceur and Walford Hewitson, co-ordinating producer of the film board, negotiated the agreement during a two-week visit which they paid to the Soviet Union.

"The agreement offers us opportunities to exhibit films in Soviet theatres, to television and cultural groups," Ladouceur said. In addition, it provides for Canadian-directed film on various aspects of Soviet life, for showing in Canada. The Russians will be permitted to produce similar films on Canadian life.

BUYS THREE

The Russians purchased three light entertainment shorts for cinema at what Ladouceur called "a good price" and indicated that they may buy more. Those purchased feature an octopus hunt in British Columbia, a quick tour of Canada with Buster Keaton and Quebec's Tour du St. Laurent bicycle race.

The Russians have undertaken to organize this winter in Moscow a "prestige evening" of Canadian films to which high government officials will be invited. The evening will feature the movie Take it from the Top, on the theme of Canada's centennial.

Two Canadian travel films have been accepted for showing on a Soviet television program that reputedly has an audience of 70,000,000.

MILLION MAGIC FIGURE AS PNE COMES TO END

VANCOUVER (CP)—Good weather helped bring more than 1,000,000 persons and $1,000,000 in gate revenue to this year's Pacific National Exhibition which ended here Monday.

Though final figures haven't yet been tallied, directors of the exhibition say receipts could be up $45,000 this year. They say boosting admittance fees to $1 from 50 cents this year was responsible.

"I think we can say this has been the best fair ever," said PNE president, Capt. Harry Terry. "The $1 admission has worked out just fine."

Mrs. Fulton Fisher, a New Zealand housewife now living in suburban Burnaby, won the $35,000 prize home Monday night as the 14-day fair came to a close.

Landymore Cancels Appearance at Uvic

Retired Rear-Admiral William Landymore has cancelled a speaking engagement Oct. 7 at the University of Victoria.

He has notified the student political science forum that he will have to be in Ottawa that day to give evidence before the House of Commons defence committee.

Admiral Landymore was scheduled to give a talk at the university on the dispute over armed services unification which led to his early resignation from the navy.

Gordon Pollard, chairman of the political science forum, has announced that it will present L. E. S. de Villiers, attache at the South African embassy, Nov. 10. He will give a defence of his government's policy of apartheid.

Melvin Belli, the flamboyant San Francisco lawyer who defended Jack Ruby, will talk about the assassination of President Kennedy when he appears at the university Jan. 24.

Douglas Harkness, former Conservative minister of national defence, will speak in the forum Jan. 10.

Shawnigan Inn

Shawnigan Lake, B.C.
Telephone 743-2312
Canada

September, 1966

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish to announce that we have purchased the Shawnigan Beach Hotel from Mr. and Mrs. Denis Mason Hurley, and it will be the endeavour of new management to maintain the present atmosphere, reputation and tradition, we do plan on extensive renovation and improvements.

The Shawnigan Beach Hotel, to be known in the future as Shawnigan Inn, will remain open all year round and will continue to operate as a family resort hotel.

Construction has already begun, with the installation of two new tennis courts (floodlit for night use), Sauna baths and a most unique, enclosed, heated swimming pool. In addition, there will be new wharves and docking facilities, and our own mashie golf course will be extended and improved. Winterization of the hotel is included in our present plans.

Over and above the standard American plan, late night dining will be instituted in the dining lounge. We urge you to watch for further announcements. Facilities will also be available for small conventions and receptions.

To ensure yourself of a convenient, comfortable and enjoyable holiday, may we suggest an early reservation by writing, or phoning 743-2312.

We look forward, with great anticipation, to meeting all who have vacationed here in the past and to welcoming new guests.

MR. AND. MRS. K. G. WATT

After Summer of Escape, Back Behind Books

The holidays are over and escaped youth — or most of them — were back in school this morning.

The exceptions are students at Royal Oak and Mount Newton junior secondary schools who have a week's reprieve, and those at Claremont senior secondary school, who will be on holidays until Sept. 19.

The delay in opening these schools has been caused by the carpenters' strike-lockout which held up work on additions and renovations.

But the students will pay for their longer holiday when they do get back to school.

Officials are preparing an accelerated program to make up for lost time.

In Greater Victoria, about 30,000 students went this morning more or less willingly — to register for the new term.

But most of them were free again by noon. They will buckle down to classwork at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

This morning was taken up with registering, locating their new classroom, becoming acquainted with their teacher, and finding out what they require in supplies and equipment.

Joseph Chell, school superintendent, said there will be about 30,000 students in the school system, an increase of 1,200 over last year.

Exact enrolment will not be known for a few days until tabulations are completed.

Mr. Chell said he hopes there will be no need for any school to go on shifts but this will not be known until actual registrations are completed.

He said it does not appear from preliminary reports that shifts will be required.

A bigger worry for Mr. Chell is that vocational wings have not yet been completed at any of the senior secondary schools.

"We'll just have to make the best of it. The situation is the same all over the province."

Three new Victoria schools echoed the pitter-patter of small feet today for the first time. They are Hillcrest, in Gordon Head, Northridge, to supplement Glanford, and Fairburn, to supplement Shelbourne. All are elementary.

The Victor Street school for the retarded also opened.

A spokesman for Sooke school district said it is unlikely that any school there will go on shifts.

But Dunsmuir junior secondary school is not ready for use as planned and students who were to attend it are being accommodated temporarily in Colwood elementary school and in the old army huts attached to Belmont senior secondary school.

An official said he has "no idea" when Dunsmuir will be ready for use. Its opening has been delayed by the labor dispute involving the carpenters.

Enrolment in Sooke school is expected to be between 3,700 and 3,800. No figures are available for rural Saanich schools. A Saanich school official said shifts will not be required.

Young Pirates Captured After Strait Crossing

Pair Steal Boat, Plunder Marina

Two youthful pirates—one nine and the other 16—were arrested by Vancouver police after sailing across the Strait of Georgia at the weekend.

The expedition started Friday when the 16-year-old stole a boat with an outboard motor at Mill Bay. He sailed down to Victoria, spent the night in the Inner Harbor, and next day teamed up with the nine-year old city youngster.

PLUNDERING

Together they went by boat to Oak Bay Marina on a plundering expedition. They broke into the Undersea Gardens through a skylight and stole 500 children's passes, a $12 camera and a $25 briefcase.

They filled up their motor with gas stolen from boats moored at the marina, went to Swartz Bay and then followed the ferries to Vancouver.

They were picked up on arrival and returned to Oak Bay police. The youths appeared in juvenile court this morning and were remanded for further investigation.

Thieves tore the hatch cover off the boat of Lou Schleppe, 683 Herald St., to get at the goods. The craft was moored to a float at the west end of the Johnson Street bridge. The boat's engine was also damaged.

Smash and grab robbers made off with two electric guitars from Art Hall's Guitar Studio, 1012 Cook St., near midnight Sunday.

Police said instruments worth $500 and $255 were taken after the store's front window was shattered. A plywood sheet covering the broken window was pushed in early today but nothing apparently was taken.

Foul Play Suspected In Death of Woman

SUMMER has rounded the corner into autumn and school days, but you wouldn't have guessed it Monday on the Legislative Buildings lawn when piercing blue skies and a sound of music brought out parasols, sun bonnets, straw hats and all the paraphenalia of summer. In deck chairs and on shaded steps, Victorians gathered to hear joint concert — first in three years — of Victoria Symphony and Naden Band under direction of Otto N. Werner Mueller and Lieut. P. Medcalf.

Electric Cord Wrapped Around Neck

There were strong indications today an elderly Saanich woman found dead Saturday afternoon met with foul play.

Detective Sgt. Robins Stewart said today police have "pretty well ruled out suicide."

But he refused to say yet whether it was a murder case after noting the matter was still under intense investigation.

ASPHYXIATED

An autopsy performed this morning revealed Mrs. Beggs had died of asphyxiation.

Detective Stewart said the woman, who lived alone, was found lying on the bedroom floor. Nothing appeared to be missing from the house.

No more could be said about the case until further investigation, he said.

HERE 46 YEARS

Born in Templepatrick, County Antrim, North Ireland, Mrs. Beggs had been a resident of Victoria for the past 46 years.

She is survived by a son and daughter-in-law, Robert and Rose Beggs, 118 Joseph Street, and a niece and nephew in Vancouver.

Funeral arrangements by Sands Mortuary Ltd. will be announced later.

15 ACCIDENT VICTIMS ON WEEKEND

Child's Condition Fair After Swallowing Pills

At least 15 persons were taken to hospital over the Labor Day weekend after traffic, swimming, household and business mishaps.

Christina Olivier, 2½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olivier, 991 Violet, is reported in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital after accidentally swallowing sleeping tablets Monday.

Saanich police said the child apparently arose early in the morning and took the pills from her mother's purse. Her parents were awakened when they heard Christina collapse at their bedroom door.

POLICE PRAISED

Mrs. Olivier said today Christina managed to slip out of a harness confining her to bed. The mother praised the Saanich firemen who rushed the girl to hospital by ambulance, applying mouth-to-mouth respiration on the way.

"If it hadn't been for them she would have been gone," the mother said.

David Lawrence, 12, of 3113 Tillicum, is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital following a car-bicycle collision at Burnside and Tillicum Sunday afternoon.

Police said the boy was pushing his bicycle when he was in collision with a panel delivery truck driven by Louise Hilton of Vancouver. He suffered head injuries.

Investigating officers said she was hit in the 1800 block Grandview by a motorcycle driven by Jose Gomez, 2835 Nanaimo St., Monday afternoon.

WOMEN HURT

A car-bus collision at Government and Bay Sunday morning sent two women to hospital.

Marie Van Hullebush of Alberni is in good condition after suffering head cuts. Donna Van Hullebush was treated for cuts to her knees.

Both were passengers in the car driven by Raymond Van Hullebush southbound on Government when it was in collision with the bus, headed west on Bay and driven by Ernest Farndon, 3009 Cedar Hill Rd.

THREE HURT

A car which went out of control early Sunday morning and overturned on the front lawn of 3923 Cadboro Bay Rd. injured three people.

Edward Erdman, 18, of 1156 May, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital later in the day with back injuries. Jim Erdman, 19, of the same address was treated for a cut hand and Barry Bruce, 18, of 1126 Oxford, suffered a sprained leg.

They were all passengers in the car, driven by John Thomson, 19, of Bowser, B.C.

A swimming mishap closely followed by an auto accident at Beaver Lake Park Saturday night put one girl in hospital and resulted in another girl and a boy being treated for injuries

CUT EAR

Glen Griep, 19, of HMCS Yukon, told police he was driving Elizabeth Anderson, 17, of 4490 Majestic to hospital after she had fallen while swimming and cut her ear.

Griep suffered abrasions when his car rammed a rock near the filter beds but another passenger, Roberta Ann Norbury, 17, of 3180 Aldridge, suffered head injuries.

She was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital and is in good condition.

A seven-year-old boy was treated for cuts and bruises earlier Saturday night after he collided with a car as he was crossing Quadra at Princess.

HIT BY FUMES

Mrs. Val Robertson, 1701 Barrie, was overcome by fumes as she lifted a load of drapes from a dry-cleaning machine Saturday.

Two men required treatment for cuts and bruises in the aftermath of a beer parlor brawl Saturday night. George Sterling, 412 Powell, suffered a cut on his forehead and George Powell of Campbell River received head injuries when he was hit by a chair.

Two other men have been charged in the fracas at the Colony Motor Inn, 2852 Douglas.

Morning After Busies Court

The Labor Day weekend helped fill a very busy central court docket this morning.

Nine impaired driving charges headed the list of 39 charges including 15 intoxication, two of theft, two of breaking and entering, one of auto theft, two charges of creating a disturbance and an arson charge.

Richard Mitchell of CFB Esquimalt ran into a parked car on Esquimalt Road at 11:44 p.m. Wednesday. The 20-year-old youth was fined $350 for impaired driving and had his licence suspended.

Harry Armstrong, 745 Wilson Street, ran into the Johnson Street Bridge Thursday morning. He was arrested as he drove home with a flat tire on his heavily damaged car.

He had been turning on to the bridge from Wharf Street when the accident occurred.

He was fined $350 and was prohibited from driving except on weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at which time he chauffeurs a child to school.

LIGHTS OUT

One hour later Trevor Lee, of no fixed address, drove unsteadily along Quadra Street with his lights off. He ran into a parked car and then rolled 35 feet backwards into another. He was fined $350 for impaired driving and his licence was suspended.

Early this morning Nikolay Kuschnir, 2822 Prior St., narrowly missed a police car as he turned from Quadra on to Hillside. He just missed another car as he stopped in the middle of the intersection of Hillside and Prior.

When the police gave chase he ignored them until he stopped in his driveway at which time he was charged with impaired driving.

He was fined $350 and had his licence suspended.

Albert Johnston of Walton Road, Mesachie Lake, was found slumped over the wheel of a running car on Quadra Street June 9. A breath reading of .23 per cent and a previous conviction netted him a 20-day jail sentence. His licence was also suspended.

Bids Opened Oct. 14 On Museum Work

Provincial public works department said it will open bids Oct. 14 for completion of the museum exhibit hall.

715 to Get Half Tuition

Provincial government scholarships amounting to one-half tuition fees for higher education have been won by, 715 students in B.C.

The students won them by earning first-class marks in spring examinations at universities of British Columbia, Victoria, Simon Fraser, Notre Dame in Nelson, Vancouver City College and the B.C. Institute of Technology.

One third of tuition fees will also be paid by the government for 2,591 students who earned second-class standings of 70 per cent or higher in the exams.

In addition, 1,395 government

Now Just a Darn Minute!

Your double-take on reading that is nothing compared to Jaycee president Grant Jonstone's triple-take when some innocently-conceived picture releases to United States newspapers brought offers to buy this Island.

"One of our projects this year was to send publicity shots of Victoria to 20 preselected American papers," said Mr. Johnstone today.

"One of them was the Los Angeles Times. We had hoped for some reaction but this is ridiculous."

The Jaycee president said one of the return letters began: "We are interested in owning your island, including the buildings, and would suggest further discussion."

Investigation showed the Los Angeles paper, by misprinting a post office box number in an advertisement, had made plutocrats out of people who had actually answered an ad for a somewhat smaller island — like about three acres.

Party Leaders Charge Into Driving Finish; Premier Here Tonight

The party leaders have a hectic schedule lined up for the rest of this week with Premier Bennett running the hardest as the 38-day campaign hits the finish line.

Major rallies will be featured by the three parties in the race with Saturday wind-up speeches planned for the leaders' home towns where they will rest and await the verdict when voters select 55 MLAs and the next government on Monday.

Five all-candidate meetings have been scheduled by various community organizations here for the final campaign week.

The first was to be held today by the Kiwanis Club at its regular luncheon meeting. Two will be held Wednesday—1:30 p.m. at the Silver Threads Centre and 8 p.m. in the St. Joseph's School of Nursing auditorium.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to hold two all-candidate meetings simultaneously Thursday at 8 p.m. — for Victoria contestants in Central Junior High School and for Oak Bay Candidates in Oak Bay Senior High School.

"With the lack of interest in the actual election itself, we're hoping these will touch off some show of interest by the public," said Jaycee president Grant Johnson.

THROW QUESTIONS

"It's been lousy so far. Not only that, but the candidates haven't been saying anything and we certainly hope the public turns out and throws a lot of questions at them."

He said no all-candidates meeting was arranged for Saanich and the Islands because Socred candidate John Tisdalle said he would not be available. There already has been one in Esquimalt riding.

On Wednesday he makes a speech in Port Alberni High Schol and Thursday night he holds a mass rally in Vancouver's Orpheum Theatre. Friday night the premier speaks in Merritt for his third campaign appearance in Yale-Lilloet riding and Saturday night he has his final say before a hometown audience in Kelowna.

New Democratic Party Leader Robert Strachan speaks to a rally in Courtenay tonight, makes a CBC television address Wednesday, and holds a mass rally in Vancouver Thursday night in direct competition with the premier.

Mr. Strachan has reserved Friday for a three-hour session on a popular Vancouver radio station "open line" program and conducts his final meeting Saturday at Cowichan Lake in his own riding.

PERRAULT ON MAINLAND

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault, who has completeed a whirlwind flying tour of most of the province, plans to keep up the pace but concentrated in the lower mainland.

Tonight he will speak at two meetings, in Burrard and in New Westminster.

Wednesday and Thursday he has a succession of radio and television appearances, coffee parties and "mainstreeting" sessions in his own riding of North Vancouver-Capilano.

Friday he peaks to a mass rally in the Capilano Gardens and Saturday's bookings are yet to be completed.

45 Days Jail For Raid On 'Ice Box'

Two men appeared in central court this morning charged with stealing groceries from three elderly women pensioners.

Theft occurred at 1:15 this morning.

A refrigerator in a second-floor alcove in the St. Helen's Apartments, 828 Courtney, used by three elderly women for storing groceries, was ransacked of assorted foodstuffs.

Doyle was immediatley apprehended by the caretaker who was sleeping on the front porch. He had been drinking at the time, the court was told.

He was charged with theft under $50.

The crown alleged a number of previous convictions against the accused including a one-month sentence for vagrancy in Victoria. Since mid-1964 Doyle had received sentences totalling 14 and one-half months.

20% MORE PEOPLE IN SAANICH

The population of Saanich has zoomed 20 per cent over the last five years.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said today the preliminary Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures on the population count in June showed 58,397 persons living in the municipality.

The federal census also closely matched the projections made by the municipal planning department.

The planners had put Saanich's population at 58,600 for July, or adjusted back one month 58,420.

This represents an error of only 0.3 per cent compared with the federal figures, said Reeve Curtis.

He said the accuracy of the municipal planners shows projections must be taken "very seriously" and work must be done now to provide roads, recreation and sewers for the children of today's adults.

LOCAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

NAVY

HMCS Saskatchewan left port this morning, no ETA; Qu'Appelle left this morning, returns Sunday; Laymore due in Saturday.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORT

Camsell due at Admiralty Island tonight; Estevan sailed this morning for the east coast of Vancouver Island; Sir James Douglas sailed this morning for Tofino; Raver due in this afternoon; Ready in Sandheads patrol area; Stonetown in port; St. Catharines on Station Papa; Vancouver out on trials today.

Pollution Appointment

Victoria city manager Dennis Young said today he has accepted appointment as B.C. representative on a national committee on pollution and waste disposal.

A special committee of seven members has been struck by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to study the question of pollution. It will establish terms of reference and plan participation in the annual meeting of Canadian resource ministers next year.

The committee also will report to the 1967 convention of mayors and municipalities.

Ask The Times

Q. Are there any centennial celebrations in B.C.'s future after this year and 1967? D .C.

A. While B.C. Centennial Committee officials say no firm plans for post-Confederation year celebrations have been made, two obvious 19th century events in B.C.'s history worthy of note are the union of B.C. and the Confederation of Canada, July 20, 1871, and the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Pacific coast, Nov. 7, 1885.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Where Have You Been Without Bean Slicer?

By Penny Saver

If there were a land called "Cornucopia", I know where it would be. My neighbor's backyard is almost a farm of fruits and vegetables. I went visiting the other day, and the first thing I heard as I approached the door was an intermittent crunch. She had bushels of fresh walnuts in a bag, and was shelling them.

She never lets me leave without an armful of plums or apples from one of her trees. At one dinner party that my green-thumb neighbor had, I remarked about the delicious French beans that she served. These, too, were a product of her garden. I was amazed, because each slice was even and exact. Personally, I gave up trying to French beans ages ago, because they never are so perfect.

My soft-hearted neighbor showed me her secret. It's a bean slicer that workers somewhat like a meat grinder. This device clamps onto the counter. The clamps have protective tips so as not to mar your counter top.

Made in England of cast iron, these sell for $3.98 in one store. Three revolving, razor-sharp blades cut the beans into even slices. There is a double opening in the top where you feed the beans and a long turn-handle on the side. There is another tiny blade attached to the side. This is for clipping the tops off of the beans.

With this machine, the job of Frenching beans is easy and quick. That task that normally takes hours if you are like me is done in minutes.

One shop carries a unique potato peeler. This is a double-bladed peeler on a swivel base. It's great for peeling cucumbers too. One mastermind uses hers to slice cheese for party hors d'oeuvres. On the other end of this slicer are three tiny blades. These slice individual beans. Simply stuff the bean in, and pull it through the other side.

Another feature is the sharp tip on the potato peeler. This is ideal for digging out eyes of potatoes. The three-jobs-in-one item sells for 98 cents.

These items are practical and time-saving. If you want to know where Penny found them, give her a call at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

There is a great deal of emphasis being placed on the food intake of older persons and the correlation between nutrition and health in later years. Intensive studies have been conducted in the United States, England and other countries. The fact that so many people are living to an older age has spurred this research.

Recently, a survey of this sort has been reported from Great Britain. The health and the food habits of 60 older women who live alone were surveyed. Their ages ranged between 70 and 80 years. Half of them came from a low-income group and the other half from a higher income level.

Careful dietary records were kept, and some interesting facts were noted. There was no difference in the caloric intake of the two groups. There was a gradual decrease in the food intake of all subjects with increasing age. Those whose ages were between 70 and 73 years consumed 2,074 calories. Those between 74 and 77 consumed 1,875 calories, and those who were 78 or over consumed 1,674 calories.

The vitamin C intake varied. A few in the group received only 3 mg. a day. These ate practically no fruits and vegetables. Examination by X-ray indicated that there may be some correlation between vitamin D intake and density of the bones. It suggested that a deficient vitamin D intake may play some part in the demineralization of the bones which is so usual with age.

Exercise came into its own. There was a definite correlation between physical activity and good health. This study also highlighted the fact that there is such a great difference between the physical condition of individuals of the same age.

The study brought to light some of the difficulties the older person who lives alone encounters when trying to eat well nutritionally. Shopping is often trying, and those who live in small quarters have little space for storing food.

Then there is the lack of incentive. It is easier to just eat almost anything than to plan well-balanced meals for oneself, only. This is always a hazard which the woman who lives alone must battle, no matter how much or how little money there is to spend on food.

Never Too Old, Says Grandma

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Mabel Yewell, a 70-year-old grandmother, has forsaken her rocking chair to sign for a two-year-hitch in India with the Peace Corps.

Mrs. Yewell, a nurse, hopes to serve in a planned parenthood clinic, either in Bombay or Poonan.

"I hope I can give something and I know I will learn much," she said. "I'm pleased that I'm physically well enough to be accepted."

She has passed all the Peace Corps mental and physical examinations. Yet to come is the four-week training period.

"I don't think I'm ready for a rocking chair," she told Peace Corps officials.

No age limit has been set on volunteers.

Invent New Foods

MONTREAL (CP) — A food expert says two-thirds of the food products Canadian consumers will be buying in the next 20 years are yet to be developed. Betty Kirby, manager of the General Foods kitchens, added that of the 250 new food products placed on supermarket shelves yearly, 75 to 80 per cent are dropped before the year ends.

Family Visits Here

This summer has been an especially busy one for Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Ney, who are celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary this year. Visiting in their home at 3074 Oakdowne Road are their daughter Mrs. Bob Giblak and her two children of Castlegar. Returning to their home in East Lansing, Mich., are their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. James Ney and their family who were recently holidaying here. Dr. Ney is a professor at Michigan State University. Other visitors were their sons and daughters-in-law Dr. and Mrs. Philip Ney of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ney and family of Meaford, Ont., and another son, George, a University of British Columbia student who has just returned from an extended tour of the Far East with an Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship group.

Alaskan Guest

Travelling from Ketchikan, Alaska, to attend the wedding this afternoon of Miss Penny Smith and Mr. Murray Nixon was Mrs. R. George. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Johnson and family of Ladner; Mrs. Patricia Frederman, Bellingham, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Morgan and Ann of Squamish, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. L. Savage of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Van Humbeck of Campbell River.

For Miss Poulter

Bride-elect Miss Roslynn Poulter, was honoured recently at a surprise shower hosted by Mrs. C. Buckley, Mrs. A. McDougall and Mrs. E. Macauley. The party was held in the Rock Heights Avenue home of Mrs. Buckley. Gifts of china, concealed in a decorated cup and saucer, were presented from the 10 invited guests. The honor guest received a corsage of pink carnations. Games were played and refreshments served. Mrs. McDougall proposed a toast to the bride-elect. Miss Poulter's chair was decorated with streamers, and topped with a white bell that was used at her mother's wedding.

Quiet Service

The marriage is announced of Mrs. Patricia Macmurchie, Victoria, and Mr. W. L. King of North Vancouver. The wedding took place quietly in Oak Bay United Church on Aug. 30.

From Kamloops

Travelling from Kamloops recently to attend the wedding of Miss Judith Elizabeth Tredwell and Mr. James Edmond Dimmick was the groom's mother, Mrs. Laurette Dimmick, and Mr. M. L. Wade. Other out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Trueman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Drewry, Mr. J. L. Patterson, Mrs. Lloyd Skelton, Mr. H. Rea, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Savage, Mrs. A. Malley, Mrs. R. Zingrich, Mr. and Mrs. A. McLennan, Mrs. I. Starr, the Misses Barbara and Vickie Trueman, Anne Drewry, Marianne Christensen, Karen Thompson and Sirkka Makenen, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. Graveness of Burnaby; Miss Sandra Guest, Nanaimo; Miss Leila McConnan, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Henry of Tacoma, Wash., and Dr. S. J. Tredwell, Chicago, Ill.

Attend Show

Mrs. John (Carol) Macormack and her daughter, Mrs. Felix (Judy) Asoon, arrived in Victoria to spend the weekend visiting in the Sunset Avenue home of Mrs. Claire Knox. They travelled from their Vancouver homes to attend the Victoria Theatre Guild centennial presentation of "Vintage Victoria." Both Mrs. Macormack and Mrs. Asoon were active in the Victoria Guild before they moved to Vancouver. On Sunday morning, Mrs. Knox entertained at a coffee party for her guests. Attending were their theatrical friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Feinberg, Chicago, Ill., have announced the forthcoming marriage of their only daughter, Marcia Jane, to Mr. Richard Arthur Gough, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gough, 1161 Rockland Avenue. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 17 in Chicago. The bride-elect, a graduate of the University of Chicago, is studying for a master's degree in languages. Her fiance is an honors graduate of the University of Victoria and is presently a doctoral candidate in physics. Both attend McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont. (Mr. Gough's photo by Simpson Studio)

Wears Pennies in Her Shoes To Fulfil Bridal Traditions

As "something old" and "something new" talismans Laura Penelope (Penny) Smith wore two pennies in her shoes when she became the bride of Murray Rupert Nixon this afternoon. One was a 1947 coin, the year she was born, and the other a 1966 penny, to signify the year of her marriage.

The bride's gown of peau de soie, enhanced with Guipure lace accents, was fashioned with a full train sweeping back from the empire waistline. The bodice featured sleeves ending in lily points. Her four-tier veil of silk illusion net misted from a pill box headpiece studded with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Gladioli and carnations in white and pink tones formed an attractive floral setting in Oak Bay United Church when Rev. A. Calder heard marriage vows exchanged between the daughter of Mrs. Sheila J. Smith, 548 Dallas Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Nixon, 2093 Dover Road, Sooke. The bride's uncle, K. H. Johnson, Ladner, gave her in marriage.

TRIO IN BLUE

Floor-length gowns of pale blue brocade, styled on empire lines, were worn by the bride's attendants, the Misses Trixie Minkowitz, Janice Livesey and Patricia Hansen. Self-fabric pill box headpieces, edged with net, and bouquets of white gladioli, trimmed with blue, completed the oufits.

James Duncan, Sooke, was best man. Guests were ushered to pews marked with white satin flowers, edged with green trim, by the bride's brother, Hal Smith, and Herb Stark.

The pink and white theme of the wedding was continued in the floral decorations of gladioli and carnations at the reception following in the lounge of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Miniature figures of a bride and groom topped the tiered wedding cake, which centred the lace-covered head table. Colin P. Rutherford proposed the toast to the bride.

A heather-mix suit in plum tones, styled with an A-line skirt, was worn by the new Mrs. Nixon for travelling on honeymoon to Seattle. Her profile cloche hat was en tone and her corsage was of orchids. The only jewelry accent was the groom's gift of a sterling silver bracelet.

'MOD' IS FOR THE MATRON

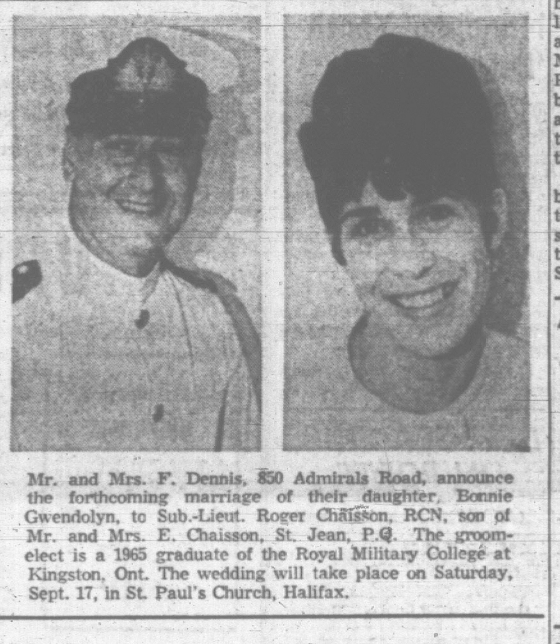
MONTREAL (CP) — Bless the teen-ager for introducing Mod, says Paris-born Claude Fourot. "But if you want the best of it, look to the woman over 30," said the makeup expert. "They are tempering it and therefore getting the best out of it."



Mr. and Mrs. F. Dennis, 850 Admirals Road, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Bonnie Gwendolyn, to Sub.-Lieut. Roger Chaisson, RCN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Chaisson, St. Jean, P.Q. The groom-elect is a 1965 graduate of the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 17, in St. Paul's Church, Halifax.

Sargent-Hickman Vows Heard Saturday

MAKE HOME IN ENGLAND

When they return from their honeymoon trip, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. John Hartley Sargent will board the Franconia and travel to England, where both will continue doctoral studies on scholarships at Cambridge University.

The bride, the former Janice Eleanor Hickman, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickman, 3011 Foul Bay Road, and the groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. T. E. H. Sargent, 3333 Henderson Road. Christ Church Cathedral was decorated with floral arrangements in autumn tones of bronze and gold Saturday evening for the service at which Dean Brian Whitlow officiated. White gladioli were at the altar.

ORGAN MUSIC

Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" was played by organist Richard Proudman as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father.

Her floor-length gown of white Ottoman satin was made in Paris. Styled on princess lines, the exquisite gown was fashioned with long fitted sleeves. Her veil was floor-length and misted softly from a self-fabric gardenia headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums and gold roses, accented with laurel leaves.

Maid of honor Miss Jane Gilliland was in a gown of moss green brocade, and bridesmatrons Mrs. Hubert Williston and Mrs. Brian McIntyre chose similar gowns in muted gold tones. All wore velvet bandeau headpieces in moss green and they carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums, trimmed with laurel leaves.

Douglas Patterson was best man and guests were ushered to pews decorated with bronze and gold markers, made by the bride's godmother, Miss Lola Maxwell, by Hubert Williston, Frank Buffam and the bride's brother, Alan Hickman.

The autumn theme of the wedding was continued at the reception which followed in the lounge of the University of Victoria Student Union Building. Dr. J. F. K. English proposed the toast to the bride.

A Paris suit in burnt gold tones, topped with a gold and bronze blend coat, was worn by the bride for travelling on honeymoon. Her Tyrolean-shaped hat echoed the bronze tones and her accessories were black patent. A corsage of gold roses completed the outfit.

DEAR ABBY . . .

They'll Always Be Curious

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have always thought your advice to be very sound until I read the answer you gave "Just Curious" who was adopted in her infancy, had grown up and married, and had finally tracked down her real mother. She asked you if she should go to see her real mother, and you advised her not to.

Abby, how could you?

I gave up my baby for adoption 29 years ago, not because I didn't want her, but because I had no husband, and could not afford to keep her. And every day I pray that my doorbell will ring and she will be standing there.

A MOTHER.

DEAR ABBY: I hope that woman who is all fired up about meeting her real mother has better luck than I did.

I, too, was adopted, and after many years of searching, I finally located my real mother, so I wrote her a letter telling her that I wanted to meet her. I also asked her to please tell me where she got the name that appeared on my birth certificate. She replied with a postcard, written in pencil: "Don't bother me. I don't know nothing."

NO LONGER CURIOUS.

DEAR ABBY: The question of whether an adopted person should, out of curiosity, try to establish contact with his natural parents is one of considerable interest to me, because I did just that four years ago. And I would like to go on record as saying that it was the gravest mistake of my life.

I will not dwell on the unfortunate and ugly repercussions that followed, but your original advice to abandon the idea was indeed wise. I shall always regret having poked around in my past. Sign this

ALSO CURIOUS.

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter from the woman, adopted in infancy, concerning her "real" mother: I feel that I must protest the use of the word "real" in this instance.

Just what is a "real" mother, Abby? Is she the one who conceives the child, carries it and gives birth to it? Or is she the one who nurses the child through his first shots, teeth, and first steps? Isn't motherhood boiling bottles and folding diapers, and being available 24 hours a day to kiss away the hurt, and to listen to the stories of his small victories, defeats, disappointments and aspirations? And raising him to adulthood?

Of course, the "natural" mother shows great love for her child by giving him up to be raised in a home with a mother and father who can provide him with a good life. But out of respect for adoptive parents, and primarily to the adopted child to whom the adoptive parents are the only "reality" — let us use the proper terms. Either "natural" mother, or possibly, "biological" mother. Sincerely,

A "REAL" MOTHER.

DEAR ABBY: I wish that woman who found out how to get in touch with her real mother after all those years, would tell me how she did it.

We have adopted children, and the attorney who handled the adoptions told us that there was no way for the children to locate their real parents.

WONDERING.

ON STAGE for about the last time at Legislative Buildings Saturday was the Barkerville-to-Victoria stagecoach. Although epic 570-mile journey formally ended here, it spent balance of weekend at Saanichton Fair, Brentwood Fishing Derby and North Saanich centennial barbecue. Six horses in traces are one of two teams of Welsh coal ponies that made trip "with ease." Crowds, sunny skies and local provincial dignitaries met dusty coach and rider as it rolled to halt at Buildings steps. (Jim Ryan photo)

Old No. 13 Lucky Enough To Survive Seven Holdups

Eighty-one towns, six sets of horseshoes and seven holdups later, B.C.'s Centennial Cariboo No. 13 stagecoach rolled to a halt Monday.

Guest of honor at a North Saanich chicken barbecue at Sanscha fairgrounds Monday evening, the last of a summer of picnics, fairs and civic receptions on the Barkerville-to-Victoria run, the trim frontier carriage and its high-stepping Welsh coal ponies looked as if they could make the return trip without breathing hard.

He'd Go Again

"I'd like to be around in 2066 to do it again," said Art Perrey of 100-Mile House, who shared rides and shotgun on the marathon journey with another 100-Miler, Bill Garrow.

Questioned at the final stop on the last weekend of the stagecoach ride of the century, Mr. Perrey, who will truck the coach back to the Cariboo, said he thought he knew more now about B.C. and knew more British Columbians than "any coach driver alive."

"With perfect co-operation from the weather, the ponies (not one visit to the veterinarian in the two-month ride) and the people we met, how could we not get here?

No Retreading

"Didn't even have to retread the wheels."

The Cariboo No. 13, a facsimile of stagecoaches that carried the Cariboo mail in the last century, was made last spring in 100-Mile House under the direction of the B.C. Centennial Committee.

Its wheels, the ones that didn't wear out, are rimmed with iron. It's body is made of B.C. plywood, its leaf springs and seats moulded with sponge rubber.

Instead of just six ponies it had two teams of six and two spares, the extra team and the spares trucked ahead of the coach to be fresh for the harness.

Rambunctious young blades from Burnaby our own Saanich and five other communities held up the ciach and the Royal Mail.

"Yours was the best holdup yet," he said of Saturday's showdown at Portage Inlet where Dirty Bert Binny and cohorts were foiled in their attempt to kidnap Miss Victoria Susan Smythe by a quick thinking Saanich police department.

The coach arrived at the Legislative Buildings early Saturday afternoon, proceeding from there to Mayfair and a country dance in the evening.

Sunday it rolled out to the Brentwood Fishing Derby and the Saanichton Fair.

A bit miffed Mr. Perrey tried to enter a lead pony in a halter class of the fair's horse show but was refused because of the lateness of his application.

Girl to Try 20-Mile Sechelt Swim

Evelyn Creelman, 2354 Bellamy Road, 18, who is attending business school here, came first in the women's section of the Protection Island swim in 1965 and placed second to a marathon champion from the University of B.C. this year.

Nanaimo Youth 'Fairly Good'

Gerrold Ockey suffered multiple head iinjuries when the car he was riding in was in collision with a truck at an intersection.

Damage to the both vehicles was estimated at $2,000.

DEEP-SEA SHIPS IN PORTS

Victoria—Ola, Russia.

Crofton — Fineo, Mediterranean.

Two Men Die Of Fumes From Exhaust

CAMPBELL RIVER—Two men were found dead of asphyxiation in their cars in separate incidents here Sunday morning.

Dead are George William Clark, 40, of Buttle Lake, and Raymond Daniel Marsh, 36, of Oyster Bay.

RCMP here say foul play is not suspected in either death, but a coroner's inquiry has been ordered.

Clark, an employee of Western Mines Ltd., was found dead in his car about 4 a.m. The car was parked on a hill off a side road just north of Campbell River.

FAULTY EXHAUST

He was apparently suffocated by fumes from a faulty exhaust system.

Marsh's body was found about 8 a.m. in a car parked on a side road south of Campbell River.

He apparently died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Both men were alone.

Goat Hunter Rescued

LILLOOET (CP) — A goat hunter who fell 1,000 feet down a snow-crusted slope 20 miles west of here was rescued 24 hours later Monday by an air-sea rescue helicopter from Vancouver. Luther Heise, 25, of Richmond, was taken to Lillooet Hospital suffering from two broken ribs and a punctured lung. His condition was described as "good."

Chant, Tisdalle Take Helicopter To Salt Spring

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and Saanich Social Credit candidate John Tisdalle will take a helicopter trip to Salt Spring Island Thursday to conduct an election campaign meeting the Mahon Hotel, Ganges, at 8 p.m.

"This doesn't imply any lack of confidence in the B.C. Ferries," Mr. Tisdalle said. "We are using the whirly-bird purely as a novelty."

Mr. Tisdalle returned today from a series of campaign meetings at Saturna, Pender, Galiano and Mayne islands.

He will speak at the Social Credit rally in the Royal Theatre, Victoria, Tuesday at 8 p.m. and at campaign meetings in the Brentwood Hall, Wednesday, and Sanscha Hall. Sidney, Friday.

HAROLD ALLEN
More and more B.C. car owners are fed up with the private insurance companies. 19,000 signed a petition recently asking for a government owned and operated car insurance agency. The petition succeeded only in getting a Royal Commission established.
Perhaps one of the following cases fits you:
★ Your premium has been raised this year after five, ten, or even fifteen years of accident-free driving.
★ Although an accident-free driver, you have been placed on an "assigned risk plan," and no good reason has been given for this arbitrary method of increasing your payments.
★ You have been told that, either you switch all your insurance to your auto-insurance agency, or you will have to pay a "service charge" to "cover the cost of writing your policy."
★ You had to appear in police court as a witness and victim in a traffic accident and had to hire a lawyer to obtain for you what was rightfully yours.
Some 209 companies in B.C. compete for your business, increasing the overhead costs, which motorists pay. In Saskatchewan the government plan covers everyone, motorists and pedestrians. This plan has been called "the best car insurance bargain on the continent" (Consumer's Report). It had a $4 million surplus in 1963. The average return in claims was 85c on every dollar spent as premium. For private insurance, the return is only 65c on the dollar spent as premium.

5 DEATHS AND FUNERALS

POPPLE—In Victoria on Saturday, Sept. 3, 1966, Arthur E. Popple of 606 Douglas Street. He was born in England and was formerly a resident of Edmonton, Alta. He leaves nieces and nephews in California and Vancouver. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Chaplin's Funeral Chapel.

RICHMOND—In the Veterans' Hospital, Victoria, on Sept. 2, 1966, James, beloved husband of Gladys Richmond, 1764 Oak Bay Avenue, Victoria, B.C. Mr. Richmond was born in Ayr, Ont., and a resident of Victoria since 1945, formerly of Tisdale, Sask. Besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Mrs. W. (Margaret) Munn and two grandchildren, all of Victoria. He was a veteran of First World War and an honorary elder of St. Aidan's United Church. Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros' FLORAL CHAPEL, Johnson and Vancouver Streets, on Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 1:15 p.m., Rev. A. G. MacLeod and Rev. T. G. Griffiths officiating. Interment at Royal Oak Burial Park.

ROBB—At Victoria, on Sept. 2, 1966, Miss Ann R. Robb, formerly of 895 Heywood Avenue, a pioneer resident of this city. For many years she was matron of the Aged Womens' Home, 875 McClure Street. Survived by a cousin, Miss Christina Robertson, Vancouver, and nieces and nephews in Scotland and England. Funeral service Wednesday at 1:30 in HAYWARD'S FUNERAL CHAPEL, 734 Broughton Street. Very Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean officiating. Cremation. Supervised parking adjoining the chapel.

RILEY—In Victoria, B.C., on Sept. 3, 1966, Mrs. Ada Maria Riley, widow of the late Alfred Riley, formerly of Calgary, Alberta, aged 86 years, born in Yorkshire, England, and a resident of this city for the past 15 years. She is survived by two nieces, Mrs. A. E. Rowell, of Vancouver, and Mrs. G. R. Conquest, and a nephew, Mr. C. E. Pullan, both of Victoria, B.C. Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros. MAIN CHAPEL, Johnson and Vancouver Streets, on Wednesday, Sept. 7 at 10:30 a.m. Rev. Percy Wills officiating. Interment in the Royal Oak Burial Park. (Flowers gratefully declined.)

SLADE—In Victoria on Sept. 6, 1966, Mr. Frederick John Slade in his 87th year, of 847 Dunsmuir Street, born in Exeter, England, and a resident of Victoria since 1921. He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. C. P. (Florence) Eccles, and his son, Cecil; both of Victoria; four grandchildren; his five great-grandchildren; his sister, Mrs. Ella Cowler, of Victoria; nieces and nephews. He was a long-time bandsman in the Salvation Army and a former valued associate of McCall Bros. Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros. FLORAL CHAPEL, Johnson and Vancouver Streets, on Thursday, Sept. 8 at 1 p.m. Interment at Royal Oak Burial Park.

STEVENS — On August 12, 1966 in Cornwall, England, Mrs. Beatrice Annie Stevens aged 57 years of 1320 Slater St., a pioneer resident having resided here for 55 years. She leaves her husband, William Henry; one son, William Jr. and daughter-in-law, Carroll; one daughter, Mrs. E. (Kathleen) Fullaway of Victoria; eight grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. K. Cafferey of Victoria and Mrs. R. Nicolson of Vancouver. She was a Past Sr. Regent of the Women of the Moose. Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros. FLORAL CHAPEL, Johnson and Vancouver Sts., on Wednesday, Sept. 7 at 3:15 p.m. Rev. Canon George Biddle officiating. Interment at Hatley Memorial Gardens.

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks for the many acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes received from our many relatives, friends and neighbors in our sad bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, William Packford. Special thanks to pallbearers, Dr. S. G. Ruskin and nurses and staff of 2-A St. Joseph's Hospital.—Erna Packford and family.

9 IN MEMORIAM

ORCHIN—In loving memory of a dearly beloved sister, Ella Lorraine Orchin, who passed away September 6, 1956.

We miss you because we loved you,
More precious than wealth untold,
No treasure on earth can replace you,
Your memory will never grow old.

—Lovingly remembered by her sisters, brothers and in-laws.

Declarer at a suit contract wants to draw trumps in order to keep his opponents from ruffing some of his side suit winners and the general rule is to pull trumps as soon as you can afford to do so.

Opening lead—♥ K

You can't afford to pull trumps when you need dummy's trumps to ruff some of your side suit losers. Occasionally you may need them to keep your opponents from forcing you to use up one of your own trumps.

There is a simple way for South to play his four spade contract. He can ruff the second heart and go right after the trump suit. If trumps break 3-3 he will concede a trick to the ace of clubs and make five odd. Trumps break 3-3 sometimes but a 4-2 break is more likely.

They break 4-2 this time and the simple play is not going to work. South will run out of trumps before he gets time to set up a club trick and will lose his contract.

He will be able to blame the loss on that unfortunate trump division but the real reason will be poor trump management.

South must not go after trumps until he has knocked out the ace of clubs or at least played clubs once. It is all right for him to ruff the second heart. Then he must lead a club. If East ducks, South abandons the suit and runs out his contract with spades and diamonds. If East takes his ace of clubs and leads a third heart South must discard so as to retain four trumps. Then if East leads still another heart South will be able to ruff in dummy.

This play gives up the chance to make an overtrick but who cares about overtricks when the contract is in danger!

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

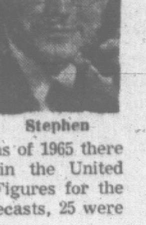
He's got cause to smile because, now that tint-TV is fact rather than fancy, more people than ever before are seeing more motion picture films about British Columbia on color TV.



Stephen

Bill, director of the Photographic Branch of the Department of Recreation and Conservation, says the number of telecasts of Canadian travel films in the United States increased by more than 45 per cent in 1965 over 1964 and every indication is that the trend is continuing.

With reference to films about B.C., Bill reported that in the first three months of 1965 there were 103 telecasts "abroad," mostly in the United States, and 14 of them were in color. Figures for the same period in 1966 show that of 102 telecasts, 25 were in color.

"The advent of color television in Canada and the current surge in color telecasts in the U.S. will certainly give out color films greater and more valuable exposure," he said.

All available figures show greater use being made of travel films about Canada, including prize-winning productions by the provincial photo branch which also has several new films now being made.

* * *

TID BITS: CBS-TV is said to have been so happy with singer John Gary's summer series, which filled the Danny Kaye slot, that it is interested in having him return next year, or even possibly as a mid-season replacement.

Hancock's Half Hour, starring British comedian Tony Hancock, returns to CBC-TV weekdays, beginning Monday, Sept. 12. The comic mis-adventures will run for five weeks . . . Cassius Clay's next heavyweight championship fight against European titleholder Karl Mildenberger in Frankfurt, Germany, will be telecast live on ABC-TV Sept. 10, delayed on Channels 2 and 6.

NBC-TV says that a new one-hour series, "Maya," scheduled for the 1967-68 season, will be shot entirely in India despite charges by Hollywood unions that there is increasing "runaway" production of television shows Olivia De Havilland will costar with Jason Robards Jr. in an adaptation of Katherine Anne Porter's famous novel, "Noon Wine," on the new ABC Stage 67 series this season.

This three-year-old luxury home was designed with loving care by present owners under architect supervision and includes all the practical and artistic details they had longed for all their life. Now they are reluctantly compelled to sell their beautiful home at a sacrifice price and P. R. Brown & Sons are privileged to be entrusted with the sale.

From the vestibule turn to the left up a few stairs to the two large bedrooms with ample closets and a lovely vanity bathroom.

151 COUNTRY HOMES AND PROPERTIES

DON'T DRIVE TOO FAST!

Down this olde English Country lane or you will miss the entrance to the best buy in country properties on the Peninsula today.

and turn into the paved driveway, through the maples, firs and other native trees, and there before you, bordered by rolling lawns and nestled among the cedars sits the heart of this country estate, a long, low 2,600 square feet of quality, family living space, on over 1 acre of seclusion.
Come with us through the no step, cathedral entrance, into the 21x15 mahogany panelled living room with picture windows at both ends, one with seaview, and log sized, raised hearth fireplace. Adjacent is a family sized dining room with divider and handy buffet and a few steps take us into the ultra modern design kitchen featuring oodles of cupboards, garburator, snack bar etc. Now, down the hall, we come to a panelled den or study, master bedroom with double Mr. and Mrs. Closets and 3-pce. en suite bath and 2nd good size bedroom.
As we descend to the lower floor we pass a bookcase feature wall with an enchanting, built in lighted aquarium, turn left to the 21x15 rumpus room, large utility room, another 3-pce. vanity bath, 2 more large bedrooms and hobby room-workshop.
A sundeck off the kitchen, covered patio at the rear, another patio at the front, double carport, and outside workshop or rainy day play house complete this fascinating, six year old contractor built home, on the market for the first time and offered at below replacement cost at $23,900. # BEATLE FANS HEAR YE, JOHN TO GET HAIR CUT

Breaking away from the other Beatles—Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr—for the first time, John is going to make a movie on his own. He will play the part of a soldier in the film "How I Won the War."

For the part of a soldier he will be unable to wear the mophead hairstyle the Beatles made famous.

John flew to Celle, near Hannover, Germany, Monday to start filming.

At the United Nations, news of the assassination stunned delegates. UN Secretary-General U Thant told reporters "this is deplorable because any violent action is deplorable."

The assassination came as the UN General Assembly prepared to handle at least three issues involving South Africa at its session opening in two weeks.

The are the World Court deciion on South-West Africa, failure of UN sanctions to topple the white-minority regime in Rhodesia and the issue of apartheid, the official policy of the South African government.

The death of Verwoerd was not expected to halt the pressure by African members to try to force a change in South Africa's stand on apartheid.

Tanzania's ambassador to the United Nations, John W. S. Malecela, called the assassination a possible forewarning of more violence to come.

Another African diplomat, who did not wish to be identified, attached special significance to the fact that the assailant is white.

He said this indicated that the South African government's apartheid policies have aroused strong opposition among whites as well as Negroes.

President Johnson deplored the assassination as "a stroke of violence that shakes the sensibilities of men who believe in law and order."

The president sent a private message of condolence to Verwoerd's widow and family.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of President John F. Kennedy who was assassinated in Dallas, also issued a statement and sent a private telegram to the Verwoerd family.

"I am deeply shocked," Kennedy said. "Violence is not the answer to problems which must be worked out between people, with compassion and understanding on both sides."

Kennedy. who visited South African in July and warned that an "explosive situation" could develop if relations between the ruling whites and the majority-Negro population in South Africa were not changed.

U.S. civil reight leaders have expressed disapproval of the assassination and also the apartheid policy for which he stood.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the advancement of colored people, said:

"The NAACP opposes everything Prime Minister Verwoerd and his government stood for, but we do not believe issues can be solved through assassination."

Don Smith, director of public relations for the Congress of Racial Equality, said the use of "force . . . as a weapon of political redress is to be regretted."

"But the death of this exponent of the obnoxious doctrine of apartheid can do no harm to South Africa. We feel that the denial of rights of black Africans to be a part of their own country is not only wrong, but against humanity."

Jo Grimond, leader of Britain's Liberal party said the assassination of Verwoerd "should surely be a warning to all those who hope to run autocratic regimes in Africa."

Acting Prime Minister Paul Martin said in Ottawa:

"The Canadian government regrets this shocking act of violence. I have this morning sent to the acting prime minister of South Africa a message of condolence.

"This regret, of course, does not affect this government's well-known attitude on apartheid. We thoroughly disagree with this policy but our difference of views does not dilute our regret at this brutal assassination."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, former prime minister, said Dr. Verwoerd had told him after the failure of the 1960 assassination attempt that this failure "revealed God's approval of the cause he had followed."

He said the South African prime minister had an abiding belief that he was right in the practice of discrimination against those of another color.

"He was fanatical in his stand," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The assassination was "a sad commentary on conditions that are becoming all to prevalent in all parts of the world, in other words, the taking of law into the hands of the individual."

fatal attempt on Verwoerd's life.

In March, 1960, the Negro nationalist Pan-Africanist Congress called for a nationwide campaign against a law requiring all Negro males to carry passes for identification purposes.

Thousands of Negroes answered the call—and the now-notorious Sharpeville incident occurred.

At Sharpeville, a Negro township, police opened fire on Negroes and 67 were killed and 183 wounded.

On April 9, 1960, came the attempt on Verwoerd's life. Minutes after he opened an international trade fair, he was shot twice at point-blank range, in the face below the right ear, and in the right side of his neck.

His alleged assailant, David Pratt, a wealthy English-born farmer aged 50, was subsequently charged but found mentally ill and taken to an asylum.

White Voters

Verwoerd said he would try to keep republican South Africa in the Commonwealth, but at the 1961 Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London, the prime minister withdrew his application for Commonwealth membership in the face of strong opposition from critics of his apartheid policy.

Verwoerd's dream of a republic formally became fact May 31, 1961, when the country changed from union to republican status.

Verwoerd end his country of emerbency and a near-had, since neighbouring Rhodesia declared independence unilaterally from Britain last November, played an unofficial but key role in Africa's most burning current problem.

Though supporting the Rhodesian white-minority regime of Ian Smith, South Africa has on the official plane maintained a form of neutrality.

South Africa's material support without doubt helped the Smith government. But Verwoerd's policy was to avoid officially recognizing the new regime and thus open the way to United Nations sections against South Africa itself.

Pearson Crops Up In UN Guessing

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Possibility that Prime Minister Pearson might be again approached to take the post of secretary-general of the United Nations aroused interest on Parliament Hill today.

Rumors have been circulating that Mr. Pearson's name might be put forward once again. But United Nations experts in the department of external affairs discounted the reports.

The rumors aroused speculation as to the possibility that if Mr. Pearson was acceptable to the Communist bloc he might take the post. That would leave the leadership of the federal Liberal party and turn the October Liberal convention into a leadership convention.

VETOED IN 1952

Mr. Pearson was considered seriously as a likely appointee to the secretary general's post in 1952-53 when Trygvie Lie retired. But his appointment was vetoed by the Russians.

Again when Mr. Lie's successor Dag Hammarskjold was killed in an air crash in 1961 Mr. Pearson's name was among those mentioned as a possible successor. But it was quckly dropped because the Communist bloc of nations made it clear that he was no more acceptable to them in 1961 than he was in 1952-53.

Consequently it is not regarded in official circles here as likely that Mr. Pearson would have any chance of being approached to take the post this year.

Settlement Expected In Carpenter Dispute

The month-old lockout-strike in the construction industry may be settled this week, mediator W. E. Philpott of Vancouver said today.

The Vancouver lawyer was appointed industrial inquiry commissioner into the carpenters-contractors dispute last week by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson.

PROGRESS

"I have had talks over the weekend with both the parties concerned and I have made progress," he said.

"Both sides badly want to settle the dispute. I have more meetings fixed for today and Thursday and I am confident I can come up with a settlement which is acceptable to both sides."

Mr. Philpott said he doesn't understand the action of Victoria contractors, who announced last Friday they are asking the labor minister to conduct a vote among local carpenters on settlement proposals made by the contractors.

At the same time, the Victoria local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters said it expects the labor minister to "completely disregard" the contractors' move because of the appointment of Mr. Philpott.

The 322-company Construction Industry Joint Negotiating Committee has proposed a two-year contract with a 51-cent hourly increase on $3.49, an end to union hall hiring and the same 40-hour work week.

The Provincial Council of Carpenters wants the joint committee to settle on the same basis as 160 independent contractors.

This provides for a two-year contract, a 40-cent hourly raise on $3.49, continuation of union hall hiring and a 37½-hour work week starting next year at no reduction in take-home pay.

SCHOLARSHIPS

scholarships will go to students who wrote grade 12 and 13 exams, which were announced last week, bringing the total to 4,701 government scholarship winners.

Last year's figure is 3,897.

'67 VISIT VIRTUALLY CONFIRMED

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson virtually confirmed today that the Queen will visit Canada during next year's centennial celebrations.

The Canadian leader had a 15-minute audience with the Queen at Buckingham Palace earlier in the day and said later that he had discussed plans for the visit.

He said no dates have been set yet but arrangements are being made.

He added that there might be visits by other members of the Royal Family but he did not indicate which ones.

Survivor of Air Crash Sues Estates of Crew

VANCOUVER (CP) — Freida Yeske, 30, one of eight survivors of a Canadian Pacific Airlines crash in Tokyo in March that claimed 64 lives, is seeking damages against the estates of three crew members killed in the crash.

A writ was issued last week on behalf of Miss Yeske, claiming negligence on the part of the crew of the CPA jet and the company "in maintenance, inspection, repair, operation, communications, supervision and airport control of the aircraft."

The Wonderful World of Animals

By DR. FRANK MILLER

Many summer replacements tend to be neglected as new fall school classes get underway. A vital part of the educational process should be the assumption of responsibility—including that of warm weather pet "pick-ups." Be this buddy gopher or garter snake, it should continue to receive the best of care, or a new homestead where the animal can expect good care or adequately fend for itself. If a wild pet is to be returned to its natural environment, an effort should be made to duplicate the surroundings under which it was found. (Merely "dumping" it by the side of the road isn't the answer). Pets of the more standard furred or feathered varieties deserve attention at least sufficient to insure good health. Hopefully, happiness will be considered too, and this requires more than one daily pat per pup.

DEAR DR. MILLER: In your column I note you often mention to keep sick birds warm. Just how warm can a bird stand it? I got a bird, a canary named Golden Boy, that I'm keeping in a room that gets pretty hot in the afternoons. — G.T.

DEAR G.T.: There's a big difference between the amount of heat a bird can stand — temporarily — and the amount that is good for it. True, a sick bird does not need more heat. However, Golden Boy would be "beat" by temperatures in the eighties and exhausted by readings remaining in the 90's. Apparently his headquarters roasts him in the afternoon then cools him down nightly. Widely fluctuating temperatures are dangerous. Even a healthy bird has a rudimentary temperature-regulating mechanism that cannot adequately compensate for sudden drastic change.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our calico cat just had her first batch of kittens. We gave them all away. Ever since, though, she has begun carrying around pot holders and yelling constantly. Could this be a psychological result of her loss? — C.Y.

DEAR C.Y.: Could be. She should become resigned to the void within a reasonably short time. If not, the doctor could speed up the process. However, he would rely less on psychiatry than on hormones.

★ ★ ★

DEAR DR. MILLER: We're scared stiff because two dogs in our neighborrood have been killed by strychnine. I saw one of these dogs in its terrible agonies and it died before it could be taken in to the doctor. What can we do to prevent this happening to our dogs? Is there anything we could feed them to counteract the poison? We couldn't stand it if this happened to either of ours. — G.R.

DEAR G.R.: In any case of suspected strychnine poisoning, the local SPCA or humane society should be immediately notified. (Any victim should be sent to the veterinarian immediately for an autopsy). Confinement of your dogs, allowing them out only when closely supervised on leash, is the best prevention. As far as a prophylactic feeding is concerned, a full stomach is some help as the satiated dog is less likely to pick up poisoned "bait," but if it did, the poison would be absorbed more slowly. Heavy doses of Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) help counteract the lethal effects of strychnine poisoning and this would be a valubale addition to the diet during a period when poisoning is a possibility.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I understand a replacement for seeing eye dogs has been developed. Can you give me some information on this if there is such a thing? My sister has failing vision and was considering a seeing eye dog, and I wonder if something else would be better for her? Thank you. — K.D.

DEAR K.D.: The British have developed an ultrasonic unit that beeps back messages to the wearer's ears to help avoid objects just ahead. Under selected circumstances, and for a few individuals, these electronic "eyes" might be preferable to a guide dog. And such a unit might be very helpful as a back-up set for any visually handicapped person. Yet under many conditions there can be no substitute for the judgment and versatility of the trained dog. Nor would it be possible for any such piece of equipment, however useful, to replace the bonds existing between a seeing eye dog and its owner. Indeed, should the day arrive when man is willing to accept a machine as an adequate substitute for love and understanding, then, on that day, man himself becomes replaceable.

New City Traffic Head Arrives

Calgary's chief traffic engineer has come to Victoria to head the traffic division of the city engineer's department.

Tuesday he will take over the reins of the traffic division from Kenneth Reid, veteran of 34 years of service in the city's engineering department, now on retirement leave.

Mr Reid received a special civic merit award earlier this year for his pioneering work in the city's lighting service.

Mr. Campbell holds a certificate in traffic engineering from Yale University.

Born in Vancouver, he is married with three children.

"VERY WELL DEAR, I mean Sir. I think I've got it." One of the biggest problems Staff Sergeant Phyllis McDougall has is remembering to call her husband "Sir." The Victoria couple are among more than 500 members of B.C.'s Canadian Army militia undergoing summer training at Riske Creek near Williams Lake. "Hubby" is Warrant Officer M. J. McDougall and consequently Mrs. Mc-McDougall's superior. An electrical engineer at HMC Dockyard, he is seen here explaining to his wife how to drive a three-ton truck. The couple return to their home, 189 Crease Avenue on Sunday. Also returning by truck convoy Sunday will be three militia units of the Canadian Scottish, 155 Company RCSC and 5th Field Battery RCA.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Patrick Tritle, age 12, of Bountiful, Utah, for his question:

The animal we refer to as a polecat usually turns out to be a skunk. The true polecat is an Old World weasel. But neither the Old World nor the New World polecat is related to the beaver, and both of them are mortal enemies of the beaver's small cousins.

The most advanced members of the animal kingdom are the warm-bloded, fur-coated mammals who bear live young and feed their infants on mother's milk. Since beavers and polecats share these basic features they belong in the top-drawer class Mammalia. The differences between them, however, are so marked that they are placed in different animal orders. The beavers belong in a family subdivision of one order, and the polecats in a family of another order.

The busy beavers are classified in the huge order Rodentia, along with some 6,450 rodents. The rodents are named for their gnawing teeth. All of them have special front teeth that continue to grow throughout life. The large order is subdivided into a number of suborders and many families and subfamilies. The beaver is classified in the family Castoridae, a scientific term coined from a Latin name for the beaver.

The American beaver and his Old World cousins use their rodent teeth to fell trees and cut up logs for their elaborate dam-building. They are vegetarians who dine mostly on the bark of their favorite trees, such as aspen and willow. The beaver does not hunt or kill other animals, and the shy fellow is always ready to flee from his flesh-eating enemies and take refuge in his safe home under the water.

His flesh-eating enemies are classified in the animal order Carnivora. The tigers and lordly lions are toothy carnivores of the Felidae family, and the dogs belong in the Canidae family. The true polecat of Europe is very different from the striped skunk that most Americans call a polecat. But both of them are classified in the Mustelidae family, another name borrowed from a Latin word for weasel.

Feeds on Rodents

The European polecat is a soft, gray, silky coated weasel. Like the skunk, he defends himself by squirting a musky odor. Like the weasel, he is a hungry bloodthirsty killer of rodents and other small game. The quick, slinky fellow is a much better hunter than our skunk, who supplements his diet of rodents with bugs and small birds, with eggs and snakes, frogs and fruit.

The Mustelidae family includes the best dressed members of the animal kingdom. Minks and martens, otters and badgers are fur-bearing mustelines, and both the Old World and the New World polecats have coats fine enough to reach the fur market. One of the few fur-bearing animals who is not a musteline is the silky coated beaver of the Castoridae family.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Patricia Miller, age 9, of West Warwick, R.I., for her question:

Does the male kangaroo have a pouch?

A baby cat is a kitten, and a bay dog is a puppy. The kangaroo makes his home in Australia, and there the people call the baby kangaroo a joey. The unborn joey stays inside his mother until he is ready to come out into the world. When he is born, the little fellow is only about one inch long and quite helpless.

The new-born joey gets into the fur-lined pouch on his mother's tummy. There he finds mother's milk to feed him while he grows and grows. Papa Kangaroo has no mother's milk to feed him and no cozy pouch to hold him.

Ocean Rowers Arrive

GALWAY, Ireland (AP) — Western Ireland welcomed Sunday night two British paratroopers who rowed 3,000 miles across the Atlantic from Cape Cod., Mass., in 92 days. Capt. Jothn Ridgway, 27, and Sgt. Shay Blyth, 26, crossed by ferry to Galway from Kilronan on the Isle of Aran, where they had been stormbound since making a landfall Saturday.

DRIVERS CRACK MARK FOR WEEKEND DEATHS

(By The Canadian Press)

Labor Day weekend, 1966, went into the record books as the worst holiday period for traffic fatalities in Canadian history.

A Canadian Press survey between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday showed at least 126 persons killed in accidents, 102 of them in traffic.

The survey showed 10 drownings, four fire deaths, one hunting fatality and nine deaths from other kinds of accidents.

It was the fifth straight Labor Day holiday toll to exceed 100. In 1965, there were 124 deaths, including 70 in traffic.

STRIKE ENDING

B.C. Trains Last to Roll

Railway service was almost back to normal today in B.C. — the last stronghold of a five-day rebellion against Parliament's back-to-work law.

Freight trains began moving from Vancouver and passenger service was expected to resume late today.

On Vancouver Island, freight services of Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific-owned E and N Railway were operating again.

The E and N dayliner passenger service between Victoria and Courtenay was running this morning.

The CPR's ferry Princess of Vancouver, which sails between Nanaimo and Vancouver, began operating again Monday.

Other Island services, such as telegraphs and trucking, were back to normal either immediately or shortly after Parliament ordered the workers back last Thursday night.

The back-to-work move was slower on the mainland where a majority of the 10,000 workers held out until the Labor Day holiday, although some of them were entitled to the time off anyway.

PASSENGERS

In Vancouver, Canadian Pacific said eastbound rail passenger traffic will resume tonight and the first Vancouver-bound trains will start arriving Thursday.

Canadian National officials said plans for resumption are not immediately clear. But the return of workers at Jasper "paves the way" for a resumption of service in and out of B.C.

Monday, six CPR freights and two CNR freights left Vancouver for the east.

NO PENALTIES

A union spokesman said: "While resuming our duties, we maintain that this legislation is an infringement on our rights as citizens to bargain collectively with our respective managements and it abuses our right to strike to settle differences without legislative intervention."

About 1,000 CPR workers in Vancouver began returning today but the situation at CNR was not clear.

Another 500 CNR workers at Prince George, Smithers and Burns Lake were to return. At Cranbook, Trail and Nelson about 600 men were back at work Sunday.

... But Rail Fuse Still Burning

By The Canadian Press

Stubborn strikers at the Lakehead today represented the only immediate obstacle to normal nationwide freight and passenger operations by Canadian railways.

All rail traffic in the Atlantic provinces was reported moving normally today, after striking rail workers at Moncton, N.B., voted to return.

However, a shadow was cast on the optimistic outlook of the country's rail service by a rebel group of shop employees who have decided to continue the week-long strike that was outlawed by an act of Parliament last Thursday.

MAY DISRUPT RUNS

Shop workers — whose members include machinists, carmen and electrical workers — are not immediately essential to the operation of trains, but the railways say they could not get along without them for more than a few days.

The CPR reported early today that its freight and passenger service across Canada was "largely back to normal" with the exception of a trouble spot at Fort William, Ont.

The publicly-owned CNR reported normal or near-normal operations across the country.

The extent of the rebellion among shop craft workers was not immediately clear.

Many of Montreal's 7,000-odd shop workers voted at weekend meetings to stay on strike, and in Winnipeg pickets continued to parade at the Symington yards

Mediation Awaiting Return of Workers

OTTAWA (CP) — Mediator Carl Goldenberg of Toronto arrived in Ottawa today to begin working on a resumption of contract negotiations between the railways and four groups of unions.

Mr. Goldenberg planned to meet Labor Minister Nicholson late in the afternoon to discuss details of the mediation effort.

The four union groups went on strike Aug. 26 and were ordered by Parliament to call it off seven days later. Some railway workers still are defying the back-to-work legislation, which directed both sides to resume negotiations under a federal mediator.

Mr. Goldenberg, 68, was appointed mediator Friday.

"The railway companies must resume operation of the railways and give effect to an increase in wages retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year," Mr. Goldenberg said in a statement.

"The employees must resume the duties of their employment."

The sooner railway operations return to normal, the sooner he will be able to begin effective mediation, Mr. Goldenberg said.

RHODESIA DEBATE

Wilson Backed In First Vote

By CARMAN CUMMING

LONDON (CP) — The Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opened today with a decision to keep Prime Minister Wilson in the chair during discussions on the crucial Rhodesian issue.

Canada's Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, announced after the opening formalities that Wilson's offer to vacate the chair during the Rhodesian discussion was declined by the delegates.

Prime Minister Pearson was one of three leaders who expressed confidence in the British leader, an informant said.

The other two were the leaders of Zambian and Uganda delegations.

There had been earlier reports that Prime Minister Pearson or some other leader might be asked to preside during the Rhodesian wrangling.

Some observers speculated the retention of Wilson is linked with a desire by some leaders to keep Pearson as free as possible for a mediation role between Britain and African members who are demanding tough action against Rhodesia.

Smith said Wilson told the session "that it might be appropriate if he yielded the chair to some other head of government to avoid any ambiguity about the role he would have to play as the representative of the British government."

However, "several representatives said they had complete confidence in Wilson," Smith

South African Leader Stabbed By White Man

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, architect of total apartheid segregation, was assassinated today in parliament by a white religious fanatic who stabbed him in the neck and chest with a silver-handled dagger.

Verwoerd, who would have been 65 Thursday, died instantly with blood gushing from his wounds. Five members of parliament who are physicians applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and opened his chest to massage the heart to no avail.

Screaming "that bastard!", parliamentary messenger Dmitri Tsafendas, a naturalized South African of Greek-Portuguese descent, slashed out with the six-inch blade at two other members before he was subdued and led away.

Finance Minister Eben Donges, one-time chancellor of Nationalist Stellenbosch University, was immediately named acting prime minister.

Justice Minister J. B. Vorster, who was jailed for pro-Nazi sentiment in Second World War, was expected eventually to take over as prime minister.

The nation was stunned, but there was little sympathy in Negro Africa where Verwoerd was hated.

"Thank God it wasn't one of our people who did it," a Negro African woman told a newsman.

Second Attempt on His Life

Verwoderd was stabbed at least three times by the husky, six-foot assassin as he half-rose in his seat in the heavily-panelled chamber.

It was the second attempt on his life. On April 9, 1960, a white farmer named David Pratt shot Verwoerd twice in the head point-blank at a farm show. Pratt said he was "shooting the epitome of apartheid."

Verwoerd recovered and Pratt later hanged himself in a mental hospital. Verwoerd, a leader of the Dutch Reformed Church, said "divine providence" had saved him then.

He had returned to the parliament from lunch and was sitting in his accustomed seat near the high, square speaker's chair, when Tsafendas approached, wearing the blue and green-striped uniform of a parliamentary messenger.

Other messengers said Tsafendas, born in Laurenco Marques, Portuguese Mozambique, was a naturalized citizen who had gone to work as a messenger Aug. 1. He spoke several languages including English, Portuguese, Greek, German and some Afrikaans.

A 45-year-old bachelor, he liked to read the Bible and was constantly quoting scriptural passages, they said.

They said he was forever asking colleagues for interpretations of old testament passages that deal with god-inspired killings. But there was nothing biblical about his frenzied shouts.

"Where is that bastard?" Tsafendas screamed as guards grabbed him. "I will get that bastard!"

Thought He Was Getting Message

Only minutes before he had walked up to the tall, greying Verwoerd who started out of his seat as though to accept a message.

Tsafendas lunged. Blood spurted from Verwoerd's neck.

A moment of shocked silence gave way to shouts and members seated near Verwoerd leaped at Tsafendas. He slashed at MP Frank Waring, the minister of sport and tourism, slashing Waring's trousers.

Brought down by a crush of bodies, Tsafendas slashed at but did not injure MP Cas Grayling, who was seated on his chest.

As police hauled him from the thickly carpeted, old-fashioned room, a young man weeping hysterically tried to leap at Tsafendas but was thrown back. A second dagger was found on Tsafendas.

Wife Hustled Out of Chamber

The prime minister's wife Betsy, mother of their five sons and two daughters, was brought into the chamber after the stabbing by a member who may have thought Verwoerd still was alive. She was quickly escorted out.

Transport Minister Ben Schoeman announced the time of the stabbing as 2:20 p.m. (5:20 a.m. PDT). Death, he said, came at the same time.

Gold and mining stocks immediately plummeted on the London Stock Exchange.

Messengers said Tsafendas was "acting strangely" before the assassination. He decided to forego lunch and he refused to run an errand because "I have to do something."

Tsafendas was as big as the 6-foot-1-inch, 215-pound blue-eyed Verwoerd. His gray hair was clipped short and he had numerous gold fillings in his teeth that flashed when he opened his mouth.

Nigerians Dance In Streets

(Times News Services)

Nigerians shouted "Hallelujah" and jumped for joy in the streets of Lagos today when Radio Nigeria flashed the news of South African Premier Verwoerd's assassination in Cape Town.

Predominantly-Negro Nigeria and other African countries had strongly opposed white-supremacist Verwoerd's policy of race separation.

Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith looked pale and shocked as he told Parliament in Salisbury of the assassination.

He moved the adjournment of Parliament as a mark of respect and said he would move a resolution of consolence Wednesday.

Prime Minister Pearson said in London Verwoerd's death was a "great shock" to him.

He called the assassination a senseless" act of violence and said he is looking at it only in terms of the human tragedy.

Prime Minister Wilson sent a message of condolence to the South African government tonight saying he was shocked.

Wilson broke the news of the assassination to the other 21 Commonwealth leaders meeting here on their first day of a conference centred on Rhodesia.

The South African premier was last in London in 1961, when he told a similar Commonwealth gathering of his country's intention to quit the 23-nation multi-racial grouping.

Commonwealth Secretary-General Arnold Smith, commenting on the assassination said:

"Meaningless violence and assassination are unlikely to solve the poltical problems of South Africa.

"Violence never does much good. It just leads to more violence. It is a very sad thing."

The Canadian diplomat said he doubted whether this "sad and ugly business" would have any impact on this afternoon's crucial discussion of the Rho-

Chinese Still Open To War Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Chen Yi of China has told Japanese visitors that Peking "is not necessarily dismissing the thought of talking with the United States" about a solution to the Viet Nam war, the Japanese news agency Kyodo reported today from Peking.

It said Chen Yi told a Japanese parliament delegation in Peking that China continues its ambassadorial contacts with the U.S. in Warsaw, Poland.

The dispatch came from Kyodo's Peking-based correspondent, Tadao Saito. It gave this account of Chen Yi's remarks:

Solution of all international problems through talks is "the basic spirit of diplomacy," Chen Yi said, but this kind of solution of the Vietnamese conflict now is impossible because the U.S. is trying to solve it with "armed force."

There can be no solution of the conflict until all American troops pull out of Viet Nam, Chen Yi said.

Neither China nor the U.S. wants to "come to a clash," Chen Yi said. But he added a clash is still possible, depending on the Americans.

Talks Please Ferry Men, Resignations Called Off

(See earlier story, Page 9)

The move follows a meeting Monday between representatives of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The guild represents nearly all the 250 masters, mates and engineers aboard B.C. Ferries. They want full collective bargaining rights.

A meeting will be held this Friday between B.C. Ferries management and a committee of officers represented by the guild.

Robert Cook of Ottawa, national president of the guild who came to the west coast Saturday, said he is "very pleased" with the results of the weekend meeting.

Mr. Bonner echoed the sentiments, saying "a sincere approach by both sides will result in a satisfactory solution to the crisis."

Mr. Cook said the guild is advising its members to withhold resignations until the committee has met management.

He added that he is "very optimistic" of the meeting's outcome and that both sides "now are on the right track."

No further details of the weekend discussions or possible solutions were given.

However, a precedent for a solution exists in a settlement made in June between unlicensed personnel—deck and catering workers — and B.C. Ferries.

The unlicensed personnel had threatened to walkout on the eve of the Dominion Day holiday before the agreement.

SOLUTION

This solution provided for management recognition of the employees group, now called the B.C. Ferry Employees Union, plus joint discussions on mutual problems.

It did not include full collective bargaining right, which the unlicensed personnel had sought and which the officers were seeking.

Canadian Exports Mount

OTTAWA (CP) — The striking improvement this year in exports continued during May at a pace 22 per cent higher than May, 1965.

Export sales totalled $909,967,000 compared with $745,729,000 a year earlier, reported the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today. Sales in the U.S. were one-third higher at $540,719,000 compared with $408,429,000.

The over-all increase for the first five months of the year was 20 per cent.

Sales to the United Kingdom declined 13 per cent to $103,819,000. Wheat orders took exports to Russia to $56,200,000 from $4,240,000 and made her Canada's third-ranked trading partner for the month.

Over-all wheat sales totalled $100,838,000 compared with $64,599,000 a year ago and replaced newsprint as the biggest export commodity.

Merger Plans Announced

The boards of directors of United States Plywood Corporation and Champion Papers Inc. have voted to proceed with plans for merging the two companies, it has been announced.

The proposed plan would call for the issuance by U.S. Plywood of a full share of new convertible preferred stock and 4-10th's of a share of common stock for each common share of Champion outstanding at the time of merger.

The convertible preferred stock will carry an annual dividend of $1.20 and will be convertible at any time into shares of common stock of the combined company at the rate of one-half share of common stock for each full share of convertible preferred. The preferred issue would be callable after 10 years at a price of $22.50.

CIVIL RIGHTS WORKERS 'TRAPPED'

CICERO, Ill. (AP)—Whites and Negroes battled in an underpass on the Cicero-Chicago border Sunday where hostile whites trapped civil-righters like cattle in a canyon.

The wild fighting broke out near the end of the first try this summer of an integration demonstration in Cicero, a western suburb with outspoken hostility toward attempts to change its all-white character.

National Deficit Increases

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada finished the 1965-66 fiscal year with a budget deficit of $39,000,000, Finance Minister Sharp has announced.

Final figures for the year that ended last March 31 showed revenues of $7,696,000,000 and expenditures of $7,735,000,000.

Both revenues and expeditures were higher than the estimates made in his budget speech last March 29, Mr. Sharp announced.

Estimated revenues then were $7,673,000,000 and estimated expendituures were $7,707,000,000 for a budgeted deficit of $34,000,000.

In the same budget speech, Mr. Sharp estimated 1966-67 revenus at $8,300,000,000 and expenditures at $8,450,000,000 for a budgetary deficit of $150,000,000. Gross liabilities of the government last March 31 totalled $27,598,00,000, with $19,110,000,000 in unmatured bonds and treasury bills. Net recorded assets totalled $12,055,000,000, leaving the net debt at $15,543,000,000.

Mr. Sharp said the 1965-66 deficit turns into a surplus when using the national accounts system, taking in all government revenues and expenditures including such items as old age pensions and unemployed insurance funds that are not counted in the budgetary system.

Former President Of Exchange Dies

Urquhart entered the brokerage business in 1908 and was primarily indentifed with mining. He was one of the first large shareholders in Noranda Mines.

In 1928 and 1929, he was president of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, and in 1934 played a prominent part in its merger with the Toronto Stock Exchange.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Vancouver Exchange Sees Light Trading

Year lows were recorded by New Indian, down one cent to .21, and Silbak Premier, which dropped one cent to .23½.

London Pride also touched a yearly low of .09 before recovering to .10 on 16,000 shares.

TC Explorations reached a new high of .45 before settling at .44, up two cents on the morning.

On the oils board Peace River put on four cents to .30 on 15,000 shares.

Banks paced the list lower with Nova Scotia off 1¼ to 64½, Royal ¾ to 67¾, Toronto-Dominion ½ to 54 and Imperial-Commerce and Montreal ⅛ each to 57¼ and 54⅞.

On the plus side, B.C. Telephone was up 1 to 61½, and Algoma Steel ½ to 26⅛.

Dome gained ⅝ to 18¾ in a stronger oil market and Denison ¾ to 54¾ in base metals. Inco, which is facing a possible strike, was down ½ to 83¾.

Provo Gas highlighted speculatives, rising 15 cents to 4.05 in oils.

AT NEW YORK gains were shaved in slow late trading.

The best showing was made by motors, airlines, nonferrous metals and some aerospace stocks.

Embarking cautiously on its post-Labor Day period — traditionally a turning point for business and the market — stocks rose from the start but enthusiasm was lacking. It was the slowest pace in weeks.

AT MONTREAL the market seemed to tread warily in light trading. Maritime Telephone was 3-4 points ahead at 23½ and Algoma Steel ½ at 26¼. Distillers-Seagrams and Nova Scotia Light each were ¼ higher at 29¼ and 11 respectively.

AT LONDON the market was subdued today as investors mulled over Prime Minister Wilson's speech to the trades union congress Monday.

Major industrials were easier but there was some selective support for second-rank stocks. Gold shares were marked down following news of the assasination of South African Prime Minister Verwoerd.

GRAIN PRICES

After Summer of Escape, Back Behind Books

The holidays are over and escaped youth — or most of them — were back in school this morning.

The exceptions are students at Royal Oak and Mount Newton junior secondary schools who have a week's reprieve, and those at Claremont senior secondary school, who will be on holidays until Sept. 19.

The delay in opening these schools has been caused by the carpenters' strike-lockout which held up work on additions and renovations.

But the students will pay for their longer holiday when they do get back to school.

But most of them were free again by noon. They will buckle down to classwork at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

This morning was taken up with registering, locating their new classroom, becoming acquainted with their teacher, and finding out what they require in supplies and equipment.

Mr. Chell said he hopes there will be no need for any school to go on shifts but this will not be known until actual registrations are completed.

He said it does not appear from preliminary reports that shifts will be required.

A bigger worry for Mr. Chell is that vocational wings have not yet been completed at any of the senior secondary schools.

"We'll just have to make the best of it. The situation is the same all over the province."

Three new Victoria schools echoed the pitter-patter of small feet today for the first time. They are Hillcrest, in Gordon Head, Northridge, to supplement Glanford, and Fairburn, to supplement Shelbourne. All are elementary.

The Victor Street school for the retarded also opened.

A spokesman for Sooke school district also said it is unlikely that any school there will go on shifts.

But Dunsmuir junior secondary school is not ready for use as planned and students who were to attend it are being accommodated temporarily in Colwood elementary school and in the old army huts attached to Belmont senior secondary school.

An official said he has "no idea" when Dunsmuir will be ready for use. Its opening has been delayed by the labor dispute involving the carpenters.

Enrolment in Sooke school is expected to be between 3,700 and 3,800. No figures are available for rural Saanich schools. A Saanich school official said shifts will not be required.

15 ACCIDENT VICTIMS ON WEEKEND

Child's Condition Fair After Swallowing Pills

Saanich police said the child apparently arose early in the morning and took the pills from her mother's purse. Her parents were awakened when they heard Christina collapse at their bedroom door.

POLICE PRAISED

Mrs. Olivier said today Christina managed to slip out of a harness confining her to bed. The mother praised the Saanich firemen who rushed the girl to hospital by ambulance, applying mouth-to-mouth respiration on the way.

"If it hadn't been for them she would have been gone," the mother said.

Police said the boy was pushing his bicycle when he was in collision with a panel delivery truck driven by Louise Hilton of Vancouver. He suffered head injuries.

Investigating officers said she was hit in the 1800 block Grandview by a motorcycle driven by Jose Gomez, 2835 Nanaimo St., Monday afternoon.

WOMEN HURT

Both were passengers in the car driven by Raymond Van Hullebush southbound on Government when it was in collision with the bus, headed west on Bay and driven by Ernest Farndon, 3009 Cedar Hill Rd.

THREE HURT

A car which went out of control early Sunday morning and overturned on the front lawn of 3923 Cadboro Bay Rd. injured three people.

Edward Erdman, 18, of 1156 May, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital later in the day with back injuries. Jim Erdman, 19, of the same address was treated for a cut hand and Barry Bruce, 18, of 1126 Oxford, suffered a sprained leg.

They were all passengers in the car, driven by John Thomson, 19, of Bowser, B.C.

A swimming mishap closely followed by an auto accident at Beaver Lake Park Saturday night put one girl in hospital and resulted in another girl and a boy being treated for injuries

CUT EAR

Glen Griep, 19, of HMCS Yukon, told police he was driving Elizabeth Anderson, 17, of 4490 Majestic to hospital after she had fallen while swimming and cut her ear.

Griep suffered abrasions when his car rammed a rock near the filter beds but another passenger, Roberta Ann Norbury, 17, of 3180 Aldridge, suffered head injuries.

She was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital and is in good condition.

A seven-year-old boy was treated for cuts and bruises earlier Saturday night after he collided with a car as he was crossing Quadra at Princess.

HIT BY FUMES

Two men required treatment for cuts and bruises in the aftermath of a beer parlor brawl Saturday night. George Sterling, 412 Powell, suffered a cut on his forehead and George Powell of Campbell River received head injuries when he was hit by a chair.

Morning After Busies Court

The Labor Day weekend helped fill a very busy central court docket this morning.

Nine impaired driving charges headed the list of 39 charges including 15 intoxication, two of theft, two of breaking and entering, one of auto theft, two charges of creating a disturbance and an arson charge.

Richard Mitchell of CFB Esquimalt ran into a parked car on Esquimalt Road at 11:44 p.m. Wednesday. The 20-year-old youth was fined $350 for impaired driving and had his licence suspended.

Harry Armstrong, 745 Wilson Street, ran into the Johnson Street Bridge Thursday morning. He was arrested as he drove home with a flat tire on his heavily damaged car.

He had been turning on to the bridge from Wharf Street when the accident occured.

LIGHTS OUT

One hour later Trevor Lee, of no fixed address, drove unsteadily along Quadra Street with his lights off. He ran into a parked car and then rolled 35 feet backwards into another. He was fined $350 for impaired driving and his licence was suspended.

Early this morning Nikolay Kuschnir, 2822 Prior St., narrowly missed a police car as he turned from Quadra on to Hillside. He just missed another car as he stopped in the middle of the intersection of Hillside and Prior.

When the police gave chase he ignored them until he stopped in his driveway at which time he was charged with impaired driving.

He was fined $350 and had his

He was fined $350 and had his licence suspended.

Albert Johnston of Walton Road, Mesachie Lake, was found slumped over the wheel of a running car on Quadra Street June 9. A breath reading of .23 per cent and a previous conviction netted him a 20-day jail sentence. His licence was also suspended.

Bids Opened Oct. 14 On Museum Work

Provincial public works department said it will open bids Oct. 14 for completion of the museum exhibit hall.

Camsell due at Admiralty Island tonight; Estevan sailed this morning for the east coast of Vancouver Island; Sir James Douglas sailed this morning for Tofino; Raver due in this afternoon; Ready in Sandheads patrol area; Stonetown in port; St. Catharines on Station Papa; Vancouver out on trials today

Pair Steal Boat, Plunder Marina

Two youthful pirates—one nine and the other 16—were arrested by Vancouver police after sailing across the Strait of Georgia at the weekend.

The sailing expedition started Friday when the 16-year-old stole a boat with an outboard motor at Mill Bay. He sailed down to Victoria, spent the night in the Inner Harbor, and next day teamed up with the nine-year old city youngster.

PLUNDERING

Together they went by boat to Oak Bay Mrina on a plundering expedition. They broke into the Undersea Gardens through a skylight and stole 500 children's passes, a $12 camera and a $25 briefcase.

They filled up their motor with gas stolen from boats moored at the marina, went to Swartz Bay and then followed the ferries to Vancouver.

They were picked up on arrival and returned to Oak Bay police. The youths appeared in juvenile court this morning and were remanded for further investigation.

Thieves tore the hatch cover off the boat of Lou Schleppe, 683 Herald St., to get at the goods. The craft was moored to a float at the west end of the Johnson Street bridge. The boat's engine was also damaged.

Smash and grab robbers made off with two electric guitars from Art Hall's Guitar Studio, 1012 Cook St., near midnight Sunday.

Police said instruments worth $500 and $255 were taken after the store's front window was shattered. A plywood sheet covering the broken window was pushed in early today but nothing apparently was taken.

715 to Get Half Tuition

Provincial government scholarships amounting to one-half tuition fees for higher education have been won by 715 students in B.C.

The students won them by earning first-class marks in spring examinations at universities of British Columbia, Victoria, Simon Fraser, Notre Dame in Nelson, Vancouver City College and the B.C. Institute of Technology.

One third of tuition fees will also be paid by the government for 2,591 students who earned second-class standings of 70 per cent or higher in the exams.

In addition, 1,395 government

Foul Play Suspected In Death of Woman

SUMMER has rounded the corner into autumn and school days, but you wouldn't have guessed it Monday on the Legislative Buildings lawn when piercing blue skies and a sound of music brought out parasols, sun bonnets, straw hats and all the paraphenalia of summer. In deck chairs and on shaded steps, Victorians gathered to hear joint concert — first in three years — of Victoria Symphony and Naden Band under direction of Otto Werner-Mueller and Lieut. P. Medcalf.

Electric Cord Wrapped Around Neck

There were strong indications today an elderly Saanich woman found dead Saturday afternoon met with foul play.

Detective Sgt. Robins Stewart said today police have "pretty well ruled out suicide."

But he refused to say yet whether it was a murder case after noting the matter was still under intense investigation.

ASPHYXIATED

An autopsy performed this morning revealed Mrs. Beggs had died of asphyxiation.

Detective Stewart said the woman, who lived alone, was found lying on the bedroom floor. Nothing appeared to be missing from the house.

No more could be said about the case until further investigation, he said.

HERE 46 YEARS

Born in Templepatrick, County Antrim, North Ireland, Mrs. Beggs had been a resident of Victoria for the past 46 years.

She is survived by a son and daughter-in-law, Robert and Rose Beggs, 118 Joseph Street, and a niece and nephew in Vancouver.

Funeral arrangements by Sands Mortuary Ltd. will be announced later.

Now Just a Darn Minute!

Your double-take on reading that is nothing compared to Jaycee president Grant Jonstone's triple-take when some innocently-conceived picture releases to United States newspapers brought offers to buy this Island.

"One of our projects this year was to send publicity shots of Victoria to 20 preselected American papers," said Mr. Johnstone today.

"One of them was the Los Angeles Times. We had hoped for some reaction but this is ridiculous."

The Jaycee president said one of the return letters began: "We are interested in owning your island, including the buildings, and would suggest further discussion."

Investigation showed the Los Angeles paper, by misprinting a post office box number in an advertisement, had made plutocrats out of people who had actually answered an ad for a somewhat smaller island — like about three acres.

20% MORE PEOPLE IN SAANICH

The population of Saanich has zoomed 20 per cent over the last five years.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said today the preliminary Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures on the population count in June showed 58,397 persons living in the municipality.

The federal census also closely matched the projections made by the municipal planning department.

The planners had put Saanich's population at 58,600 for July, or adjusted back one month 58,420.

This represents an error of only 0.3 per cent compared with the federal figures, said Reeve Curtis.

He said the accuracy of the municipal planners shows projections must be taken "very seriously" and work must be done now to provide roads, recreation and sewers for the children of today's adults.

Party Leaders Charge Into Driving Finish; Premier Here Tonight

The party leaders have a hectic schedule lined up for the rest of this week with Premier Bennett running the hardest as the 38-day campaign hits the finish line.

Major rallies will be featured by the three parties in the race with Saturday wind-up speeches planned for the leaders' home towns where they will rest and await the verdict when voters select 55 MLAs and the next government on Monday.

Five all-candidate meetings have been scheduled by various community organizations here for the final campaign week.

The first was to be held today by the Kiwanis Club at its regular luncheon meeting. Two will be held Wednesday—1:30 p.m. at the Silver Threads Centre and 8 p.m. in the St. Joseph's School of Nursing auditorium.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to hold two all-candidate meetings simultaneously Thursday at 8 p.m. — for Victoria contestants in Central Junior High School and for Oak Bay Candidates in Oak Bay Senior High School.

"With the lack of interest in the actual election itself, we're hoping these will touch off some show of interest by the public," said Jaycee president Grant Johnson.

THROW QUESTIONS

"It's been lousy so far. Not only that, but the candidates haven't been saying anything and we certainly hope the public turns out and throws a lot of questions at them."

He said no all-candidates meeting was arranged for Saanich and the Islands because Socred candidate John Tisdalle said he would not be available. There already has been one in Esquimalt riding.

On Wednesday he makes a speech in Port Alberni High Schol and Thursday night he holds a mass rally in Vancouver's Orpheum Theatre. Friday night the premier speaks in Merritt for his third campaign appearance in Yale-Lilloet riding and Saturday night he has his final say before a hometown audience in Kelowna.

New Democratic Party Leader Robert Strachan speakes to a rally in Courtenay tonight, makes a CBC television address Wednesday, and holds a mass rally in Vancouver Thursday night in direct competition with the premier.

Mr. Strachan has reserved Friday for a three-hour session on a popular Vancouver radio station "open line" program and conduots his final meeting Saturday at Cowichan Lake in his own riding.

PERRAULT ON MAINLAND

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault, who has completeed a whirlwind flying tour of most of the province, plans to keep up the pace but concentrated in the lower mainland.

Tonight he will speak at two meetings, in Burrard and in New Westminster.

Wednesday and Thursday he has a succession of radio and television appearances, coffee parties and "mainstreeting" sessions in his own riding of North Vancouver-Capilano.

Friday he peaks to a mass rally in the Capilano Gardens and Saturday's bookings are yet to be completed.

Pollution Appointment

Victoria city manager Dennis Young said today he has accepted appointment as B.C. representative on a national committee on pollution and waste disposal.

A special committee of seven members has been struck by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to study the question of pollution. It will establish terms of reference and plan participation in the annual meeting of Canadian resource ministers next year.

The committee also will report to the 1967 convention of mayors and municipalities.

45 Days Jail For Raid On 'Ice Box'

Two men appeared in central court this morning charged with stealing groceries from three elderly women pensioners.

Theft occurred at 1:15 this morning.

A refrigerator in a second-floor alcove in the St. Helen's Apartments, 828 Courtney, used by three elderly women for storing groceries, was ransacked of assorted foodstuffs.

Doyle was immediatley apprehended by the caretaker who was sleeping on the front porch. He had been drinking at the time, the court was told.

He was charged with theft under $50.

The crown alleged a number of previous convictions against the accused including a one-month sentence for vagrancy in Victoria. Since mid-1964 Doyle had received sentences totalling 14 and one-half months.

Ask The Times

Q. Are there any centennial celebrations in B.C.'s future after this year and 1967? D.C.

A. While B.C. Centennial Committee officials say no firm plans for post-Confederation year celebrations have been made, two obvious 19th century events in B.C.'s history worthy of note are the union of B.C. and the Confederation of Canada, July 20, 1871, and the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Pacific coast, Nov. 7, 1885.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

NATIONAL DEFICIT INCREASES

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada finished the 1965-66 fiscal year with a budget deficit of $39,000,000, Finance Minister Sharp has announced.

Final figures for the year that ended last March 31 showed revenues of $7,696,000,000 and expenditures of $7,735,000,000.

Both revenues and expeditures were higher than the estimates made in his budget speech last March 29, Mr. Sharp announced.

Estimated revenues then were $7,673,000,000 and estimated expendituures were $7,707,000,000 for a budgeted deficit of $34,000,000.

In the same budget speech, Mr. Sharp estimated 1966-67 revenus at $8,300,000,000 and expenditures at $8,450,000,000 for a budgetary deficit of $150,000,000. Gross liabilities of the government last March 31 totalled $27,598,00,000, with $19,110,000,000 in unmatured bonds and treasury bills. Net recorded assets totalled $12,055,000,000, leaving the net debt at $15,543,000,000.

Mr. Sharp said the 1965-66 deficit turns into a surplus when using the national accounts system, taking in all government revenues and expenditures including such items as old age pensions and unemployed insurance funds that are not counted in the budgetary system.

Canadian Exports Mount

OTTAWA (CP) — The striking improvement this year in exports continued during May at a pace 22 per cent higher than May, 1965.

Export sales totalled $909,967,000 compared with $745,729,000 a year earlier, reported the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today. Sales in the U.S. were one-third higher at $540,719,000 compared with $408,429,000.

The over-all increase for the first five months of the year was 20 per cent.

Sales to the United Kingdom declined 13 per cent to $103,819,000. Wheat orders took exports to Russia to $56,200,000 from $4,240,000 and made her Canada's third-ranked trading partner for the month.

Over-all wheat sales totalled $100,838,000 compared with $64,599,000 a year ago and replaced newsprint as the biggest export commodity.

Merger Plans Announced

The boards of directors of United States Plywood Corporation and Champion Papers Inc. have voted to proceed with plans for merging the two companies, it has been announced.

The proposed plan would call for the issuance by U.S. Plywood of a full share of new convertible preferred stock and 4-10th's of a share of common stock for each common share of Champion outstanding at the time of merger.

The convertible preferred stock will carry an annual dividend of $1.20 and will be convertible at any time into shares of common stock of the combined company at the rate of one-half share of common stock for each full share of convertible preferred. The preferred issue would be callable after 10 years at a price of $22.50.

Vancouver Exchange Sees Light Trading

Year lows were recorded by New Indian, down one cent to .21, and Silbak Premier, which dropped one cent to .23½.

London Pride also touched a yearly low of .09 before recovering to .10 on 16,000 shares.

TC Explorations reached a new high of .45 before settling at .44, up two cents on the morning.

On the oils board Peace River put on four cents to .30 on 15,000 shares.

Banks paced the list lower with Nova Scotia off 1¼ to 64½, Royal ¾ to 67¾, Toronto-Dominion ½ to 54 and Imperial-Commerce and Montreal ⅛ each to 57¼ and 54⅞.

On the plus side, B.C. Telephone was up 1 to 61½, and Algoma Steel ½ to 26⅛.

Dome gained ⅝ to 18¾ in a stronger oil market and Denison ¾ to 54¾ in base metals. Inco, which is facing a possible strike, was down ½ to 83¾.

Provo Gas highlighted speculatives, rising 15 cents to 4.05 in oils.

AT NEW YORK gains were shaved in slow late trading.

The best showing was made by motors, airlines, nonferrous metals and some aerospace stocks.

Embarking cautiously on its post-Labor Day period — traditionally a turning point for business and the market — stocks rose from the start but enthusiasm was lacking. It was the slowest pace in weeks.

AT MONTREAL the market seemed to tread warily in light trading. Maritime Telephone was 3-4 points ahead at 23½ and Algoma Steel ½ at 26¼. Distillers-Seagrams and Nova Scotia Light each were ¼ higher at 29¼ and 11 respectively.

AT LONDON the market was subdued today as investors mulled over Prime Minister Wilson's speech to the trades union congress Monday.

Major industrials were easier but there was some selective support for second-rank stocks. Gold shares were marked down following news of the assasination of South African Prime Minister Verwoerd.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Hedging sales representing a return to railway deliveries and harvest operations in many areas brought pressure on the flax market in grain exchange today.

Verwoerd Stabbed to Death

FINAL ★ ★ ★ ★ BULLETINS

Three Killed in B.C. Car Crash

GOLDEN (CP)—Three members of a Manitoba family were killed today in a two-car crash on the Trans-Canada Highway 10 miles west of this eastern B.C. community.

RCMP identified the victims as Henry Ziervogel, 40; his wife, Mary, 36, and their daughter, Coreen Grace, 4, all of Winnipeg.

Husband Held in Fatal Stabbing

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—A young mother of three was stabbed to death with a kitchen knife in her home today.

Her husband was charged with first degree murder. Mrs. Norma Hernandez, 21, died in a hospital less than two hours after a neighbor called police and said she had "heard screaming."

Forest Fires Rage in California

HAPPY CAMP, Calif. (AP)—Fire crackled through 1,150 acres of Douglas fir along the Klamath River today, the biggest of a series of scattered blazes in rain-thirsty northern California.

The U.S. Forest Service set up a headquarters 1½ miles north of Happy Camp to fight the blaze, out of control near the California-Oregon border.

Negro Miners End Strike in Zambia

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—A strike by 37,000 Negro miners which has crippled Zambia's huge copper mining industry for 11 days appeared to be ending today.

Two mines reported a 100-per-cent turnout for work and three more than 75 per cent.

Three Priests Kidnapped in Congo

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — Three Roman Catholic priests have been kidnapped by bandits in the northeast Congo, the Catholic news agency Dia reported today. The priests were members of the Order of the Sacred Heart.

B.C. Trains Last to Roll

Railway service was almost back to normal today in B.C. — the last stronghold of a five-day rebellion against Parliament's back-to-work law.

... But Rail Fuse Still Burning

By The Canadian Press

Stubborn strikers at the Lakehead today represented the only immediate obstacle to normal nationwide freight and passenger operations by Canadian railways.

All rail traffic in the Atlantic provinces was reported moving normally today, after striking rail workers at Moncton, N.B., voted to return.

However, a shadow was cast on the optimistic outlook of the country's rail service by a rebel group of shop employees who have decided to continue the week-long strike that was outlawed by an act of Parliament last Thursday.

MAY DISRUPT RUNS

Shop workers — whose members include machinists, carmen and electrical workers — are not immediately essential to the operation of trains, but the railways say they could not get along without them for more than a few days.

The CPR reported early today that its freight and passenger service across Canada was "largely back to normal" with the exception of a trouble spot at Fort William, Ont.

The publicly-owned CNR reported normal or near-normal operations across the country.

The extent of the rebellion among shop craft workers was not immediately clear.

Many of Montreal's 7,000-odd shop workers voted at weekend meetings to stay on strike, and in Winnipeg pickets continued to parade at the Symington yards

Freight trains began moving from Vancouver and passenger service was expected to resume late today.

On Vancouver Island, freight services of Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific-owned E and N Railway were operating again.

The E and N dayliner passenger service between Victoria and Courtenay was running this morning.

The CPR's ferry Princess of Vancouver, which sails between Nanaimo and Vancouver, began operating again Monday.

Other Island services, such as telegraphs and trucking, were back to normal either immediately or shortly after Parliament ordered the workers back last Thursday night.

The back-to-work move was slower on the mainland where a majority of the 10,000 workers held out until the Labor Day holiday, although some of them were entitled to the time off anyway.

PASSENGERS

In Vancouver, Canadian Pacific said eastbound rail passenger traffic will resume tonight and the first Vancouver-bound trains will start arriving Thursday.

Canadian National officials said plans for resumption are not immediately clear. But the return of workers at Jasper "paves the way" for a resumption of service in and out of B.C.

Monday, six CPR freights and two CNR freights left Vancouver for the east.

NO PENALTIES

A union spokesman said: "While resuming our duties, we maintain that this legislation is an infringement on our rights as citizens to bargain collectively with our respective managements and it abuses our right to strike to settle differences without legislative intervention."

About 1,000 CPR workers in Vancouver began returning today but the situation at CNR was not clear.

Another 500 CNR workers at Prince George, Smithers and Burns Lake were to return. At Cranbook, Trail and Nelson about 600 men were back at work Sunday.

Nigerians Dance In Streets

(Times News Services)

Nigerians shouted "Hallelujah" and jumped for joy in the streets of Lagos today when Radio Nigeria flashed the news of South African Premier Verwoerd's assassination in Cape Town.

Predominantly-Negro Nigeria and other African countries had strongly opposed white-supremacist Verwoerd's policy of race separation.

Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith looked pale and shocked as he told Parliament in Salisbury of the assassination.

He moved the adjournment of Parliament as a mark of respect and said he would move a resolution of condolences Wednesday.

Prime Minister Pearson said in London Verwoerd's death was a "great shock" to him.

He called the assassination a senseless" act of violence and said he is looking at it only in terms of the human tragedy.

BREAKS NEWS

Wilson broke the news of the assassination to the other 21 Commonwealth leaders meeting here on their first day of a conference centred on Rhodesia.

The South African premier was last in London in 1961, when he told a similar Commonwealth gathering of his country's intention to quit the 23-nation multi-racial grouping.

Commonwealth Secretary-General Arnold Smith, commenting on the assassination said:

"Meaningless violence and assassination are unlikely to solve the poltical problems of South Africa.

"Violence never does much good. It just leads to more violence. It is a very sad thing."

The Canadian diplomat said he doubted whether this "sad and ugly business" would have any impact on this afternoon's crucial discussion of the Rhodesia issue at the Commonwealth leader's conference.

At the United Nations, news of the assassination stunned delegates. UN Secretary-General U Thant told reporters "this is deplorable because any violent action is deplorable."

ISSUES BEFORE UN

The assassination came as the UN General Assembly prepared to handle at least three issues involving South Africa at its session opening in two weeks.

The are the World Court deciion on South-West Africa, failure of UN sanctions to topple the white-minority regime in Rhodesia and the issue of apartheid, the official policy of the South African government.

The death of Verwoerd was not expected to halt the pressure by African members to try to force a change in South Africa's stand on apartheid.

Tanzania's ambassador to the United Nations, John W. S. Malecela, called the assassination a possible forewarning of more violence to come.

Another African diplomat, who did not wish to be identified, attached special significance to the fact that the assailant is white.

He said this indicated that the South African government's apartheid policies have aroused

No Appetite For Election

SAIGON (Reuters) — Senior Buddhist monks today announced they would hold a 72-hour hunger strike at the end of the week to protest against Sunday's South Vietnamese election for a constituent assembly. Buddhists were again urged to boycott Sunday's poll and demand the stablishment of a provisional government.

Talks Please Ferry Men, Resignations Called Off

(See earlier story, Page 9)

The move follows a meeting Monday between representatives of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The guild represents nearly all the 250 masters, mates and engineers aboard B.C. Ferries. They want full collective bargaining rights.

A meeting will be held this Friday between B.C. Ferries management and a committee of officers represented by the guild.

Robert Cook of Ottawa, national president of the guild who came to the west coast Saturday, said he is "very pleased" with the results of the weekend meeting.

Mr. Bonner echoed the sentiments, saying "a sincere approach by both sides will result in a satisfactory solution to the crisis."

Mr. Cook said the guild is advising its members to withhold resignations until the committee has met management.

He added that he is "very optimistic" of the meeting's outcome and that both sides "now are on the right track."

No further details of the weekend discussions or possible solutions were given.

However, a precedent for a solution exists in a settlement made in June between unlicensed personnel—deck and catering workers — and B.C. Ferries.

The unlicensed personnel had threatened to walkout on the eve of the Dominion Day holiday before the agreement.

SOLUTION

This solution provided for management recognition of the employees group, now called the B.C. Ferry Employees Union, plus joint discussions on mutual problems.

It did not include full collective bargaining right, which the unlicensed personnel had sought and which the officers were seeking.

RHODESIA DEBATE

Wilson Backed In First Vote

By CARMAN CUMMING

LONDON (CP) — The Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opened today with a decision to keep Prime Minister Wilson in the chair during discussions on the crucial Rhodesian issue.

Canada's Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary - general, announced after the opening formalities that Wilson's offer to vacate the chair during the Rhodesian discussion was declined by the delegates.

Prime Minister Pearson was one of three leaders who expressed confidence in the British leader, an informant said.

The other two were the leaders of Zambian and Uganda delegations.

There had been earlier reports that Prime Minister Pearson or some other leader might be asked to preside during the Rhodesian wrangling.

Some observers speculated the retention of Wilson is linked with a desire by some leaders to keep Pearson as free as possible for a mediation role between Britain and African members who are demanding tough action against Rhodesia.

Smith said Wilson told the session "that it might be appropriate if he yielded the chair to some other head of government to avoid any ambiguity about the role he would have to play as the representative of the British government."

However, "several representatives said they had complete confidence in Wilson," Smith

South African Leader Killed In Parliament

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, architect of total apartheid segregation, was assassinated today in parliament by a white religious fanatic who stabbed him in the neck and chest with a silver-handled dagger.

Verwoerd, who would have been 65 Thursday, died instantly with blood gushing from his wounds. Five members of parliament (who are physicians) applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and opened his chest to massage the heart to no avail.

Screaming "that bastard!", parliamentary messenger Dmitri Tsafendas, a naturalized South African of Greek-Portuguese descent, slashed out with the six-inch blade at two other members before he was subdued and led away.

Finance Minister Eben Donges, one-time chancellor of Nationalist Stellenbosch University, was immediately named acting prime minister.

Justice Minister J. B. Vorster, who was jailed for pro-Nazi sentiment in Second World War, was expected eventually to take over as prime minister.

The nation was stunned, but there was little sympathy in Negro Africa where Verwoerd was hated.

"Thank God it wasn't one of our people who did it," a Negro African woman told a newsman.

Second Attempt on His Life

Verwoderd was stabbed at least three times by the husky six-foot assassin as he half-rose in his seat in the heavily panelled chamber.

It was the second attempt on his life. On April 9, 1960, a white farmer named David Pratt shot Verwoerd twice in the head point-blank at a farm show. Pratt said he was "shooting the epitome of apartheid."

Verwoerd recovered and Pratt later hanged himself in a mental hospital. Verwoerd, a leader of the Dutch Reformed Church, said "divine providence" had saved him then.

He had returned to the parliament from lunch and was sitting in his accustomed seat near the high, square speaker's chair, when Tsafendas approached, wearing the blue and green-striped uniform of a parliamentary messenger.

Other messengers said Tsafendas, born in Laurenco Marques, Portuguese Mozambique, was a naturalized citizen who had gone to work as a messenger Aug. 1. He spoke several languages including English, Portuguese, Greek, German and some Afrikaans.

A 45-year-old bachelor, he liked to read the Bible and was constantly quoting scriptural passages, they said.

They said he was forever asking colleagues for interpretations of old testament passages that deal with god-inspired killings. But there was nothing biblical about his frenzied shouts.

"Where is that bastard?" Tsafendas screamed as guards grabbed him. "I will get that bastard!"

Thought He Was Getting Message

Only minutes before he had walked up to the tall, greying Verwoerd who started out of his seat as though to accept a message.

A moment of shocked silence gave way to shouts and members seated near Verwoerd leaped at Tsafendas. He slashed at MP Frank Waring, the minister of sport and tourism, slashing Waring's trousers.

Brought down by a crush of bodies, Tsafendas slashed at but did not injure MP Cas Grayling, who was seated on his chest.

As police hauled him from the thickly carpeted, old-fashioned room, a young man weeping hysterically tried to leap at Tsafendas but was thrown back. A second dagger was found on Tsafendas.

Wife Hustled Out of Chamber

The prime minister's wife Betsy, mother of their five sons and two daughters, was brought into the chamber after the stabbing by a member who may have thought Verwoerd still was alive. She was quickly escorted out.

Transport Minister Ben Schoeman announced the time of the stabbing as 2:20 p.m. (5:20 a.m. PDT). Death, he said, came at the same time.

Gold and mining stocks immediately plummeted on the London Stock Exchange.

Messengers said Tsafendas was "acting strangely" before the assassination. He decided to forego lunch and he refused to run an errand because "I have to do something."

Tsafendas was as big as the 6-foot-1-inch, 215-pound blue-eyed Verwoerd. His gray hair was clipped short and he had numerous gold fillings in his teeth that flashed when he opened his mouth.

Chinese Still Open To War Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Chen Yi of China has told Japanese visitors that Peking "is not necessarily dismissing the thought of talking with the United States" about a solution to the Viet Nam war, the Japanese news agency Kyodo reported today from Peking.

It said Chen Yi told a Japanese parliament delegation in Peking that China continues its ambassadorial contacts with the U.S. in Warsaw, Poland.

The dispatch came from Kyodo's Peking-based correspondent, Tadao Saito. It gave the account of Chen Yi's remarks.

Solution of all international problems through talks is "the basic spirit of diplomacy," Chen Yi said, but this kind of solution of the Vietnamese conflict now is impossible because the U.S. is trying to solve it with "armed force."

There can be no solution of the conflict until all American troops pull out of Viet Nam, Chen Yi said.

Neither China nor the U.S. wants to "come to a clash," Chen Yi said. But he added a clash is still possible, depending on the Americans.

BEATLE FANS HEAR YE, JOHN TO GET HAIR CUT

Breaking away from the other Beatles—Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr—for the first time, John is going to make a movie on his own. He will play the part of a soldier in the film "How I Won the War."

For the part of a soldier he will be unable to wear the mophead hairstyle the Beatles made famous.

President Johnson deplored the assassination as "a stroke of violence that shakes the sensibilities of men who believe in law and order."

The president sent a private message of condolence to Verwoerd's widow and family.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of President John F. Kennedy who was assassinated in Dallas, also issued a statement and sent a private telegram to the Verwoerd family.

"I am deeply shocked," Kennedy said. "Violence is not the answer to problems which must be worked out between people, with compassion and understanding on both sides."

Kennedy, who visited South African in July and warned that an "explosive situation" could develop if relations between the ruling whites and the majority-Negro population in South Africa were not changed.

U.S. civil reight leaders have expressed disapproval of the assassination and also the apartheid policy for which he stood.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the advancement of colored people, said:

"The NAACP opposes everything Prime Minister Verwoerd and his government stood for, but we do not believe issues can be solved through assassination."

Don Smith, director of public relations for the Congress of Racial Equality, said the use of "force ... as a weapon of political redress is to be regretted."

"But the death of this exponent of the obnoxious doctrine of apartheid can do no harm to South Africa. We feel that the denial of rights of black Africans to be a part of their own country is not only wrong, but against humanity."

Jo Grimond, leader of Britain's Liberal party said the assassination of Verwoerd "should surely be a warning to all those who hope to run autocratic regimes in Africa."

Acting Prime Minister Paul Martin said in Ottawa:

"The Canadian government regrets this shocking act of violence. I have this morning sent to the acting prime minister of South Africa a message of condolence.

"This regret, of course, does not affect this government's well-known attitude on apartheid. We thoroughly disagree with this policy but our difference of views does not dilute our regret at this brutal assassination."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, former prime minister, said Dr. Verwoerd had told him after the failure of the 1960 assassination attempt that this failure "revealed God's approval of the cause he had followed."

He said the South African prime minister had an abiding belief that he was right in the practice of discrimination against those of another color.

"He was fanatical in his stand," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The assassination was "a sad commentary on conditions that are becoming all to prevalent in all parts of the world, in other words, the taking of law into the hands of the individual."

In March, 1960, the Negro nationalist Pan - Africanist Congress called for a nationwide campaign against a law requiring all Negro males to carry passes for identification purposes.

Thousands of Negroes answered the call—and the now-notorious Sharpeville incident occurred.

At Sharpeville, a Negro township, police opened fire on Negroes and 67 were killed and 183 wounded.

On April 9, 1960, came the attempt on Verwoerd's life. Minutes after he opened an international trade fair, he was shot twice at point-blank range, in the face below the right ear, and in the right side of his neck.

His alleged assailant, David Pratt, a wealthy English-born farmer aged 50, was subsequently charged but found mentally ill and taken to an asylum.

White Voters

Verwoerd said he would try to keep republican South Africa in the Commonwealth, but at the 1961 Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London, the prime minister withdrew his application for Commonwealth membership in the face of strong opposition from critics of his apartheid policy.

Verwoerd's dream of a republic formally became fact May 31, 1961, when the country changed from union to republican status.

Verwoerd and his country of emerbency and a near-had, since neighbouring Rhodesia declared independence unilaterally from Britain last November, played an unofficial but key role in Africa's most burning current problem.

Though supporting the Rhodesian white-minority regime of Ian Smith, South Africa has on the official plane maintained a form of neutrality.

South Africa's material support without doubt helped the Smith government. But Verwoerd's policy was to avoid officially recognizing the new regime and thus open the way to United Nations sactions against South Africa itself.

Settlement Expected In Carpenter Dispute

The month-old lockout-strike in the construction industry may be settled this week, mediator W. E. Philpott of Vancouver said today.

The Vancouver lawyer was appointed industrial inquiry commissioner into the carpenters-contractors dispute last week by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson.

PROGRESS

"I have had talks over the weekend with both the parties concerned and I have made progress," he said.

"Both sides badly want to settle the dispute. I have more meetings fixed for today and Thursday and I am confident I can come up with a settlement which is acceptable to both sides."

Mr. Philpott said he doesn't understand the action of Victoria contractors, who announced last Friday they are asking the labor minister to conduct a vote among local carpenters on settlement proposals made by the contractors.

At the same time, the Victoria local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters said it expects the labor minister to "completely disregard" the contractors' move because of the appointment of Mr. Philpott.

The 322-company Construction Industry Joint Negotiating Committee has proposed a two-year contract with a 51-cent hourly increase on $3.49, an end to union hall hiring and the same 40-hour work week.

This provides for a two-year contract, a 40-cent hourly raise on $3.49, continuation of union hall hiring and a 37½-hour work week starting next year at no reduction in take-home pay.

SCHOLARSHIPS

scholarships will go to students who wrote grade 12 and 13 exams, which were announced last week, bringing the total to 4,701 government scholarship winners.

Last year's figure is 3,897.

'67 VISIT VIRTUALLY CONFIRMED

QUEEN ELIZABETH

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson virtually confirmed today that the Queen will visit Canada during next year's centennial celebrations.

The Canadian leader had a 15-minute audience with the Queen at Buckingham Palace earlier in the day and said later that he had discussed plans for the visit.

He said no dates have been set yet but arrangements are being made.

He added that there might be visits by other members of the Royal Family but he did not indicate which ones.

Survivor of Air Crash Sues Estates of Crew

VANCOUVER (CP) — Freida Yeske, 30, one of eight survivors of a Canadian Pacific Airlines crash in Tokyo in March that claimed 64 lives, is seeking damages against the estates of three crew members killed in the crash.

A writ was issued last week on behalf of Miss Yeske, claiming negligence on the part of the crew of the CPA jet and the company "in maintenance, inspection, repair, operation, communications, supervision and airport control of the aircraft."

Sooke Women Win

The Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute has won the B.C. Tree Fruits competition at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver.
